Mill Valley Council Holding Many Secret Meetings

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Unannounced, closed meetings are quite commonplace for the Mill Valley city council, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

The latest such meeting was held Monday when the council discussed, over lunch in San Francisco, findings of a survey probing into the city manager's duties and city administrative procedures.

The council, with George Blackwell absent, met with William R. Zion, governmental research consultant and author of the 15-page survey.

Zion was hired in September to do a three-week study of administrative procedures to establish criteria for the city manager's job and suggest any necessary changes in procedures.

The city council, according to Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, discussed Zion's findings Monday, then asked Zion for a two-page summary "in order to make the findings more publishable."

The Zion report, said Sheeks, is to be given first to the council, perhaps tomorrow or Friday, then a copy to city manager A. E. Almcrants. Copies will be released to the press by next Wednesday, he said.

Under the Ralph M. Brown Act all legislative bodies must hold public meetings unless hiring, firing or bringing of charges are being considered. No notice of the Monday meeting was given the public.

It's primarily a matter of personnel," said Sheeks, holding the unannounced meeting was not illegal. "It comes down to a question of the city manager. The problems revolve around the city manager . . .

TWO WOUNDS IN HEAD

Marin Attorney 'Very Critical' After Shooting

Kentfield attorney Albert H. Gommo Jr., 52, shot twice in the head yesterday in his Market Street office in San Francisco, was reported in "very critical" condition today in San Francisco General Hospital.

Under police guard in the same hospital was John Trischan, 50, a San Francisco electrician who, police said, fired the shots at Gommo and then shot himself.

Trischan's estranged wife, Louise, formerly was Gommo's legal secretary.

Inspector William Guthrie said Gommo told San Francisco police that Trischan entered the office in the Central Tower about 3:30 p.m. yesterday. Gommo was out. Trischan waited until his return about 5 p.m., Meantime the office secretary had left.

They apparently argued for an hour before the shooting.

At 6 p.m., Gommo called Mission Emergency Hospital for help and called his wife, Lillian, at their home on Quisiana Drive in Kentfield.

When police arrived, Trischan was lying face down on the floor. Gommo was upright —despite two wounds in the head.

Gommo had been shot twice above the left eye. One bullet emerged through the side of his skull; the second was imbedded in his head.

Police said both shots were fired from a .22-caliber pistol. Trischan had then fired the pistol into his own mouth, they reported.

Walter Alston Is Rehired By Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers rehired Manager Walter Alston today, ending weeks of speculation. The club also announced that Alston wanted to retain Leo Durocher as coach despite reports that Durocher had second-guessed Alston after the Dodgers lost the National League playoffs.

The club's decision to keep Alston was anticipated by many, although some feared he was definitely in jeopardy after the Dodgers blew a four-game lead in the final week of the regular season and then lost the playoffs to San Francisco.

DUROCHER SURPRISED

More surprising, perhaps, than the announcement of Alston's new contract was the manager's decision to retain Durocher. At least once last season, Alston rebuked Durocher for what the manager considered an invasion of his jurisdiction.

Alston was given a one-year contract. It has been the club's custom for years to commit itself to a manager for no more than one season at a time.

Alston's salary was not announced. He was believed to be making about $42,000 and the guess is this figure won't change much, if at all.

Alston's contract renewal was announced at a news conference held in the press-box dining room at Dodger Stadium.

ON TELEPHONE

Alston spoke to newsmen via telephone from his home in Darrtown, Ohio. His voice was amplified by a device attached to the phone in the press conference room.

Asked directly whether Durocher would be back next season, Alston said:

"As far as I know, yeah. I'm satisfied with the way Leo worked. No one has convinced me yet he said those things about me. If I had anything to do with it, he'd be back."

Alston said, however, that he will discuss the coaching situation with General Manager Buzzie Bavasi before any final decision is made.

Novato Councilman Is Served Recall Papers In Freeway Rift

Action Comes Over Selection Of Route

By THERON A. NEWELL

Novato City Councilman John Angeloni was served recall papers last night at a stormy council meeting that saw tempers flare to the breaking point on the selection of a freeway route through the city.

Before order was restored to the crowded meeting, there were verbal clashes between members of the audience and between the council and the audince.

JOHN ANGELONI
Recall target

It started when Alfred W. Bowman, co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Freeway Committee, asked if he could read a prepared statement. Councilman Angeloni said he could read it into a hearing which the council would hold before it gave its decision on the route.

Angeloni had just told Mrs. A. P. Garatti of 708 Bradley that the council would get the transcripts of the highway commission hearings and then hold its own hearing before making a decision on the freeway.

Bowman, red-faced at the refusal to hear the statement, turned to M/Sgt. Richard L. Weber of 830 Reichert Avenue, sitting behind him.

"Serve the papers," Bowman said.

Weber took a paper from his pocket and gave it to Angeloni. Angeloni shoved it away. Mayor M. E. Silva unfolded the paper and said something to Angeloni in a low voice.

"If Al Bowman wants to recall me, let him! It's characteristic of him," Angeloni said angrily.

Frank Perachiotti, real estate dealer, elbowed his way through the crowd. He shook is fist at Bowman, but addressed the council.

"I got two calls tonight, one demanding to know about a real estate transaction which I wouldn't tell anyone and the other from Al Bowman threatening me with a grand jury investigation," he said. (Bowman is a member of the county grand jury.)

Then addressing Bowman, he said: "That was asinine. Don't you ever threaten me again with a grand jury investigation!"

Hugh Turner of 1470 Pastel Lane read a statement from the board of directors of the chamber of commerce urging immediate decision on the freeway.

Angeloni pointed a finger at Bowman and George Barnwell, editor of the Novato Advance, who were sitting together.

PORTRAIT FOR CIVIC CENTER

Sam Goode, San Rafael artist, stands beside portrait he painted of architect Frank Lloyd Wright, which he offered yesterday to sell to the county for $500. He told the board of supervisors the picture, done in plastic paint, depicted "the life mind of a man embattled in the struggle to free itself of entities adverse to its achievement of toil of the mind." The framing, he added, "is in keeping with the motif of civic center." The supervisors did not leap at his offer. (Independent-Journal photo)

SAUSALITO PASSES WATERFRONT PLAN

Plans by Sausalito Properties Inc. for a multi-million-dollar apartment and commercial development on the waterfront between Bee and Turney streets finally were approved last night by the Sausalito City Council.

The approval capped almost two years of delay, discussion and study since the plan was originally submitted. The council nearly met its self-imposed Oct. 16 deadline for decision on the plan, but not quite — the discussion ran past midnight.

A weary but determined E. Elmore Hutchison, president of Sausalito Properties, then thanked the council, the planning commission and the citizens of Sausalito for their consideration.

During a 15-minute recess earlier in the meeting, Hutchison remarked to a reporter as he gulped an aspirin:

"I wonder if I'll live to see this built?"

The plan, which Mayor Paul Micou said will be "a fine thing" for Sausalito, involves two peninsulas to be created by filling underwater lots from Humboldt to Railroad Avenue. Litho Island, the westerly peninsula extending from Litho Street, would have 69 apartments and a 210-room hotel. The easterly Pine Peninsula, on which most of the argument centered, would be for commercial buildings.

Micou opened the discussion by praising most aspects of the plan and expressing confidence in the ability and integrity of the developers.

He said the city had discussed with federal officials the possibility of acquiring property in the area through federal aid for recreational development, but this was found to be not feasible.

Reports by planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr., who

Ranger 5 Moon Shot On Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The space agency today rescheduled the Ranger 5 moon-shot for tomorrow when a change in direction by tropical storm "Ella" promised improved weather conditions. (See earlier story, page 2.)

Officials last night had wiped the launching off the October schedule because of the threat posed by Ella.

Earlier today, NASA said the scheduled launching tomorrow was tentative, depending on further weather reports. When the weather outlook improved, officials made the schedule definite.

WEATHER FORECAST

Bay Area: Fair tomorrow; little change in temperature.

Sierra Nevada: Fair tomorrow; slightly warmer.

Russ Put Another Sputnik In Orbit

MOSCOW —The Soviet Union today announced the launching of another Sputnik-Cosmos X.

The Soviet news agency, Tass said it was packed with scientific instruments and everything was functioning normally.

The purpose of the Sputnik is to measure radiation and other factors bearing on manned space flights, Tass said.

The satellite made its first orbit of the earth in 90.2 minutes, on a path ranging from 126 miles to 208 miles from the earth and at an angle of 65 degrees from the equator, Tass said.

No report was made on the weight of the satellite or how long it was expected to stay up.

TAKING NOTE OF WEATHER

When a belated letter from F. Methner of San Francisco was read to Marin County supervisors yesterday in complaint against parched-weather dirt and rubbish conditions on West Marin roads, public works director Donald R. Frost had a dry answer.

"We hosed all that down last weekend!" he quipped.

Shipwrecked Islanders Keep Alive On Just One Match

SUVA, Fiji Islands (AP)—Shipwrecked for 11 weeks on a South Sea reef, 12 Tonga islanders defied death and the sea by living on water distilled from the ocean and by catching fish and crabs.

And when a New Zealand Air Force flying boat came out of the night Monday and dropped flares, it was as if everything in their weak, dehydrated bodies came alive again, a survivor said today.

The story of survival came from Veetuto Pahulu and Fine Feuaki, two of the Tongans who lived through the ordeal that took the lives of five of the 12 men.

The Tongans set out in a yacht last summer from Tongatapu to Ata Island, in the Tonga Islands east of the Fijis.

Storm winds blew them far off course. On July 7 the wind bore them down on Minerva Reef, 300 miles west of Ata and well off the shipping lanes.

"The yacht broke up quickly," said Feuaki, "and we were on the open reef all night. It was like a dream when light came and we saw not far away the Japanese wreck."

The wreckage was that of a Japanese fishing vessel.

There was but a single match among the 17 Tongans. With it they started a fire from wreckage to serve as beacon and cookstove. Through the 11 weeks someone always was on watch to see that the fire did not go out.

"We took our food from our wrecked boat and lived on that for 17 days," said Feuaki. "Then we had to catch fish and crabs."

They also had aluminum pots. Sea water was put in one aluminum pot with a lid and the pot placed over the fire.

Steam from the pot passed through a rubber tube and condensed in the other kettle. This produced two pints of precious water a day—a small cup for each man.

"After 24 days Fatai Efeafi died and was buried in the sand on the reef. Then later that day Sione Sikemeti and Sione Lose died," Feuaki said.

The men decided to build a raft from the wrecked fishing boat. Capt. Tevita said he would try to reach the Fijis for help.

"We had only a hammer and no saw," Feuaki related, "and had to cut timber with a nail."

By this time, a fourth man had died. The captain and two volunteers boarded the raft and set out for Kandavu, most southerly of the Fiji islands, 350 miles away.

The three had no food and only four cups of water. One volunteer died on the way.

Weak and exhausted, the captain and the other islander arrived Monday at Kandavu, and gasped out their story.

The flying boat went to Minerva Reef, took the 10 bearded men aboard, and brought them to Suva.

Kennedy Signs Tax Incentive Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy has signed into law a tax revision bill that carries a one-billion-dollar incentive to businesses that modernize.

The bill, Kennedy said in a statement accompanying yesterday's signing, "makes a good start on bringing our tax structure up to date and provides a favorable context for the over-all tax reform program I intend to propose to the next Congress."

Meanwhile, he said, the bill "will stimulate the economy and provide a greater measure of fairness in our tax system."

Although Congress turned down the president's proposal for setting up a system of withholding taxes on interest and dividend income, Kennedy said the requirements it established for reporting such income and interest would help improve compliance with tax laws.

The Treasury estimates it is now losing about one billion dollars a year in revenue because taxpayers fail to report all the dividends and interest they receive.

Corporations now will be required to report to the Treasury and to the recipient all dividend payments totaling more than $10 a year. Savings institutions will have to do the same for interest payments.

The investment credit of up to 7 per cent on purchases of machinery and equipment is the major revenue law change Kennedy asked when he submitted the bill to Congress in April 1961.

The revenue estimates of the bill are in considerable dispute. The Treasury figures that when all provisions are effective the annual revenue loss will be 170 million dollars. Congressional staff experts place it at 545 million dollars.

The investment credit takes effect as of last Jan. 1. Most of the other provisions will be effective at the start of next year.

Red Weapons In Viet Nam Are Improved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam have begun using more powerful weapons against U.S. helicopters, informed sources said today.

This was understood to be one reason why the Army has sent some of its latest model helicopters, armed with rockets and machine guns, to cover the slower H-21 "flying banana" helicopters which have been carrying South Vietnamese soldiers on raids against Communist strongholds.

When the U.S. helicopter operation started early this year the Red guerrillas had little more than rifles and other light weapons to fire at them.

MASHINE GUNS

But the Communuist Viet Cong recently has been bringing heavier firepower to bear on the troop-carrying helicopters, the sources said. It was indicated these newer weaons may be .50-caliber machine guns suitable for antiaircraft work.

A Defense Department spokesman confirmed yesterday that the Army is arming its helicopters and that the Vietnamese air force is flying cover missions to protect the carriers.

Reports from Saigon earlier this week told of three rocket-firing U.S. helicopters mounting a strike against the Viet Cong in the mountains northwest of the capital city.

SPEED, ROCKETS

The machines involved were HU-1 Iroquois, turbine-powered helicopters which are fitted with rockets and machine guns. The turbine motors give the choppers greater speed and maneuverability than the older troop carriers.

The United States has committed about 140 troop-carrying helicopters to the Vietnamese war. They are flown by Army and Marine pilots.

A Defense Department spokesman said U.S. policy in Viet Nam remains unchanged —that American military men may fire back if fired upon.

Three American propeller-driven planes, two of them reconnaisance craft, were downed this week in Viet Nam. In one instance, three Americans were killed, bringing to 16 the number of U.S. dead resulting from Communist attack.

BEN BELLA LAUDS CUBA ON ARRIVAL

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, who says his new nation will stand forever beside Fidel Castro's Cuba, gets a chance today to look at the Cuban revolution results he avowedly admires.

In reply to greetings from Prime Minister Castro, who loosed a tirade against "Yankee imperialism," Ben Bella said on his arrival yesterday from talks with President John F. Kennedy in Washington:

"Brotherhood always reigned between Cuba and Algeria. Algeria is and will be with Cuba. History has willed it that both people meet on the road to liberation."

Castro met the Cuban airliner that brought Ben Bella from Washington, and declared in his welcoming address:

"To visit Cuba at a time when the United States is redoubling its criminal blockade, when the Yankee imperialists threaten to attack, is on your part an act of political firmness and valor."

Ben Bella is expected to leave tomorrow.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Red Invited To Visit South Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—U.S. Maj. Gen. James R. Winn today invited a North Korean Communist general to visit South Korea and see for himself whether it was "hell."

Winn, chief United Nations Command delegate to the military armistice commission, issued the invitation to North Korean Maj. Gen. Chang Chung Hwan during the 158th meeting of the military armistice commission at this tiny truce village.

Chang had called South Korea a "living hell" and a "land of darkness."

"It is quite obvious you have not been in South Korea recently," said Winn sharply across the conference table. "I extend you an invitation to come and see for yourself."

Chang did not reply.

UAR Troops In Yeman

CAIRO (UPI) — Thousands of troops from the United Arab Republic are in Yemen helping the new republican government establish control over the country, according to Western travelers arriving here.

Westerners who went to the twin Yemeni capitals of Taiz and San'a said they saw UAR soldiers "everywhere," many of them in paratroop uniforms and carrying arms.

One of the travelers who arrived here yesterday estimated there were 40,000 UAR troops in Yemen, but informed sources said there probably are less.

Praise For Kennedy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian Assn. of Student Organizations praised President John F. Kennedy today for his handling of Negro James H. Meredith's admission to the University of Mississippi.

The association said it sent a cable to Kennedy expressing full support for his action.

Negro Employment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government reported yesterday it has sharply increased its employment of Negroes, particularly in middle- and upper-bracket jobs.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson released figures comparing employment in 33 agencies in June 1962 with a year earlier.

They showed employment increased 29,240 to 2,226,607 — an over-all increase of 1.3 per cent — while Negro employment alone increased 10,270 or 3.6 per cent.

Johnson said Negroes have not been given special job privileges. Rather, he said, their job gain represents insistence by the present administration that employes be hired, promoted and upgraded on the basis of merit.

Actor Laughton 'Fair'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Charles Laughton was reported in "fair condition" today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where he is recuperating from major surgery for cancer of the spine performed nearly three months ago.

Doctors said the 63-year-old entertainer was holding his own in his battle to recover, but his condition still remained the subject of much concern.

Laughton, famed for his role of Captain Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty," made his most recent appearance as a Southern senator in "Advise and Consent."

Santa Gets Stuck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Playing Santa Claus to please the little girl next door, Jimmy Kelly, 5, got stuck in the chimney of the outdoor fireplace and grill in his back yard.

Jimmy was staging "The Night Before Christmas" for 5-year-old Allison Doane yesterday. He descended to his nose with his arms extended above his head when he came to a full stop in the chimney. He couldn't moveup or down, and he didn't even have a pack of toys on his back.

Allison's mother notified her husband, Dr. James H. Doane Jr., police and Jimmy's mother.

Doane and Abington Township patrolman Richard McClelland mounted the brick barbecue bastion. Taking Jimmy's arms, they rocked him back and forth. After 10 minutes they eased him out unhurt.

Rare Disease Kills

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A rare malady known as Schilder's disease has taken the life of two-year-old Suzanne Marie Johnson.

The same disease previously killed three infant sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Johnson. One child survives, Barbara, 8.

Suzanne Marie died Monday of the disease which attacks the nerves.

The American Medical Assn. says cause of the disease is unknown. It occurs sporadically but sometimes runs in families. It is not known to be either contagious or infectious.

Fair Ends Sunday

SEATTLE (UPI)—The Seattle World Fair will approach or pass the 10 million attendance mark Sunday when it is officially closed by President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy will be on hand to press a telegraph key that will flash a signal to the Mariner satellite en route to Venus. The signal will return here, officially ending the space age exposition's six-month run.

'ELLA' GROUNDS RANGER

Moon Shot Canceled By Tropical Storm

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The gusty winds of tropical storm "Ella" have forced a four-week postponement of the attempt to launch the Ranger 5 spacecraft to the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had planned to launch the spacecraft today, but called off the effort last night when Weather Bureau reports indicated there was a good chance the storm would cause unfavorable weather at Cape Canaveral the next several days.

Preparations were made to remove Ranger 5 and its Atlas-Agena B rocket from the launch pad and move them to the safety of a hangar.

The space agency had only a four-day period ending Friday when the moon was in a favorable position for the Ranger 5 launch. The next optimum period begins about Nov. 13.

Ranger 5's mission is to streak a quarter million miles to the moon, take closeup television pictures and land a capsule to register moonquakes and meteor hits.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"
New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials of normal regularity
As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.
Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs frequently cramp and gripe. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).
(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unique rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.
COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

SIGNS OF THE TIME

It takes a fast reader with a photographic memory to conform with Japanese traffic regulations. This mass of dos and don'ts is posted at the newly-opened Wakado Ohashi Bridge linking two cities in northern Kyushu Island. A driver can't stop to read the maze of signs because one of them says "No Parking." Slowing down is also illegal for there is a minimum speed regulation. Some 18,000 vehicles cross the bridge daily and a tough traffic officer could have a holiday enforcing all those rules. (AP Wirephoto)

Medicare Called 'Bizarre,' Necessary In College Debate

The King-Anderson Medicare Bill was berated as "bizarre and dynastic" and defended as necessary to get medical aid for middle-income oldsters in a debate last night at College of Marin.

The "bizarre and dynastic" description was applied by Dr. Robert F. Schell, chairman of the legislative committee of the Marin Medical Society, at the debate sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Assn.

Schell also called the bill "a reverse Robin Hood," claiming it proposes a tax of 3½ per cent on $5,000 incomes and one per cent on $15,000 incomes.

Medical needs of the elderly are better served under the Kerr-Mills Act, now in effect, contended Dr. Schell.

Mrs. Jennie Matyas, administrator of health, welfare and pension funds of the Women's Apparel Industry of the Bay Area and former vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, retorted that under Kerr-Mills 90 per cent of federal funds go to four states, 10 per cent to 23 other states — and the remaining 23 states get nothing because they have not passed the necessary matching fund legislation.

"The AMA (American Medical Assn.) spends millions to make their 'no' on the King-Anderson Bill so resounding that Congress will not dare say 'yes,'" she said.

Ed Wachsman, vice president of Marin Underwriters Assn. and president of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, opposed the King-Anderson Bill, warning that "every time government provides an inch of benefits, it takes away two inches of liberty."

The fourth speaker, Dr. Harold A. Kazman, president of the San Francisco branch of American Medical Writers Assn., said "there was the same cry of anguish" from doctors about Blue Cross and Blue Shield when they were first proposed. He said middle income families have too much money to expect free care, but too little to meet medical disaster. The answer, he said, is medical care under Social Security.

was hired by the city to go over the plans, were generally favorable, as was a report by the planning commission, Micou said.

The city, in return for relinquishing underwater street rights of way to the developers, would gain a waterfront park. Public water access would be assured by retaining the rights of way for two streets extending out from the shoreline, Micou pointed out.

Council approval of the project consisted of a set of six motions presented by Micou. The second motion, dealing with commercial uses on Pine Peninsula, was the major hurdle of the evening.

What Micou sought to say was that the commercial plan was not in conformity with the general plan for Sausalito, but was appropriate to the area if properly carried out. Councilman Michael Harris wanted the motion to approve of the Pine Peninsula commercial development in principle, but at the same time retain city control over its execution.

The council's chief concern was that too intensive commercial development would further congest Bridgeway.

Harris said he thought the developers ought to mix some apartments in with the commercial area.

Hutchison said his firm could not predict exactly what businesses would locate in Pine Peninsula, but that the density would be within the city's regulations.

The general plan calls for eight commercial buildings, which worried Councilman Philip S. Erlich Jr. because, he said, the council didn't know if they would be one, two or three stories high.

The problem finally was resolved by including in the motion a limitation of 80,000 square feet of building area, or 15 per cent coverage of the developed property, which was more than the firm had originally proposed.

The rest of the package of motions by Micou approved of the Litho Island development, directed the planning commission to take steps to amend zoning in the general plan for the Pine Peninsula commercial area, approved the concept of trading underwater streets for park and public waterfront property, urged passage of Proposition 14 on the Nov. 6 election ballot to enable the city to make such a trade, and approved the planning commission's report of March 12.

Sport Coat, Slacks Stolen From Auto

A newly cleaned sport coat and two pair of slacks vanished from a car parked in front of Tomahawk Motel restaurant north of Novato, the victim reported to the sheriff early today.

Robert L. Keane, a guest at the motel, said the clothes were stolen between 8:30 p.m. and midnight. He valued them at about $100.

TV Store Robbery Loss Is $4,190

A burglar broke into the All-Channel TV Service at 467 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, last night and stole $4,190 in equipment and cash, Police Chief Howard Clark reported today.

Loss included at least 19 transistor radios and a tape recorder taken from the display window, 16 television sets and half of an AM-FM stero phonograph taken from the the showroom, and $50 in cash.

Proprietors Fred and Walter Ulner made the estimate of loss.

The thief or thieves left behind a large color television set in the middle of the showroom. Models stolen were black and white sets.

A pry bar was used to open the aluminum front door, said Clark.

Forty centuries before Christ, people lived in mud-brick villages and tilled the soil of the relatively fertile northern Negev.

Little Girl Takes Stand In Murder Trial

A 7-year-old girl testified yesterday she heard Claude Hilton Bradley, 22, enter the apartment where she lived on the night that her mother was strangled to death.

Bradley, a truck driver, is on trial for the murder of Carole Leona Frederick, 29, last June 3, in her apartment at 45 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

As nine women and three men members of the jury listened intently, little Laura Frederick took the witness stand next to Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

She answered questions put to her by Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety. Laura said she slept in the living room with two other children on the night of the slaying. During the night she was awakened by a "knock on the door."

She said her mother went to the door, and "I heard Bob talking to mommy." The children knew Bradley as "Bob."

Laura said she heard him ask for the use of the bathroom. Laura then went back to sleep.

Next morning, she said, her sister Gail, 10, went into their mother's room and came back crying. Laura told the jurors she went in and "I saw Mommy laying there. It looked like she was sleeping."

Yellow Cab driver Douglas Litser then testified he was called to 45 Woodland Avenue early on the morning of June 3. He picked up Bradley, who walked out from the other side of the street, and delivered him to a home in Ignacio.

Both Inspector Lincoln Borba of San Rafael police and Deputy County Physician Richard W. Wolk testified they found one spot of reddish stain which looked like blood on Bradley's underclothing. Dr. Wolk, who examined Bradley that night, said he also had a small scratch on his back, but no other signs of blood or bruises.

"He appeared depressed and tired," said the doctor, but he was calm, passive and cooperative at all times.

COUNCIL

"We're not trying to hide anything. The report isn't ready for publication yet. We intend to make it public. I wouldn't permit it to be handed out before Al (Almcrants) sees it."

The mayor added: "We had a whole series of meetings on this at the time we selected a consultant. The things we wanted to talk about were not things to be brought out in the public press. We're particularly sensitive to the necessity of publishing everything that goes on so the public knows what's going on.

"There's nothing detrimental in the report to either the city council or the city manager."

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said today, "I would not want to comment on it until I discuss personally with the council members what was done."

The Ralph M. Brown Act, which contains sections 54950 through 54960 of the Government Code of California, provides that "all meetings of a local agency shall be open and public."

It provides that when a special meeting is called notice shall be delivered to "each local newspaper of general circulation, radio or television station requesting notice in writing . . . at least 24 hours before the time of such meeting."

Sole exception to the open meeting law is contained in Section 54957, which specifically permits executive sessions "during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints against such officer or employee." Advance notice of such regular or special meeting is required under the preceding section.

had worked as legal secretary to Gommo and his office colleague, attorney Gus C. Rignole, until about 18 months ago. Mrs. Trischan has filed for divorce.

Interviewed by police, Mrs. Trischan denied her husband's accusations and said he was "insanely jealous."

Scattered about Gommo's office were pages of a rambling, typewritten account of Trischan's marital difficulties, in which Trischan accused his wife of draining him financially and "destroying" his life. It indicated he had tried to hold her by giving her money, and that he was in debt.

Trischan reportedly told police that he had been looking for his wife for about a week with the intention of killing her. An ice pick and an awl were found of the floor of the office. Trischan told police he was "saving" the ice pick for Louise.

In Trischan's pocket police found an envelope, addressed to "undertaker," containing five $20 bills and instructions to cremate him and scatter his ashes over the ocean.

Inspector Guthrie said it is believed the bullet fired into Trischan's mouth missed his brain, and he is expected to recover.

Gommo was still conscious when his wife, hurrying from Kentfield on receiving his call, arrived at his hospital bedside.

The tall attorney has only one leg as result of a childhood accident.

He and Mrs. Gommo have three daughters.

NOVATO

"Bowman and Barnwell are putting the screws on the council trying to get their favorite route, the J route," he cried.

"Barnwell, you have threatened me and tried to ruin my business in the columns of your paper."

Barnwell later said he had never threatened anyone nor tried to ruin anyone through the Advance.

Other members of the audience asked for a decision on the freeway route, but were told the council would set a date for another public hearing at its meeting on Oct. 30.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget said council members should have their transcripts of the last public hearing held by the State Highway Department by the Oct. 30 meeting.

The notice of intention to circulate recall petitions charged that "Angeloni continued to represent special interests in urging an extravagant, wasteful, disruptive freeway route."

BOLINAS ARTIST WILL EXHIBIT

"Chris," by Edwin Manheim of Bolinas is one of several paintings by Marin County artists to be shown by the Society of Western Artists Oct. 31 through Dec. 2 at the M. H. de Young Museum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Other Marin artists to be represented are Helen Gapen Oehler of Mill Valley and Dorner T. Schueler and Art McWhorter, both of Sausalito.

Brigham Finds New Job Frustrating Too

When Marvin W. Brigham was Marin County public works director he thought he was the most frustrated man north of the Golden Gate.

Now that he's in private employ he seems to be sure he's the most frustrated south of the equator.

In a letter to Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro enclosing a message of congratulation on dedication of the civic center, Brigham complained that his job in the Marshall Islands is rugged.

"They push hard," wrote Brigham, "but seem to do much less work with a bigger crew than we did in Marin County."

Castro chortled and said "I told him so," amplifying: "Down there his company has both the Army and the Navy on top of it. You can't win that way."

Getting men of proper skills to perform the variety of jobs required on his electronic missile project is difficult, according to Brigham. He said they have several native Marshall Islanders but "many have limited skills and all are very slow."

Brigham described his location as beautiful, with lots of coconut palms and other vegetation.

"The ocean is a very deep blue," said the letter. "The water is warm, and in the lagoon schools of tropical fish of all colors and descriptions fill the water.

"The coral reefs are a multitude of colors. We quite frequently go shell hunting on the reef at tide and find quite a selection.

"The weather is very warm, especially now as it is the doldrums season when there is little wind. It rains almost daily but that only cools things off while it is raining. It is also very isolated and somewhat lonesome."

Wishing all success in the civic center dedication, Brigham wrote: "It is nice to know that I had some small part in it. I'm sure it will become accepted by most people and all of the original critics will disappear."

Strawberry Book Fair Is On Now

To allow sufficient time for delivery before Christmas, the Strawberry Point School Parent-Teacher Assn. is planning an early book fair this year.

The fair will be held at the school from 3 to 4:30 p.m. today and tomorrow, 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Russ R. Lloyd and Mrs. Edward J. Smith are co-chairmen. Laurel Robinson, Mill Valley School District librarian, will assist purchasers in the selection of books from 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Paperbacks will be a new feature this year. They will be available in the fields of science, social science and literature. Any book currently in print may be ordered. Books on display will be suitable for both children and adults. Profits will benefit the school library.

History Repeats Itself In Rome

NEW YORK (UPI)—Several years ago Trans World Airlines workmen in Rome were under instructions to dig gravel for ballast for piston-engine Constellations from one central pit in an effort to stop spoiling the site with a multitude of holes.

While digging they uncovered an ancient plaque in Latin which, loosely translated, was an admonition to Roman workmen from their supervisor instructing them to dig gravel for ballast for Roman ships from one central pit rather than the area with a multitude of holes.

Lincoln School Board Can Still Operate With Burdell

The Lincoln School District can still operate under a three-man board of trustees, even with the annexed Burdell District added to it, said Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools.

Burdell voters last week unanimously endorsed annexation to the Lincoln District. All 23 voters who cast ballots in the small Burdell District voted in favor of the annexation.

This was not a unification election, or merger of the two districts, Blackmore said. No new board has to be elected. The Independent-Journal carried the story before the election that the two districts were voting on a merger.

The Lincoln District board gave written consent for the Burdell District to annex, Blackmore said.

The Burdell board will continue in operation, paying the Lincoln District for teaching the children of the Burdell District who are now attending Lincoln School until annexation takes effect next July 1.

A new Lincoln board will be elected in the April elections, according to Blackmore.

Voters in the Burdell section will not be eligible to vote in that election, however.

So Be Composed, You're Not Crazy

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—Do you worry? Have financial troubles? Brood over your difficulties? You are lucky you weren't born a few years earlier. You might have wound up in a mental institution.

In its first report to the Legislature, issued in 1898, Western Washington Hospital for the Insane listed these reasons for commitment:

"Brooding over trouble, death of wife, domestic trouble, financial troubles, love sickness, reading books on hypnotism, sunstroke and worry."

In 1745 when Bonnie Prince Charlie failed in an uprising against the English throne, Scottish clans were disbanded and the tartan outlawed.

Indicted Lawmakers Expect Vindication

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two congressmen, indicted by a federal grand jury on conspiracy and conflict-of-interest charges have expressed assurance they will be vindicated.

Reps. Thomas F. Johnson (D-Md.), and Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala.), said they were shocked at the indictments handed down yesterday, and expressed their desire for a speedy trial.

The jury charged they received compensation for trying to persuade the Department of Justice to postpone the mail fraud trial of J. Kenneth Edlin, 64, of Miami, Fla., and attempting ultimately to have the charges dropped.

Edlin pleaded no contest to the charges, made in connection with the operation of the First Colony Savings and Loan Assn. in Maryland, and was sentenced last April to six months in jail. He also was fined $8,000. Edlin was released last Wednesday from federal prison.

Johnson issued a statement last night.

"I was deeply shocked and amazed by the charges made against me and I am positive that I will be completely vindicated," he said.

"I believe every fair-minded person will certainly regard it as a strange coincidence that such baseless charges should be brought immediately upon the adjournment of Congress and just three weeks before election."

In the November election Johnson faces Rogers C. B. Morton, a Republican and the brother of Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky.). Morton refused comment on the indictments, though other members of the Maryland Republican ticket jumped on Johnson with gusto.

Boykin, 77, also indicated he wants a quick trial, and expressed confidence he will be vindicated. He failed to win the Democratic nomination May 29 after 14 terms in the House.

"I'm anxious for the trial to come real quick," he said. "I have never had a nickel's worth of business with the savings and loans in my life."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, speaking at a rally in Salisbury, Md., Friday, lauded Johnson for his work in Congress and called for his re-election.

President John F. Kennedy mentioned Johnson by name and called for his re-election when he spoke to a huge Democratic rally in Baltimore Oct. 10.

The special grand jury charged that Johnson, seeking a third term from Maryland's First District, had received $24,918 for his efforts in Edlin's behalf, and that both congressmen realized profits on real estate transactions totaling at least 3.2 million dollars in which Edlin also was involved.

The congressmen, Edlin and William L. Robinson, 37, a Miami attorney, were charged in one count with conspiring to obstruct impartial operation of the Department of Justice and right of the government to service of the congressmen without corruption, dishonesty and fraud.

Johnson, 53, also was charged in seven other counts of receiving specific payments of $17,550 in violation of a criminal conflict of interest. The others were named as aiding and abetting him in the transactions.

The jury said the payments were made either by First Continental Savings and Loan Assn. of Maryland or Robinson, and said the payments were for Johnson's intercession with the Justice Department in Edlin's behalf. The indictment said Edlin controlled First Continental and First Colony.

Boykin's inducements to intercede in Edlin's behalf, the jury said, was purchase by Edlin of property the Alabama Democrat owned in Maryland.

Bail of $10,000 was set by U.S. Dist. Judge Edward S. Northrop for each of the four defendants.

Each of the four defendants could receive maximum sentences of 18 years and fines totaling $80,000 in addition to being barred from federal office.

DISTRICT, CHURCH AGREE ON SEWERS

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors have approved an agreement with the American Lutheran Church to install sewers for the church and parsonage on Trestle Glen Drive, Tiburon.

The board Monday also approved the Hawthorne Terrace annexation and appointed J. Warren Nute, district engineer, to handle design and assessment proceedings for the annexation work.

Despite great difficulties caused by last week's storm, all facilities held up, secretary Samuel A. Fletcher said. He added that the salt works canal station was pumping to peak capacity during the storm and an auxiliary pump was hired to augment pumping capacity. Fletcher praised cooperation the district received from residents.

$200,000 Asked In Boy's Death

A $200,000 damage suit was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the death of a 2-year-old San Rafael boy, who was killed by a car on Lincoln Avenue last May 25.

Leonard John Steers and his wife Wilhelmina Steers filed the suit for the death of their son, Marc Robert. Defendant is Eugene Lackenbach, owner of Eugene's Restaurant at 909 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Lackenbach was turning his car from Lincoln Avenue into a driveway next to his restaurant when his car ran over the boy on the sidewalk.

Ugly Old Piano Produces Some Very Happy Notes

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — The old piano was ugly and cumbersome. Its finish was cracked and checked from age. When you hit a key, it sounded like a spoon on a battered dishpan.

Wilfred Tull of Kokomo, Ind., a piano tuner, and Herbert H. Heltzel, manager of a music store, shook their heads in dismay as they started to dismantle the ancient upright to see if it was worth reconditioning.

Inside, the piano was dusty. It also was musty, and the felts were frowsy. And there were some parcels that one ordinarily doesn't find in pianos.

"Someone left a stale sandwich down here," said Tull as he stopped and picked up a neatly wrapped package.

Heltzel opened it and out fell a stack of bills.

Tull looked again and discovered more packages. All together they yielded $9,090 in currency, some of it issued as long ago as the 1930s, some rare coins and some jewelry.

Heltzel took the cache to a bank for safekeeping, closed his shop for the rest of the day, then contacted the former owner of the piano, a widower. Heltzel learned the money apparently was hidden in the piano by the man's late wife "years ago, over a period of time."

"This represented the life savings of these people," Heltzel said today. "He knew the money was hidden somewhere, but he never found it. If we had sold the piano for junk, we would never have found it."

Heltzel said the money was turned over to the man because "there was no doubt of ownership."

CALIFORNIA CANDIDATES

HOPEFUL—Gov. Edmund G. Brown beams between his wife and Earl Warren Jr., son of the Supreme Court justice. Brown told Warren, "Who knows you may be governor some day. I hope you are." They talked yesterday in San Diego.

(AP Wirephoto)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon has hit hard at Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown for saying it would be bad to have a California governor at odds with President John F. Kennedy.

"That's the most irresponsible and indefensible statement I ever heard from a political candidate," Nixon said during a three hour telethon over a Sacramento station last night.

"Why was it when Brown was running in 1958 he didn't say vote for Knowland because Eisenhower was president?" asked Nixon.

Brown defeated former GOP Sen. William F. Knowland four years ago.

Nixon — going Brown one better — PLEDGED NO TAX INCREASES IN 1963, 1964 or the years ahead."

Brown has said taxes won't be raised next year but he could not predict beyond that although he believed a rising economy would make new taxes unnecessary.

"I am going to cut government expenditures, without depriving the people of this state of any service," said Nixon. "We will get a surplus that will enable us to get a tax reduction but we can't promise a tax reduction now because we must save the money first."

Nixon gave these answers last night to various Democratic charges:

He denied he deserted former Gov. Earl Warren's bid for the presidency at the 1952 GOP convention.

"As Gov. Warren knew at that time," he said, "I was for President Eisenhower before the convention."

He said he never called Helen Gahagan Douglas a Communist during his successful 1950 senatorial campaign against her.

"I did charge what was the truth, that she was out of step with her party — had voted against aid to Greece and Turkey, against the House Un-American Activities Committee —and that I believed that an individual who had shown that much blindness to Communism, both abroad and at home, should not represent California."

He denied any intention to cut pensions to the aged, blind or disabled and said he has no intention of firing state civil service.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who says he expects to win by a landslide, clashed with Richard Nixon today on the water issue.

Brown summed up Nixon's proposal to cut one million dollars from the State Water Department budget as "the most reckless and irresponsible talk of this campaign."

He told the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce:

"I challenge Mr. Nixon here and now to produce his plan for reducing operation of our vital water department."

The Democratic governor spoke of Nixon's proposal as an example of his opponent's numbers game in budget cutting.

He said Nixon promises to cut spending in one breath and advocates new expenditures the next.

"Here we have one of the most vital functions of state government, the development of our precious water resources . . . and Mr. Nixon says he will reduce operations by one million dollars. He does not say where or how he will make the reduction. He just blindly calls for a 'cut'."

In Anaheim last night, Brown predicted he would defeat his Republican rival by a landslide — his most optimistic assessment yet of the Nov. 6 outcome.

Marin College Students Plan Forum Series

College of Marin student clubs will sponsor a once-a-month campus forum series of educational and cultural events, Ronald Cox, president of the college's interclub council, announced today.

All events will be scheduled for the 1 p.m. "free hour" on either Tuesday or Thursday and will be held in Olney Hall.

"This series is being arranged primarily for the students and faculty but each event will be open to the public," said Cox.

Panel members will include Celia Walker, social worker with the Family Service Agency in San Rafael; Dr. Catherine Pike, Ross pediatrician and family relations counselor; Dr. Phillip Hicks, San Rafael psychiatrist, and College of Marin counselor, William Scalapino, Samuel N. LeCount, another College of Marin counselor, will be moderator.

On Nov. 8, the Lively Arts Club, a merger of the art and photography clubs, will sponsor a showing of films including "Knockout," a silent movies with Charlie Chaplin, Fatty Arbuckle and the Keystone Cops, and Cecil B. DeMille's "History of the Cinema." This will be the first of a series of films to be sponsored by the club.

MYSTERY SUBSTANCE

Clue To Cancer Found In Blood

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)— There is much more than a mere possibility that the mysterious natural something which preserves most persons from cancer has been discovered.

It is an ingredient of the blood. According to the scientific evidence people without cancer have 10 and more times of it in their blood than persons with cancers have in their blood.

Dr. Edward D. McLaughlin, its youngish discoverer, revealed his persuasive evidence today at the 48th annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

He got his evidence from mice and rats as well as from people. To deal with people first, he measured the amounts of it in the blood of 30 healthy persons, in 22 women who were pregnant or who had been just delivered and in 25 persons ill of a variety of diseases other than cancer.

He also measured the amounts in the blood of 15 persons with untreated cancers, in nine persons with recurrent or metastatic cancers, and in six persons who had had cancers surgically removed and who had been free of any sign of recurrence for 14 months to seven years.

Some of the healthy men and women and some of those with diseases other than cancer had as much as 50 times more of the substance in them than did the persons with cancers or who had had cancers.

Compared on the means of the non-cancerous and the cancerous, the advantage of the former was approximately 10-fold. In the non-cancerous the blood content was uniformly high and in the cancerous uniformly low — comparatively speaking.

One of the most widely held of scientific cancer theories is that there are two factors in the cause of cancer, one which initiates a change from normal cells to malignant cells, and the other which permits the altered cells to propagate and take over.

McLaughlin himself recalled this theory in describing his discovery and what he has learned about it so far. He was not prepared to say flatly this blood substance is the second factor but it was clear he himself was persuaded it might be.

Belvedere Woman Turns Over In Car

Mrs. Ruth Melone, 41, of Belvedere was treated by her doctor early today after her convertible went over a retaining wall and landed upside down in the driveway of the Willard Anderson home at 40 Bella Vista, Belvedere.

Police Chief William S. Woodington reported that Mrs. Melone, en route to her home at 215 Golden Gate Avenue at 3:15 a.m., said she got too far to the left of the road at a curve.

She complained of a sore head and that her legs hurt. "She was scared to death," Woodington added.

Bay Area Optometric Council Is Formed

Formation of a Bay Area Optometric Co-ordinating Council has been announced by Dr. S. Kumata, president of the Marin County Optometric Society.

Dr. Kumata, Core Madera optometrist, said the council will unify public relations and programs of seven Bay Area societies, including the Marin group.

Miller Buried With Brief, Private Service

Rep. Clem Miller was buried yesterday afternoon in the first section of land acquired for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Brief graveside services were conducted by Dr. John R. Bodo, instructor at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. The private services were attended by R. D. Moore of San Rafael, cousin of the congressman, and a few close friends.

An honor guard of Hamilton Air Force Base sergeants and National Park Service rangers carried flags.

The grave of the first district congressman, who was killed Oct. 7 in a plane crash in Humboldt County, is on a knoll overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

The half-acre site, donated to the park service by Bear Valley Ranch owner Bruce Kelham, is about three miles west of the grove where funeral services for Miller were held Saturday.

Burial was delayed because of difficulty in digging the grave.

Car Out Of Gas Hit On Highway

An out-of-fuel car stopped on Highway 101 just south of San Rafael city limits early today was rammed by another vehicle with injury to both drivers.

Henry D. Schramm of 137 Canal Street, San Rafael, halted his sedan northbound when its gasoline tank ran dry at 2:50 a.m. San Rafael Police Officer James W. Carlton passed on nearby Francisco Boulevard, promised to summon aid, and advised Schramm to get his car onto the highway shoulder.

Schramm started to push his car when he heard a northbound truck approaching. He jumped out of the way just before the truck, driven by Otis Graum of 7 Brookmead Court, San Anselmo, hit the sedan. The sedan's door flew open and struck Schramm in the right hip.

Graum suffered a cut forehead and both he and Schramm were treated at San Rafael General Hospital. The California Highway Patrol cited Graum on a charge of driving at unsafe speed.

TALL BABY, TWO SHORT ONES

Pamela, a mama giraffe at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo looks around at her five-foot, six-inch, 160-pound colt Admiral which was born yesterday. The baby is Pamela's third colt. At the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C., two other babies (below) are on view. Lulu (right), a 17-month-old chimpanzee, hasn't bitten the hand that feeds her. It's just a glove that dropped in her cage. She shares the cage with Tomoka (left), a 13-month-old gorilla. (AP Wirephotos)

Corte Madera Creek Recreation Use Urged

Former county planning director Mary Summers wrote county supervisors yesterday, as president of the Marin Conservation League, urging preparation of a public recreational use plan covering the Corte Madera Creek project area.

She said that though this is primarily a flood control move there are also public recreational potentials. Suggested were development of the Greenbrae interchange area for general public use and fishing, and provision for public access to marginal lands bordering the tidal estuary of Corte Madera Creek.

Supervisors agreed the idea had merit and referred it to the parks and recreation commission.

A letter from Gene McDaniel, president of the Bolinas Harbor District board, pointed out in connection with possible highway relocation that the district intends to use the Bolinas lagoon for moorings, anchorages and docks.

A suitable access road should be provided, two-lane and with a third lane for parallel parking, he suggested.

Baptists Get Marin City Church Site

Marin County Redevelopment Agency commissioners Monday agreed to sell the fourth church site in Marin City to the Village Baptist Church at $15,825.

The Gospel Fellowship Church and Roman Catholic churches were also represented, according to executive director Bert Klahn, but the commission decided the Village Baptist Church should get the site "based on qualifications of the church which has been established in Marin City for 15 years."

The American Baptist Union has offered to underwrite purchase of the land and construction of the church, Klahn reported.

The commission also adopted a resolution expressing condolences to the family of the late Rep. Clem Miller and noted his cooperation to provide housing for persons of low and middle incomes.

Woman Driver Hurt In Accident

A woman driver of a light van suffered minor injuries when her vehicle rolled over while crossing the San Rafael overpass yesterday.

Helen Marie Robinson Hale of 215 Mark Twain Avenue, San Rafael, was driving south at 1:30 p.m. when her vehicle struck the divider curb, bounced over to hit the rail on the outside, then skidded into collision with a truck driven by Arthur T. Jones of San Francisco, hit the divider again, and overturned.

Mrs. Hale declined hospitalization for minor cuts and bruises. Jones was unhurt.

Unification Urged Of Tam Schools

All elementary school districts within the Tamalpais High School District should be unified, the League of Women Voters held in a workshop committee report last night to trustees of the San Anselmo School District.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the workshop, represented by chairman Mrs. James Compton of Kentfield and Mrs. Loretta Phelps of San Anselmo, believed that breaking the high school district into three areas would make each district too small. Also, he said, Mrs. Phelps reported the assessed value per child would differ greatly if the district were broken into smaller units.

At $1 per $100 assessed valuation, for example, the rate per child each year in the Sir Francis Drake High School area would be $250 while in the Redwood High School area the same levy would bring $440 per child.

Mrs. Phelps said the workshop's report would be presented to the Central and South Marin League of Women Voters units in January for approval or disapproval.

About 40 parents attended the meeting to hear the unification report and view plans for the addition to the Wade Thomas School, Parodi said. The plans, drawn by San Rafael architect Eugene Crawford, include four new classrooms, a multi-use room and teacher's room and students' rest rooms. Construction cost is estimated at $209,782, to be financed from state aid. Contracts should be let in approximately three months, Parodi said.

The board learned the district has sold $947,000 in bonds.

Board members Marin Hedin and Robert Corlett were appointed to a joint school district and San Anselmo city nomination committee for a Parks and Recreation committee.

Architect Promises New Center Schedule

Architect Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation promised county supervisors yesterday that he will submit a revised schedule for civic center occupation next Tuesday.

This was suggested by public works director Donald R. Frost as solution of a snarl created by emergency problems arising last week when it was discovered that some administration building work must be done over.

Green had said the crisis followed a long-standing condition of "an optimistic contractor and a pessimistic architect," adding:

"I feel responsible for the delay caused over final acceptance, but I also feel that this was in the county's interest. They (the contractors) were ready for the furniture to be moved in but I said that anything wrong must first be fixed. . .

Difficulties occurred only in the last week. . . We checked the floors two days before they were supposed to be ready and it was then we found we couldn't accept them. . .

"The county has been misled by checking with the contractor. Contractors are always optimistic; architects are always pessimistic."

"Let's admit it — we gambled," said Supervisor William Gnoss.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman said he thought the board should plan on work by county employees starting at the civic center only after the beginning of the new year.

This met no enthusiastic response, and Chairman Walter R. Castro remarked that "the longer you give these contractors, the more they drag their feet."

Patient Is Moved

Charles Locati, 16, of 5 Dawn Place, Mill Valley, who broke his neck in a fall during a Tamalpais High School gymnastics class, has been transferred from Ross General Hospital to Marin General Hospital. He was reported today slightly improved from a very serious condition.

Mill Valley Commuters Club Say Gate Bridge Still Hazard

Mill Valley Commuters Club directors lambasted directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District at a meeting last night, saying recent bridge changes have not solved traffic problems and that the directors are inadequately serving commuters and people of the district.

"The so-called improvements to the northern approach to the Golden Gate Bridge have actually served to slow down traffic and increase the hazards of the sharp curve," the board agreed, according to club president James A. Bollier.

"They have accentuated the curve instead of reducing it," he added. "The change made in the Sausalito lateral has made no marked difference in the flow of traffic. And the board still doesn't understand what the directors are doing about setting up four-lane traffic in peak hours.

"One-way tolls are absolutely necessary, we think. In short, we're completely disappointed with the whole thing and don't think directors are adequately serving the commuters nor the people of the district."

The board approved appointment of new directors Larry Symmes of 309 Tamalpais Avenue and Jerry London of 629 Northern Avenue.

No New Links In Theft Ring

No new links between major thefts in Marin and an alleged San Francisco burglary ring were reported today by investigating officers who examined loot collected by San Francisco police.

Ross and Belvedere police found no loot which could be traced to burglaries during the past two years in their cities, but indicated they planned further investigation.

Five men have been arrested by San Francisco police on suspicion of Bay Area burglaries involving loot worth well over a million dollars.

Lt. Don Scott of San Francisco police said today no evidence of previous burglaries has been established yet, and police are still sorting and listing loot recovered.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said he plans to examine the loot again tomorrow. "We're still making an investigation, and plan to question the suspects with the help of the district attorney's office."

Marin Doctor Rammed By Bus

Dr. Charles D. King of Sylvan Lane, Ross, escaped injury yesterday when his car was rammed by a municipal bus in San Francisco. Nine passengers aboard the bus were injured.

Police said the bus struck the rear of Dr. King's car at California Street and Arguello Boulevard, then careened across the boulevard and crashed into the entrances of two adjoining apartment buildings.

Bus driver James Landers of San Francisco escaped unhurt. Nine of his passengers were treated for cuts and bruises. Landers was cited for driving too fast.

Marin Attorney Wants To Know 'All' In Mendocino Wrangle

A Sleepy Hollow attorney hopes to get two judges and a former deputy sheriff to tell a Mendocino County grand jury tomorrow why they've filled the courts with complaints against the district attorney, sheriff and sheriff's captain.

Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., appointed by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk as special attorney for grand jury proceedings which involve a cast of Mendocino County officials

Scheduled to "tell all" to the grand jury tomorrow are Robert Morton, former deputy sheriff who has already pleaded the Fifth Amendment once; Judge Maurice Tindall, whose court is in Boonville, and Judge Glenn Evans, who holds court in Covelo. The grand jury will meet in Ukiah.

Between them, the two judges have issued four warrants for arrest of Dist. Atty. Frank Petersen, Sheriff Reno Bartolomie, and Sheriff's Capt. Gino Stefani — all on complaints by Morton. The contention is that Petersen, Bartolomie and Stefani don't enforce the laws.

Morton testified before a grand jury session Oct. 5, but after answering some questions took the Fifth Amendment. The two judges have expressed willingness to testify.

Crown Prince Of Libya Will Visit

His royal highness Hasan Al-Rida Al-Sanusi, crown prince of the United Kingdom of Libya, will visit Marin Saturday.

He is to go first to Muir Woods National Monument, arriving about 2:30 p.m., then to the new low-rent housing project at Marin City at 3:45 p.m.

James P. Cavanaugh, agent in charge of the State Department security office in San Francisco, said the crown prince will be accompanied in Marin by Samuel L. King and Cavanaugh. King is assistant chief of U.S. protocol.

In Marin City, the royal visitor will be shown around by Alton Lerch, chairman of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency, and Omar E. McNally, chairman of the housing authority, as well as Mrs. Jacqueline Smith, director of the Marin City program of the Marin Council of Community Services.

Fairfax Unit Asks Questions On Unification

Fairfax School District trustees last night voted unanimously to request a letter from the Marin County Committee on School District Organization stating advantages and disadvantages of all unification plans suggested for the Tamalpais High School District.

The Fairfax district board has proposed its own unification plan which would join the San Rafael, Dixie, San Jose, Lagunitas, Fairfax, San Anselmo and Nicasio elementary school districts. This would take parts of two high school districts. San Rafael and San Jose elementary districts are in the San Rafael High School District. The others in the Tamalpais High School District.

Trustees tabled until their Nov. 20 meeting a request from Mrs. Mildred Kenny of Bolinas Road for payment by the school district for her child's school transportation. She lives too far out for her children to take the school bus, Mrs. Kenney said in her request.

Contractor Raymond Beierle of Fairfax was given permission to move a house from Merwin Avenue across hte Central School yard.

Storm damage to Central, Deer Park and Manor Schools included minor leaks and fence damage caused by falling limbs, trustees learned.

The board will hear an audit report from the League of Women Voters on district unification at their Nov. 20 meeting.

Novato Took In More, Spent Less

The City of Novato took in more money and spent less than it expected during the last fiscal year, the annual auditor's report discloses.

The report by auditors Lindquist, Von Husen and Joyce of San Francisco was presented to the Novato City Council at its meeting last night, from which Councilman Howard Schoff was absent.

It showed city receipts for the fiscal year ended last June 30 exceeded budget estimates by $49,108, while the city spent $45,495 less than budgeted.

Result was a year-end balance of $456,310, despite purchase of Presbyterian Church properties at $62,846 and the Community Building at $93,000 to provide space for city offices.

The report noted some difficulty in tracing cash receipts in the city hall. This has been corrected, City Administrator J. Julien Baget told the council, with hiring of an accounting clerk.

Andersen Chevrolet Co., lowest of three bidders, was awarded a contract for two police cars at $4,613.75 and one two-door sedan for the building inspector at $2,117.80.

The Novato City Council also:

1. Asked County Planner Robert Lagele, who does the city planning, to work with Councilman Lucile Cannon on developing a tree planting ordinance for new subdivisions.

2. Approved job qualifications for an assistant building inspector to start at $583 per month.

3. Continued a survey of job classifications and salary scales for city employees. Members of a council have been studying an ordinance from Pinole, aiming at adopting a similar ordinance for Novato.

4. Referred to the lighting committee for its spring consideration, requests by Police Chief Roy McLeran for increasing the power of two street lights nearest the police station on Sherman Avenue.

5. Authorized the mayor and city clerk to terminate lease of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot which has been used as a police station for two and one-half years. The council thanked the railroad for the free use of the building for the period. The lease is to end on Nov. 30.

7. Approved appointment of Charles Joseph, city director of public works, to the Marin County Flood Control Advisory Committee.

8. Approved payment of a claim of $488.52 to contractor's MacHinery Co. for the street sweeper on a rental-purchase plan, and the city September salaries for $11,307.17.

9. Adjourned to Oct. 30.

San Rafael Rec Plans Announced

Intoxicated Fairfax Driver Given Fine

Jerrold Orville Cooper, 24, of 15 Mono Avenue, Fairfax, drew $166 fine and six months probation yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 last Sept. 20.

Auto Stolen From Gas Station Lot

Theft of a 1954 model two-door sedan, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Royce Brier of 108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, was reported to San Rafael police Monday.

Dave Munro of the Union Oil Service Station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue, said he parked the car in the station lot after servicing it at 9:45 a.m. The car, with the keys in it, was missing at 12:15 p.m. he said.

Commercial-Apartment Proposal Delayed By Sausalito Council

The Sausalito City Council last night delayed granting a parking variance to Stanley P. Berney for a commercial and apartment development at Bridgeway and Princess Street until a use permit is issued.

But the council assured Berney's representative, Victor M. di Suvero, that it is in sympathy with the proposal to combine commercial and apartment zoned properties and provide parking access on Princess Street instead of Bridgeway.

Berney plans a five-story building. The planning commission has asked for more data on grades and slopes before granting a use permit.

The variance issue was laid over to the Nov. 13 meeting, when Mayor Paul Micou expects a full council to be present.

Only Micou and Councilmen Michael Harris and Jan Paul Dyk were present last night until nearly 10 o'clock, when Councilman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. arrived.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Reiterated its previous stand against leasing a city-owned waterfront lot between the Ondine and Glad Hand restaurants for $30 a month for parking.

2. Accepted a low bid of $2,015.45 from Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet of Mill Valley on a compact car for the use of police detectives.

3. Granted a use permit to Gregory Leones to convert a duplex to a triplex at 20 Woodward Avenue.

4. Laid over all other business on the agenda to next Tuesday's meeting to devote most of the time to discussion of Sausalito Properties Inc. plan for waterfront commercial and apartment developments on Richardson Bay.

Sense Of Justice Can Be Inborn

MINNEDOSA, Man. (AP)—An innate sense of justice is an essential trait of a good judge, says retired County Court Judge Walter Jacobson Lindal.

Judge Lindal, who served 20 years on the bench, said that while needing technical and academic education the good judge also must have an inborn sense of justice and of what is fair.

A native of Ireland, he is a great believer in the value of a knowledge of human behavior.

"It is an advantage to have been raised on a farm, to have worked in lumber and fish camps, to have been in the war and to have acted on behalf of someone from skid row as well as the president of a large corporation," he said.

Pedestrian, 76, Is Victim As Cars Collide In Novato

A 76-year-old pedestrian was the victim when two cars collided at a Novato intersection yesterday.

Joseph Valin of 703 Alice Street was walking east on Olive Avenue at Chase Street at 5 p.m. Jeack Dick Burns, 57, of 672 Plum Street, Novato, was driving north on Chase Street. Gregory Jan Hurt, 18, of 1188 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, was driving west on Olive.

The Burns and Hurt cars slammed into each other in the intersection, Novato police reported. Hurt's car skidded and flipped onto its side. It hit Valim, knocking him down.

Valim suffered a fracture of the right leg and injuries to right arm and shoulder. He was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato Hospital.

Police cited Burns for failure to yield the right of way.

By the time officers stopped the vehicle near Missionary Ridge, the body woke up. A tired workman was taking a nap.

Hospital Board Approves Combining Aid Groups

Consolidation of the service league and auxiliary of Marin General Hospital was approved last night by Marin Hospital directors.

The auxiliary, a fund-raising group, has handled public relations and services. The league has provided volunteer assistance, such as the Pink Ladies.

Mrs. Fred Drexler of Mill Valley, auxiliary president, said she and Mrs. Allan Gilman of Greenbrae, league president, soon would meet jointly with their executive committees to pick new leaders.

Mrs. Drexler termed herself "very happy" with the consolidation and said she was sure the groups could accomplish more as a single organization during the current hospital expansion than they formerly accomplished as separate groups.

The hospital board also:

1. Authorized purchase of an accounting machine from National Cash Register Co. for $8,600.

2. Ratified award of insurance to the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents for $6,403.

3. Approved a tentative agreement with the College of Marin to train nurses' aides under the manpower development and training act.

Venetia Assessment District Launched

Marin County supervisors yesterday adopted a group of resolutions launching a Venetia Harbor Special Assessment District, to meet federal requirements in seeking a $10,500 government grant.

Attorney Philip Assaf, of the San Mateo firm of Wilson, Harzfeld, Jones and Morton, counsel for the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, explained that federal technicalities in annexation of Venetia Harbor to the Las Gallinas district put Marin County in the position of contributing the $10,500 but actually it will simply serve as channel for transmission of the federal money.

Asst. County Counsel Douglas P. Maloney said it was proper to put through the resolutions, but no contract should be let or bonds sold until there was complete assurance that Washington will provide the grant.

Assaf said the cost to those assessed will be $336 per lot and that this had been announced at a public meeting. An earlier estimate of "around $300" was without connection charges, he believed.

The resolutions included appointment of Assaf's firm to be attorneys for the district with Warren Nute, engineer for the Las Gallinas Valley district, as engineer.

The board earlier passed a resolution authorizing the county department of public works to act as its agent in this matter, part of several operations asked by the Regional Water Pollution Control Board to purify Gallinas Creek and San Pablo Bay waters.

Many Have Foot Problems In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chiropody began in the United States 125 years ago when an itinerant corn cutter named Nahemia Kenison treated New England mill workers.

Now there are 8,000 podiatrists in America. Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., said that four out of five elderly persons and three out of five school children have foot problems.

Barnett Says He Acted Within Law As Court Ponders Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi says his actions in the University of Mississippi desegregation case are based on "what I believe to be the law" and that he is not in contempt of any court.

His statement, issued yesterday in Jackson, Miss., came as the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals considered whether to imprison or fine him. Earlier, it had found him guilty of civil contempt for his refusal to permit Negro James H. Meredith to enroll at Ole Miss.

There was no indication when the court would rule.

The Justice Department has asked the court to fine Barnett $100,000 for failing between court hearings Oct. 2 and 12 to take positive action to purge himself of contempt. It also asked an additional fine of $10,000 a day starting Oct. 12 until he does so.

Barnett's attorney, Charles Clark, told the court the governor did not consider himself in contempt, because Meredith was attending the university.

"I have never taken the position that I have purged myself," Barnett said yesterday. "Nor have I authorized anyone to take such a position on my behalf."

He added, "My position is that I have upheld the law and am not in contempt of any court."

Barnett also said: "My position is based upon the Constitution of the United States and the constitution and laws of Mississippi. My every decision in this matter has been formed after careful and deliberate consideration of what I believe to be the law."

Charging that "Mississippi has not yet had her day in court," Barnett said that if anyone felt "that I have violated his rights, the courts are open to challenge my action in a proper court proceeding."

Barnett failed to appear, and did not send his attorneys, to the Sept. 28 hearing at which he was convicted of contempt.

In another development yesterday, attorneys for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker asked U.S. Dist. Judge Claud Clayton to revoke his order that Walker undergo a psychiatric examination.

Walker, arrested during the riots here, is free on $50,000 bond on the condition he undergo a mental test to see if he is mentally competent to stand trial on four federal charges including leading an insurrection.

The motion was filed at U.S. District Court in Oxford. It said the order for a mental test violates the constitutional rights of the former general.

Meanwhile, Meredith continued his increasingly uneventful attendance at Ole Miss.

He ate breakfast and lunch at the university cafeteria without incident. When he arrived for supper with two Justice Department officials and sat down, four students at an adjoining table picked up their trays and moved to another table.

The Mekong River rises in the Tibetan highlands and runs southward for 2,800 miles, through the Southeast Asia peninsula.

Open Zoning Area Application Asked

First use of Marin County's new "Open area zoning" loomed yesterday when Supervisor Peter Behr inquired of Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney whether statutory time had elapsed to make it effective.

Maloney gave a go-ahead, but Supervisor William D. Fusselman interposed that the chief subdivision menace to Marin Municipal Water District land lay in his district, not Behr's.

Fusselman then moved, Behr seconded and the board approved a resolution instructing the Marin County Planning Commission to initiate application of open area zoning to water district lands.

The law is limited in its application to public lands which, if zoned open area, must be preserved in natural state.

The supervisors also:

1. One suggestion of Mrs. Eric Moeller of Ross, declared Oct. 21-27 United Nations Week and accepted a U.N. flag to be flown that week over the Civic Center.
2. Decided County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom should investigate further before carrying out his recommended plan of having men of his department draw plans for the new Hicks Valley fire substation.
3. Received notice from attorney A. E. Bagshaw of appeal against planning commission denial of a gasoline station at Tiburon and Trestle Glen Boulevards, Tiburon, and set hearing for Nov. 13.
4. Upheld the planning commission in denying a rezoning application to allow Thomas R. and Elizabeth Griffin to open a new Black Point store to serve patrons of the launching ramp.
5. Approved final map of the Kieth subdivision in the Novato area, and development plans for a portion of Red Hill subdivision in Tiburon area. Approved resolutions launching Red Hill special assessment district.
6. Granted one-year extension of time for filing final map of Lucas Valley subdivision.

In August 1962, the U. S. population passed the 187-million mark.

Richardson Dredging Suspended

A further one-week suspension of all requests to dredge and fill in Richardson Bay was obtained from county supervisors yesterday by county planning director B. D. Dobbs.

This supplemented an earlier two-week suspension allowed Oct. 2 so that county officials might have opportunity to consider planned development of the area. Public works director Donald R. Frost has been working with the planning staff on prospects for developing a scheme.

Dobbs said that "we could use more time still, but in deference to the man whose work is being held up will content ourselves with another week."

George Kappas, who was stopped from illegal filling in July, has requested permission to dredge and fill tideland property.

Terra Linda Theater Will Open Oct. 26

The Terra Linda Little Theater Group will open its season Oct. 26 with "The Torch Bearers," George Kelly's satirical comedy about the little theater movement in the 1920s.

The play will run Oct. 26 and 27 and Nov. 2 and 3, at 8:30 p.m., at the Terra Linda Community Center Building.

Dion Chesse of Sausalito, who recently played a prominent part in the Marin Shakespearian Festival, will direct the play, which portrays the trials of little theater companies.

Eleanor Gaustad portrays Mrs. Pampinelli, the "leading spirit of the movement," who "discovers" Paula Ritter (Sara Oppenheim) much to the chagrin of Mr. Ritter (Jim Ray).

Others in the cast are Virginia O'Brien as Nelly Fell, John Lewis as Mr. Spindler, Marion Bjork as Florence McCrickett, Al Flower as Huxley Hossefrosse, Eric Wilkinson as Mr. Twiller, Richard Atkins as Teddy Spearing, Dale Beck as Clara Sheppard, Sheila Glover as Jennie, the Ritters' housemaid, and Harry Zwagerman as the stage manager.

Photographers Forming Group

Eleven Marin commercial photographers have decided to form the Marin Photographers Assn., it was announced today by Mill Valley photographer Philip Planert.

Its purpose is "to obtain better business practices for the benefit of Marin professional photographers and the Marin County public," he said.

All licensed photographers are invited to join the association, according to Planert. The next meeting will be Oct. 24, at 8 p.m. at the Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield. President pro-tempore is Ernest Franckeen of Mill Valley.

Courthouse Remodeling Bids Opened

Herrero Brothers Inc. of San Francisco, with a base figure of $23,226, was apparent low bidder yesterday on remodeling of the Marin County courthouse.

County supervisors deferred decision for a week as to award of contract. Other bidders were Neil T. Burton of Kentfield with a base bid of $23,733 and Wilson-Widekind of San Rafael, base bid $26,094.

DeLong Chevrolet Inc. of San Rafael won contracts for two four-door passenger sedans at $2,227.11 unit price, nine passenger station wagons at $2,359 unit price.

Award of contracts on two police cars, with DeLong bidding against Ames Ford, was held up one week on recommendation of public works director Donald R. Frost.

Style Show, Lunch For Carrow Oct. 27

A hand-woven wool stole and skirt ensemble donated by Beatrice Bernardi, Sausalito weaver, will be auctioned during a "Fashion International" style show and luncheon sponsored by the Carrow for Assembly committee at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael on Oct. 27.

The campaign worker who sells the most tickets to the noon affair will win a day aboard Gov. Edmund G. Brown's campaign bus with the governor and his staff.

Proceeds from the event will help finance the campaign of Robert D. Carrow, Democratic candidate for the State Assembly.

The deadline for reservations at Democratic headquarters, San Rafael, is Oct. 23.

State Says 'Great Imposter' Is Running Legal Boys' Camp

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Ferdinand W. Demara, who won fame as "The Great Imposter," is running a legal boys' camp in California, and the state has decided not to prosecute him because he once had underage boys there without a license.

Dist. Atty. Jack Winkler of neighboring El Dorado County decided against prosecution yesterday after conferring with state attorneys at the capitol.

Demara at various times, using various names, has impersonated a Canadian Navy surgeon, a school teacher, a minister, prison warden and a Trappist monk.

He is now running the New Life Youth Ranch near Placerville under his own name — and it's a legal operation. It is one of a string of camps for problem boys owned by Philip Thatcher of Los Angeles.

Last May, Demara inquired if he needed a state license, and was told he did if he had any boys under 16 years old. There were several such boys in the camp, but Demara promptly sent them home, except for two who had been placed in the camp by juvenile courts.

"You have to treat this case as if it were John Doe, and not Fred Demara, con man extraordinary," said Rudolph Michaels, lawyer for the State Department of Social Welfare.

"If you take Demara's name out, you have just another vanilla ice cream case. We get them every day. A man asks whether he needs a license. When he is told he does, he changes the business so he doesn't need one any more."

Debate May Be Christian Future Clue

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council's first formal debate may give a clue to the future of Christian unity, church experts said today.

The 2,500-plus Roman Catholic cardinals, patriarchs, bishops, archbishops and abbots are to begin discussion Monday on a new constitution on sacred liturgy.

Liturgical reform concerns the forms of prayers, acts and ceremonies used in public worship, particularly mass.

Part of Pope John XXIII's expressed reason for calling the council is to bring the church into step with modern times.

Another stated reason is to do everything possible, within limits of the faith as Catholics see it, to make it easier for Christian unity.

Most non-Catholics — and many Catholics — object to certain church ceremonials and the use of Latin in the mass.

An authoritative non-Catholic view has been given by Canon Bernard Pawley of England's Ely Cathedral. He has been living in Rome for over a year as the personal representative of the Anglican Church to the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity.

Canon Pawley recently said, "The picture in the minds of most Protestants of the Roman church at mass is that of a priest mumbling inaudible words in a tongue incomprehensible to the people while they are preoccupied in certain private devotions to make out the time."

Malicious Damage At Model Houses Told

Malicious damage to two model homes in Forest Park subdivision in Novato was reported Monday to Novato police by Joseph Downing of Petaluma, supervisor for Kaehler and Farrar Construction Co. of San Rafael.

Someone entered the attics of the houses and poked holes through the ceilings, Downing said. Damage was estimated at $200.

ONE OF A HUNDRED

Ordinarily, when the powers that be at the factory level summon us to a meeting, our reaction can most diplomatically be summed up as "mixed." The human body is not so constructed to accept unlimited quantities of air, even though it be pre-warmed.

In this particular case, however, the meeting was scheduled in Detroit, my old stamping grounds, and the opportunity to once again flex my muscles before the admiring glances of the home folks, particularly while riding the factory expense ticket, was too attractive to turn down. Belatedly, I learned the invitation was limited to one only, Mr. Cowan, so I naturally prevailed upon his good nature and hitched a ride.

In sharp contrast to many other soirees of the past, when frustrations at the complete confusion of all arrangements quickly dampened any remaining enthusiasm for the program, this meeting was well-planned and managed in a speedy, efficient manner. Individual Thunderbird Landaus were on the ready for luxurious transportation to the first class Dearborn Inn. This trip promised to be different.

The meeting held the following day at the Ford Rotunda offered some of the aforementioned air, but in thankfully palatable doses, separated by several speakers with professional approaches to extraneous remarks, and a welcome coffee break. It was here we learned of the singular honor we were enjoying being included in the apparent exclusive group of exactly 100 Ford Dealers, from the entire United States.

As most of you good people of Marin already know, we at Ames Ford have not been shy about blowing our own horn. But, here, the top brass of Ford Motor Company was doing a pretty good job of blowing a few notes for us. We were one of 100 Ford Dealers out of 6,500 nationwide, who sold 25% of all Thunderbirds. When one realizes over 78,000 Thunderbirds were sold this year, our personal mark of distinction becomes even more impressive.

An extended tour through the Wixom, Mich., plant, where all Thunderbirds and Continentals are built on the same production line, by the same workers, using obviously equal care and concern for each unit, added to our sense of achievement.

It is of particularly personal gratification that our merchandising policy, avoiding the gimmick and the blatant shouting, had contributed to a sales level for Ames Ford that would be singled out in such dramatic fashion. Other dealers represented there probably used other methods to attain their goal, particularly in the metropolitan areas of Los Angeles, Chicago and New York.

We know, however, our customers are not receptive to the strong pitch, and we are confident Ames Ford will be singled out again, for selling in volume in a non-frantic manner.

Giants Lost Series But Won Fans Throughout World

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The New York Yankees won the World Series, but the vanquished San Francisco Giants won the hearts of baseball fans the world over.

They finally bowed to those mighty Yankees, who are long accustomed to winning, but midnight did not toll for this Cinderella team until it went as far as baseball law allows.

The Giants had the potential winning runs on the bases before the bell finally tolled in the ninth and final inning of a season, the likes of which the sport never has seen.

So the Yankees wound up with most of the gold, and some of the glory, too. The rest of the gold—and most of the glory—went to the battling Giants who finally bowed out on a screaming line drive, which a few inches, one way or another, would have brought San Francisco its first world championship.

But it was not to be—because of Ralph Terry, who up until this year knew nothing but heart-break in world series competition. He made up for all of that, however, when he pitched the Yankees to a 1-0 scintillating triumph which gave the New Yorkers their 20th series victory in 27 tries.

"Well," sighed Giants manager Alvin Dark, "they've always said baseball is a game of inches. That's exactly what it was in that deciding game yesterday.

"We came so close, so close," he kept repeating. "I thought we were going to win it all the time until little Bobby (Richardson) speared that line drive for the final out."

"Richardson sure was in the right spot," said the jubilant Houk, who now has won two American League pennants and two series in his two years at the helm of the Yankees.

"That was the only break of the series. We had Richardson standing just where (Willie) McCovey lined that smoker in the last inning.

"If he hadn't been, the ball game would have been over."

Thus the Yankees won again and the Giants who had been battling from behind all season finally ran out of gas—by those few inches. They didn't though, run out of fans. They won their hearts when they tied the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant and then won in the third and deciding game of the playoff. In that one those never-say-die Giants went into the ninth inning trailing, 4-2. They pulled it out with four runs.

"It didn't occur to me that we wouldn't pull this one out, either," said Dark, "until Bobby caught that McCovey liner. All I can say is that we did our best and it wasn't quite good enough."

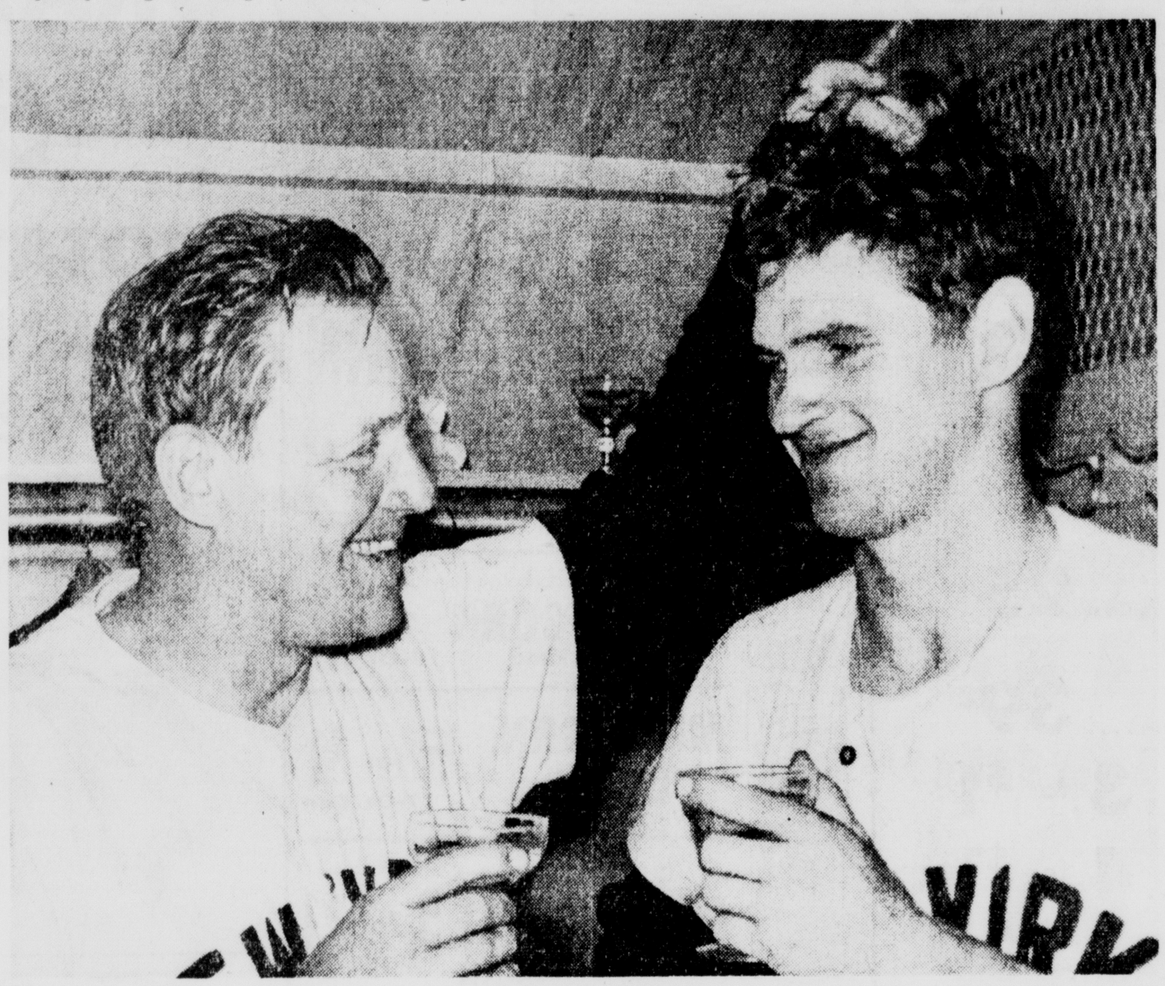
Houk paid tribute to the crestfallen Giants.

"The Giants have a real good ball club," he said. "We were evenly matched. There was just that one break. It went our way. It could have gone their way."

"I can't recall a series in which so few mistakes were made."

What a series it was. It started back on Oct. 4 and took 13 days — matching the longest World Series on record—way back 51 years ago, in 1911.

There had been a day's delay for the start while the Giants beat the Dodgers in the playoff. Then there were four postponements because of rain — one in New York and three here in San Francisco — and there were two days off for travel.



YANKEE JOY — Ralph Houk, New York Yankee manager, a cigar in one hand and a glass of champagne in the other, tousles pitcher Ralph Terry's hair in the Yankee dressing room at Candlestick Park yesterday after Terry hurled the Yanks to a 1-0 shutout over the San Francisco Giants to win the World Series. Yanks Won Series On Great Pitching

The New York Yankees, famed for their slugging heroics from the days of Babe Ruth to Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Co., won the 1962 World Series on pitching — and pitching alone.

While the hitters, for the most part, played dead, the pitchers—all who toiled in the seven-game series with the San Francisco Giants—were magnificent.

So were those of the Giants, who put up a valiant struggle, grudgingly going down to defeat but not until they had the potential tying run on third and the winning run on second with two out in the ninth inning of the seventh game.

The most magnificent pitcher of all was Ralph Terry, who had been living under a cloud ever since he became the "goat" of the 1960 World Series when he threw a series winning home run to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski in the ninth inning of the final game.

Terry, 26, started three games. He pitched strongly in the second, losing 2-0. He pitched as well in the fifth game, winning 5-3. Yesterday, the right-hander was superb, limiting the Giants to four hits and winning 1-0. Jack Sanford, Terry's mound opponent in all three games, was the loser.

"This has to be the best game Terry has ever pitched," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk. "I have never seen him with better control. He didn't walk a single batter and he had three balls on only one hitter. I don't think he made more than three or four bad pitches all day."

Terry, relying mainly on a fast ball and slider, plus nearly perfect control, easily disposed of the first 17 batters he faced. Memories of Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 World Series for the Yankees must have been in the minds of the 43,948 Candlestick Park spectators.

Terry thought of it, too, but his dream was shattered when Sanford lined a single to right center with two out in the sixth inning.

YANKS TAKE LEAD

The Yankees, meanwhile, had taken a 1-0 lead although it took a double play to bring the run home in the fifth inning. Singles by Bill Skowron and Clete Boyer put runners on first and third with none out. Sanford, pitching carefully to Terry, walked the pitcher on four balls, filling the bases.

Sanford almost pitched himself out of the jam. He induced Tony Kubek to bounce into a doubleplay as Skowron crossed the plate, and he retired Bobby Richardson on a foul popup to Orlando Cepeda.

Terry made the run stand up, never permitting the Giants to put two men on base in any inning until the ninth. Pinch hitter Matty Alou beat out a drag bunt, and two outs later Willie Mays lined a double to the right field corner.

BIG RELAY

Quick fielding by Roger Maris and a fine relay from Maris to Richardson to the plate held Alou on third. Willie McCovey's line drive to Richardson ended the game and gave Terry the victory.

The Yankees had a team batting average of .199 and hit only three home runs. The Giants batted .226 with five home runs.

It was the Yankees' 20th championship in 27 World Series since they won their first pennant in 1921. It also marked their fifth World Series triumph over the Giants, who haven't beaten them since 1922.

49ers Ready For Pewerful Green Bay

The San Francisco 49ers are physically ready for Sunday's big battle at Green Bay, according to coach Red Hickey.

He said they got through the Bear game without a scratch and are "in the best physical condition we've known since the season started."

Hickey was not too impressed with news that Packer star Paul Hornung had an injured knee which might prevent or at least limit his playing Sunday.

"Without Hornung, the Packers drop all the way down to Tom Moore and Elijah Pitts," he said caustically. Moore and Pitts are a pair of top-notch backs in their own right. Hickey did add that Hornung's absence would hurt the Packers field goal potential, "but I wouldn't say they were ruined without Hornung."

Hickey was high in praise of defensive halfback Elbert Kimbrough's performance last Sunday against the Bears, but added that the pass secondary would have to tighten up this Sunday at Green Bay.

HUSKIES LEAD IN BIG SIX STATISTICS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Big Six, with a strong 14-5-2 combined football record, released statistics today which showed the Washington Huskies dominating most of the key categories.

The Huskies lead in total offense (308 yards per game), total defense (208), rushing offense (246) and pass defense (73).

Other champions include Southern California in rushing defense (121), and the University of California in pass offense (147).

Terry: 'He Hit Good Pitch'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's a long way to the top of the baseball world.

Ralph Terry, the New York Yankees' right-hander, reached the high point of the road yesterday in Candlestick Park as a line drive off the bat of Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants rocketed into the glove of Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson for the final out in the seventh game of the 1962 World Series.

A foot either way, and . . . but it was not a foot either way, and the Yankees won the game 1-0, and the World Series 4 games to 3.

"He hit a good pitch good," Terry said. "The rest was in somebody else's hands.

"I was lucky."

As he sat in the Yankees' dressing room, he said, "what an ending. What a perfect ending, 1-0. That's how close the two teams were in every respect in this Series."

Then he thought a bit, and added in a soft voice:

"This is a personal triumph. It wipes away two years of worry, two years of doubt."

In 1960, he compiled a 10-8 record, but wound up with a "goat" label when Bill Mazeroski's homer beat the Yankees in the Series.

Working in relief, Terry threw two pitches in the bottom of the ninth inning of the seventh game of that series, and Mazeroski hit the second one for a home run that won the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Terry snapped back from that terrible moment, and went on to win 23 games, high in the league, for the Yankees this season.

But he never forgot it. They wouldn't let him.

"I got an anonymous letter from Pittsburgh only this morning," he said, "reminding me of Mazeroski, and saying I would throw another ball like that today.

"And I could hear people yelling at me in the stands, especially late in the game, about Mazeroski."

Another ninth inning, another seventh game, and Matty Alou dragged a bunt for a single. Terry got Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller on strikeouts. Then Willie Mays doubled.

Up came McCovey.

"I told manager Ralph Houk I'd rather pitch to McCovey than walk him and pitch to Orlando Cepeda," Terry said.

"The first pitch was a curve. He hit it foul. Then I tried to jam him with a pitch in close to the hands. He hit a good pitch good."

Seventh World Series Game Was Loaded With Big 'Ifs'

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One day after the World Series ended and Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants already is looking ahead to 1963.

"I'm as proud as I can be of the Giants, they played great all year," the skipper declared of his crew that wasn't beaten until the final out in the ninth inning of the seventh World Series game. "They played great.

"If a ball club is good enough to win the pennant, I don't see need for any major changes."

Alvin also wouln't use any different strategy if he had yesterday's 1-0 game to replay, explaining, "You'd go crazy if you second guess yourself in baseball."

Yet a matter of a couple feet in two instances meant the difference between victory and defeat in the finale.

In the seventh inning, the Yankees' Tom Tresh just grabbed a Willie Mays liner to left ticketed for a double before Willie McCovey slammed a triple to center. And in the ninth with runners on second and third and two out, McCovey's line drive went right at second baseman Bobby Richardson.

"That's as hard a line drive as a guy can hit," Dark commented in the quiet Giant clubhouse. "You can't hit one harder than that."

McCovey himself, sitting with his chin in his hands, added, "I hit it good but right at him."

The Giants were in agreement that Matty Alou could not have scored in the ninth on Willie Mays' double down the right field line.

"In my opinion, he couldn't have made it," said third base coach Whitey Lockman. "If Roger Maris juggled the ball I would have sent in the runner."

Alou, who reached first on a bunt as a pinch hitter, also said, "I think I would have been out." He died at third with Mays on second.

As the "ifs" were recounted, there was the bunt by Chuck Hiller in the ninth that rolled foul. If it had stayed fair, the Giants would have had Matty Alou on second when Mays doubled. Or if losing pitcher Jack Sanford hadn't walked opposing pitcher Ralph Terry in the fifth, the Yankees might not have had their run. Sanford had struck out Terry six of the seven times he faced him this series, but threw four straight balls this time.

The 24-game winner who had blanked the Yankees in the second series game and been a tremendous competitor all year was unhappiest of the Giants. Asked if he missed with his fast ball to Terry, he snapped, "Certainly that was it. Why do you think I walked him?"

11 Yankees Return To N.Y. Almost Unnoticed

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven members of the Yankees baseball team came home today—happy, tired and practically unnoticed.

There was no welcoming crowd at Idlewild Airport to meet the predawn arrival of the airliner that brought them from San Francisco where they beat the Giants in the world series clincher yesterday.

Pitcher Jim Coates led the players out of the United Airlines jetliner.

"Woo!" he said, blinking. "It's good to be back."

Then, as the players piled around him and he surveyed the long airline terminal corridor, he did a doubletake and said: "What a mob!" He pushed out his arms at the nonexistent throng, adding in mock panic: "Get them off me! Get them off me!"

Completing his act, Coates then inquired plaintively: "Where did everyone go?"

Manager Ralph Houk said: "We didn't really expect a crowd here. They would have to be crazy to come out so early."

Standing by quietly but tired was the star of the series, pitcher Ralph Terry.

Terry remarked that his day of triumph was much different from the windup of the 1960 series with Pittsburgh when his last inning pitch blew up the ball game.

Coates also recalled the 1960 debacle. "That was a nightmare," he said. "I still can't forget it."

Red Conkright Is New Raider Coach

OAKLAND (UPI) — William (Red) Conkright, former University of Oklahoma grid star, took over today as chief mentor for the faltering Oakland Raiders of the American Football League after the team fired head coach Marty Feldman.

Conkright, 46, who played professional ball for nine years, had served as defensive coach under the ousted Feldman since the beginning of this season. Feldman was released yesterday.

Lavorante Remains In Serious Condition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The condition of Alejandro Lavorante, knocked unconscious Sept. 21, remained serious and unchanged today at California Lutheran Hospital.

Lavorante has remained in a coma since he suffered a brain injury in his bout with Jimmy Riggins.

Griffith, Wright In Title Bout?

VIENNA (AP) — Emile Griffith of New York and Teddy Wright of Detroit clash tonight in a 15-round bout for what may or may not be the world junior middleweight championship.

A state of complete confusion surrounds the bout. The promoters have billed it as being for the title with a 154-pound limit. That would make it the division for fat welterweights or scrawny middleweights.

As far as the European Boxing Union and the British Board of Boxing Control are concerned, though, it is strictly a farce. They both refuse to sanction it.

"There is no such title," said BBBC's secretary, Teddy Waltham. "And you just can't stage a fight and make up a title for it."

Likewise, the World Boxing Assn.—the new name of the National Boxing Assn. of the United States—also has refused to recognize it, but for a different reason.

The WBA has sanctioned the Denny Moyer-Joey Giambra bout, scheduled for Saturday in Portland, Ore., as being for the world junior middleweight crown.

THE BIG, BIG PLAY

This is the key play that might have changed the complexion of the seventh and final World Series game between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Yankees in Candlestick Park yesterday. Giant star Willie Mays doubled to the right field corner where the Yankee's Roger Maris fielded it and made a perfect throw to second baseman Bobbie Richardson behind first, who relayed it to catcher Elston Howard. Giant third base coach Whitey Lockman can be seen holding up hands signaling Matty Alou to stop. (AP Wirephoto)

Detroit Will Get Another Chance For Summer Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The city of Detroit will get another opportunity to host Olympic competition when it makes a bid for the 1968 summer games as the United States representative.

Detroit and Lake Placid, N.Y., were selected by the U.S. Olympic Committee yesterday to bid for the 1968 summer and winter games, respectively, at the International Olympic Committee meeting in Nairobi, Kenya, Oct. 13, 1963.

It will be Detroit's fourth effort to get the games. U.S. officials expressed doubt that the Motor City would be successful. Lake Placid, scene of the 1932 winter games, had little hopes of getting the 1968 bid since the United States had the 1960 winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Detroit was selected over Los Angeles, scene of the 1932 games, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Portland. Lake Placid beat out Salt Lake City.

Detroit was chosen by the 37-man board of directors "after a very lengthy, wearing discussion," said K. L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. committee.

At Nairobi, international competition for the games is expected from Lausanne, Vienna, Mexico City and Buenos Aires.

"With the large European bloc and a very strong plea from Lausanne, headquarters of the International Olympic Committee, the United States may have a tough time landing the 1968 games," said Wilson. "However, I think we are in a position to do a better job than any of the international cities which will bid."

Doug Roby of Detroit, vice presidents of the U.S. committee and one of three American members of the international committee, made it clear he used no influence for Detroit.

"We must remember that when we get to Nairobi it is not the American city making the bid; it is the United States," said Roby, "I am sure that the three times Detroit has been passed up was not because of the city but because it was the United States bid. The biggest argument against the United States has been the foreign exchange which makes it expensive for outside countries to send their representatives."

Roby added that there was a tourism lock in Europe and that he didn't think the United States would get the summer games unless there was a change in world conditions.

Lakers Whip Detroit In Opening NBA Tilt

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Los Angeles, unable to give its fans a baseball pennant, had early assurances that Elgin Baylor and Jerry West are ready to repeat with another Western Division title for the Lakers in the National Basketball Assn.

Baylor pumped in 35 points and West added 30 last night as Los Angeles defeated Detroit, 122-106, in the league's season-opener.

In the other half of a doubleheader played in New York, before a crowd of 8,247, the Knicks edged Chicago, 121-119.

Baylor, as if apologizing for playing only two-thirds of last season because of his army status, connected on 15 of 37 field goal attempts and added five more points from the free throw line.

Detroit came close at 73-68 early in the third quarter, but the Baylor-West combo went on a nine-point tear in the next minute and a half to widen the Laker lead and put the game out of danger for Los Angeles. Ray Scott of Detroit was the outstanding scorer in the contest with 37 points.

The Knicks had to hold off a determined Zephyr rally in the remaining three minutes that saw a New York lead dwindle from 10 points to 1 with time running out. Richie Guerin, New York's high scorer with 30 points, sank a foul shot after the buzzer sounded for the two-point Knick edge.

Walt Bellamy of Chicago was the night's high scorer with 43 points, garnered on 16 field goals and 11 foul shots.

Gene Conley, Boston Red Sox pitcher and erstwhile Boston Celtic, chipped in with 12 points for New York.

Vancouver Whips Seal Hockey Men

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) — The Vancouver Canucks came from behind in the final period to beat the San Francisco Seals 3-2 at the Forum last night.

The husky Seals made most of the play in the first two periods, but couldn't keep up with the fast-skating Canucks in the final stanza.

Rookie goalie Gilles Villemure again was sensational in the Vancouver net. He shut out the opposition in the club's first two games.

Micholson got in the first for San Francisco at 14:15 of the first period. Len Haley put San Francisco two goals in front when he scored at 1:03 of the 2nd period.

Phil Maloney got Vancouver's first marker two minutes later.

The home town club came out fast in the final period and George Ford tied the score at 21 seconds.

Howie Hughes, picked as the star of the game, got the winning goal at 4:13 on a fast Canuck three-man break.

Vancouver wound up the league's only unbeaten club after Los Angeles Angels bumped Calgary, 4-2.

Ontario Open To Begin Tomorrow

A pro-amateur round was on tap today at the Whispering Lakes Golf Club, with the 72-hole tournament set to get under way tomorrow.

Many of the players who competed last week in the Bakersfield open have left the tour, including the Bakersfield winner, Billy Casper Jr.

Gene Littler, Tony Lema, who was runner-up to Casper; Bob Goalby and Billy Maxwell were some of the better known pros scheduled to play here.

HEART AID HURTS NAVIGATION

Patient Stays Out Of Air For Planes' Protection!

GLENDALE (UPI)—Doctors want Florence Steven, 65, a heart patient, to stay out of airplanes.

But not to protect her—to protect them.

Her heart is aided by an electronic timer embedded in her chest.

Experts say its signal could interfere with a plane's navigational equipment.

Before the timer was installed she was suffering from fainting spells—in one 24-hour period she fainted 25 times.

Physicians found her trouble: A defect in the timing function in her heart. A tiny, battery-powered device designed by doctors at Glendale Sanitarium and engineers at General Electric Co. was placed in her chest in an operation at the sanitarium.

The battery which powers the timer is in her abdomen, placed between fatty tissues. Mrs. Steven, thanks to the miniaturized device, can now control the rate of her heartbeat.

She has a control unit which she holds over the part of her stomach where the battery lies.

The control's knob regulates her pulse from 70 to 120 beats a minute—according to the activity in which she is taking part.

Bomb Report On Airliner No Joke When Offender Goes Before Judge

By PETER HAYES

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"I'm a great kidder," said the truck farmer from Washington state.

"It just came out spontaneously. It was asinine," said the young corporation executive.

And, "I was just joking. I wasn't even talking to the stewardess," said the California state legislator.

All of these remarks have one thing in common, they are the anguished cries of solid citizens who have just been informed that they are under arrest and face the possibility of a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

In their eyes, they had made a very small joke. In the eyes of the government they had made a false report.

Such a "joke" involves airline passengers and goes something like this:

Stewardess: "Sir, may I place your brief case in the overhead rack?"

Gentleman: "Thank you. But be careful, there's a bomb in it."

The stewardess promptly informs the pilot who notifies federal authorities who come and remove the gentleman from the plane. If the U.S. commissioner is handy, the passenger is promptly arraigned and freed on bail. If the commissioner is not around, he spends the night in jail.

With variations, this scene has been repeated at least nine times in Northern California this year. Nor is it confined to this region. The Department of Justice said that so far this year there have been an estimated 350 to 375 bomb hoaxes in the nation.

A United Air Lines spokesman said the pattern of airline bomb hoaxes has changed in recent years. Formerly, it was the crank or mischievous teenager who would telephone the airline office and warn that a bomb was aboard a plane.

Today it's the "witty" air passenger who's causing the trouble, he said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frederick Woelflin lives on the San Francisco Peninsula and as a result is frequently called on to handle these cases at San Francisco International Airport. He said the government is absolutely without a sense of humor in such matters.

"We have strict orders from the Department of Justice to initiate criminal proceedings in these violations," he said. "No questions are asked."

Actual cases of airliners that have crashed as the result of bomb explosions make a tough policy mandatory, Woelflin said.

So far, the stiffest sentence here has gone to a young Los Angeles real estate man. He received three months in jail because he told a TWA stewardess that two boxes he was carrying contained a bomb and a mechanical lady.

A check showed that the contents were a bouquet of flowers and some Nevada real estate material.

The California assemblyman escaped with a two-month suspended sentence, $500 fine and six months probation for remarking within earshot of a stewardess that he was carrying a revolver and nitro-glycerine.

The district attorney who prosecuted the legislator remarked, "I find no exception in the statute for comedians."

But there are indications of increasing judicial reluctance to throw the book at such violators.

In recent weeks U.S. District Judges Alfonso J. Zirpoli and Oliver J. Carter acquitted defendants. Zirpoli said a corporation purchasing agent did not make a meaningful statement when he told a stewardess he wanted "to take the atomic bomb out of my pocket" before she hung up his coat.

And Judge Carter commented in acquitting a marine engineer: "Congress did not intend every stupid statement to be a crime, otherwise a lot of us would be in jail."

What's the solution?

Woelflin said it might help if airlines posted conspicuous signs in terminals warning passengers of the consequences of false bomb reports.

A newspaper editorialized that a similar warning could be attached to each airline ticket.

"Education ought to head off these 'crimes,' which leave everyone involved feeling foolish," the paper said.

Wireless Assn. Meeting Nov. 3

An electronics expert credited with being the man who built the transmitter used to make the first radio contact between Hawaii and the mainland will speak to the Northern California Chapter of the Quarter Century Wireless Assn. Nov. 3 at Sabella's of Marin.

After an 8 p.m. dinner, Ralph M. Heintz of Los Gatos, a retired electronics businessman, will speak to the group. Heintz is credited with building the first high frequency radio gear for the Signal Corps in 1923 and the radio apparatus for the first Byrd expedition to the Antarctic.

The dinner will be preceded by a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. Members have held amateur radio licenses for a quarter century or more.

Stolen Car Found, But Keys Missing

Dr. I. Igdaloff, who reported to Sausalito police at 8:20 p.m. Monday that his 1961 Austin sedan had been stolen from in front of his home at 148 Harrison Avenue, reported at 8:40 a.m. yesterday he found his car one half block from where it had disappeared.

Missing from the car, said Igdaloff, were his house, office and car keys, which he said he had left in the ignition.

Agriculture Wage Reports Are Due

Charles J. Brady, auditor for the State Department of Employment in Marin County, today reminded employers of agricultural workers that wage reports and disability insurance deductions for the third quarter of 1962 must be sent to Sacramento by Oct. 31.

Any employer of agricultural labor who pays more than $100 in wages during a calendar year must deduct one per cent from his workers' wages and send it to Sacramento along with a report of total wages paid.

Forms are available at the department's audit office at 807 E Street, San Rafael.

Mill Valley Plans For Halloween

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners Monday night appointed Ray Bell as chairman in charge of the city's Halloween celebration. The event will be for youngsters of elementary school age and will include a parade, prizes and refreshments.

The commission completed work on the new parks and recreation ordinance and forwarded it to the city council, recommending approval.

Ronald Samet of Corte Madera told commissioners he has plans to go abroad in 1963 and, therefore, plans to resign as city recreation director effective next June.

Word Is Out Zelinsky Negotiating With Purity, Safeway For Store

Word is out that Fred Zelinsky is negotiating with both Purity and Safeway for a large store on his property opposite the Boardwalk on the Tiburon peninsula. Zelinsky owns about 11 acres at that point. A large market here would round out the Boardwalk shopping facilities and both firms appear to be aware of the potential.

Reason seems to be the increase of apartments in that area which show signs of going on and on.

Multiple housing starts all over the county have increased phenomenally over last year—notably those projects with five or more living units. Comparative figures in this category for the first six months of this year over the same period in 1961 showed a gain of 196 per cent.

WHAT USED TO BE Gay Pet Shop at 508 Fourth Street, San Rafael, became "Fur, Fins and Feathers" on Oct. 1.

Jules and Ann Gall who took over the store last July have done quite a bit of redecorating. Centerpiece is a large oak tree from which birdcages are suspended. Front window will feature pools and fountains. "Everything to make both the customers and livestock feel restful," says Gall.

This is the couple's first retail venture. He was previously with Fireman's Fund; she was with the California Department of Employment.

DOUGLAS J. COWAN, president, and Lou Concilio, manager, represented Ames Ford Sales, one of 100 dealers invited to inspect Ford's Thunderbird plant and production line at Wixon, Mich. last week.

Ford sold 78,000 Thunderbirds in the 1962 run; the 100 dealers (out of 6,500) sold 25 per cent of them. More than half of them were from California. During the first 10 days of October, 1963, Thunderbird sales averaged 338 units a day.

SAM GAZZANO and Frank George of Redwood Travel Advisors, San Rafael, and their wives will attend the national convention of the American Society of Travel Agents in Las Vegas next week. They'll stop to investigate resorts in the Palm Springs area on the way home.

STARTING SUNDAY, the balance of October has been set aside for the observance of National Thrift Week.

Mrs. Esther M. Dearth, executive vice president of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., notes that only through the process of individual thrift can a free nation acquire its capital to create more jobs and advance its technology.

For the first time the United States is participating with other free countries of the world in observance of International Thrift Day, Oct. 31. This annual promotion is advanced by the International Thrift Institute of Amsterdam, Holland.

MAX MARTIN of San Anselmo will head a joint campaign for traffic safety by civic, business and religious groups Nov. 17 to Jan. 1. He also represents the California Assn. of Insurance Agents.

"With the best highways to drive on," Martin said, "safety is the job of the driver."

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Austin, was given in marriage by her father for the Sept. 29 rite, and she donned a full length white sheath gown of mirror mist taffeta with bouffant overskirt.

Her cousin, Carol Austin of Skokie was maid of honor. Her dress was a gold taffeta sheath with overskirt. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. E. Austin Jr. of Elk Grove Village, Ill. was the bridesmaid, also wearing a gold taffeta sheath dress.

The bride's brother, William J. Austin of Skokie was best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McKinnon of San Anselmo and the brother of Mrs. Gerald Shipley of San Rafael.

MORE IDEALISTIC

Cool Generation Does Care, Says Tamalpais Principal

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Tamalpais High School Principal Robert Prather in sketching a profile of the "Cool Generation" at the Awareness Group meeting Monday in Mill Valley used the term not in its jive sense but to describe the adolescent's non-committal attitude today.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting in the home of Mrs. Edmond Gross, Prather said that adults misinterpret the teen-ager's "coolness" as "not earing."

The truth is, he said, that "They want to benefit society and work toward a good life, but wouldn't say it because it would expose their emotions. They are much more idealistic than we give them credit for."

THE SPEAKER made it clear that he was referring to the "good kids—those who make up the greater percentage of high school students—and not the two or three per cent of delinquents that have established the image of the generation."

Continuing his sketch of one of these "elite youths," Prather asked, "Where is this kid today? In danger of being swallowed up by adults who are trying to make him into a precocious organization man and transform him from a critic of our society into a kind of apprentice adult."

LATER in his talk Prather said he would favor creation of a Hyde-Park-like setup where kids could speak whatever is on their minds from soap boxes.

On the other hand, he went on, some people treat him too much like a baby by not recognizing his capacity for responsibility. The real situation, he pointed out, is that he is balancing between the two—in some ways an adult in his ability to do such things as earn money, and in others a child, as in his personal habits.

"It's not a neat age," he declared. "He is like a traveler who has left one place but not yet reached the next place."

OTHER DIFFICULTIES the "cool generation" kids face have to do with the faster pace of life now-a-days and many sources of confusion, Prather said.

"Who knows what is happening?" he asked. "The only thing we know is that in 10 years it is going to be entirely different. The gadget hasn't been invented yet that your sons will be manufacturing." Some parents today, he implied, wouldn't know what modern mathematics are all about.

Furthermore, adults give this "cool generation" kid a confusing picture of what to follow. Here the speaker mentioned the negative influence of such people as Billy Sol Estes in high finance, the Mississippi governor's defiance of the law of the land, and a heavyweight champion with a criminal record.

ROBERT PRATHER

IN SUBURBIA it is difficult to give him a good image to work for, he said. Should it be beating dad on the golf course or what? And what is the use of worrying about anything anyway when the prospect is nuclear destruction, he figures.

These kids don't want to be enthusiastic about anything because they are not sure of anything, Prather stressed.

"This generation seems to be walking on eggs more than any other generation in this century," he said, but went on to explain that this "delayed reflex might be of great benefit in the nuclear age when an overly enthusiastic person might press one button and end civilization."

These kids' lives are likely to be full of Berlins and Cubas, he said, and this might be an attribute for survival.

PRATHER also mentioned the confusion caused by the draft hanging over the heads of boys like a dark cloud.

The speaker maintained that many adults are actually scared of teenagers with their loud talking and spontaneous, uncontrolled actions. "This may be involved with their fear of aging," he suggested, "and envy of the good looks and intelligence wasted on youngsters."

The Tamalpais High School Principal then named ways in which adults can help the "cool generation" kid.

"He has to be competent in some field," he emphasized, "but the trouble is this may not be in the field you have chosen for him. Go along with it, and help him to be competent in some field, even if it is only tearing down an old car and putting it back together correctly.

"AND GIVE him a better public image," was his plea, as well as better models to follow. At present the three per cent of delinquent youth has set the image of the whole group.

Finally Prather said the youngsters need work, and it is hard to find jobs for teenagers and they can't be what the kids call "Mickey Mouse" jobs.

Girvan Pecks Hosting Party Before Lagunitas Club Dance

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Mr. and Mrs. Girvan Peck are entertaining at a cocktail party at their home on Hotaling Court, Kentfield before the dinner dance at the Lagunitas Country Club Saturday night. Because of the World Series excitement, responses to the invitations have been slow coming in both for the dinner dance and Girvan and Sheila's party. However the Pecks are expecting about 50 friends. When I talked with Mrs. C. Howard (Anne) Allen, the club's entertainment chairman yesterday, she was so excited as she and Howdy were leaving to see the last game of the series.

THE GEORGE SCHIRMERS of Kent Woodlands have had an exciting week. Saturday night they gave a dinner honing Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Garrett of Fairhills, San Rafael who have just returned from Europe. George and Lorraine had as their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruff of Delano, Calif., who arrived Sunday and left today. George and Lorraine have been attending the San Francisco Opera regularly and like many of us, watched the World Series on TV. One of my staff, Barbara Hosmer, was mighty lucky. Her father Dr. Matthew Hosmer of San Rafael had tickets for the series so she saw the game at Candlestick Monday when the Giants tied the Yanks.

THE RICHARD NEWELLS have returned to their Kent Woodlands home after two weeks in Mexico. The first week they were in Mexico City and sightseeing nearby. The next week they relaxed at Puerto Vallarta and Acapulco. By the way, Mrs. Newell's brother, Peter Knowles, and his wife have taken an apartment on Paradise Drive in Tiburon. They were married recently.

THE CHAMPAGNE preview of the annual Art Exhibit and Auction, sponsored recently by the Belvedere-Tiburon Democratic Club, brought attendants from all parts of the county and there were several dinners before it. Dr. Albertine Nash, who was in charge of hors d'oeuvres at the preview, dined at the Dock with Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Field, who recently moved from Tiburon to Woodside.

Judge Richard Sims was at the preview without his wife Dale, as she was celebrating with their son, Robert, on his seventh birthday. The two went to San Francisco to the opera. Mrs. Sims recently gave a party for her daughter, Elizabeth, who was cerebrating her eleventh birthday. Elizabeth and her friends went horseback riding in Novato and returned to the Sims' home in Rolling Hills, Tiburon for a slumber party. Celebrating with Elizabeth were Gail McDonogh and Lana Kinser of Tiburon, Mary Hoefer of Belvedere, Sandra Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Donnell of Sonoma, and Judy Leahy of Los Altos, formerly of Belvedere.

Mrs. Duane Beeson of Tiburon was general chairman of the art exhibit and auction and Mrs. John Newell was hospitality chairman. Mrs. Seymour Whitelaw attended with Miss Anne Ellinwood, who was in charge of ticket sales. Over from Mill Valley came Mr. and Mrs. Peter Behr.

THE Ted Steigers of Tiburon with their children, Betsy and Billy, flew to Southern California recently for a weekend and went to Disney Land and stayed at Disney Land Hotel. The Steigers also visited Ann Steiger's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Amdal of Woodland Hills.

MAJOR and Mrs. Leaman C. Harvey have bought a home in Strawberry. They have moved there with their daughter, Nancy Lee. Major Leaman retired from the Army last May.

AT THE home of Mrs. Ralph Alden in Ross a group met for a coffee hour and to write 150 cards to Northgate members for Harvey which will be presented at the Barn at Marin Art and Garden Center. The center is sponsoring the opening performance of Harvey Oct. 25. The play is presented by Ross Valley Players. Elly (Mrs. Arthur W.) Fiedler wrote me that just about all of the board members of the center will attend the gala opening except Mrs. Russell G. Smith, who will be in Hong Kong. Sending out tickets were Elly, Lillian Alden, Mary (Mrs. John E.) Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Batie (Norman O.) Schwien. Elly said that the group was so excited watching TV—the Giants and Yanks game, she wondered how many Northgate members were invited to attend the World Series instead of Harvey. She wrote also that Alton Raible of the Marin Society of Artists drew the wonderfully relaxed rabbit on the tickets for the opening night.

SEW SIMPLE

Garments Should Be Fitted With The Right Side Out

By EUNICE FARMER

"I always fit my dresses by turning them inside out and haven't had too much trouble. Now my neighbor is learning to sew and she was told to fit the dress right side out. Which of us is right—and how can I mark the side seams if she is right?"—Mrs. C. G.

Dear Mrs. C. G.:

A dress, or any garment for that matter, should be fitted with the right side out. If there is any variation in one side of your body from the other, you would be fitting the opposite side by trying it on wrong side out.

Place your pins in a vertical position, with the raw edges of both seams extending. This makes it easier to get a smooth fit if you must fit yourself. After you are satisfied with the way it fits, spread the seam and rub a piece of marking chalk against the pin. When you take the garment off, you will notice the marks will show up on the wrong side of your fabric, just right for machine stitching.

Mrs. E.M. says, "Sewing stiff fabrics becomes easier if you stick your needle in a bar of soap occasionally. The soap lubricates the needle and makes the going smoother."

"I want to make my son some wool shirts this winter and I would like to be able to wash them. If the material is marked pre-shrunk, does this mean washable?"—Mrs. N.R.E.

Dear Mrs. N.R.E.:

Fabric marked pre-shrunk often does not mean that you can safely wash it without shrinkage. I would suggest you wet the wool thoroughly, allow to dry and then cut your shirts.

Special care must be used in washing any wool garment. Use cool water, soak instead of rubbing, and use a good cold-water soap. Squeeze excess water out by wrapping the material in a towel, and dry it at room temperature. Usually, pressing with a steam iron is sufficient.

Tailor Trix Award Winner:—"A perfect way to use little girls' torn, worn, or too small "leo-tights" (all-in-one panties with long stockings and feet) is to cut the leo-tights about 3 inches shorter than her skirts. Machine stitch a ½-inch hem, stretching as you sew to allow extra width for the leg. Add lace edging and a couple of bows and you will have the cutest pair of "petti-pants" you have ever wanted. Your girls will prefer wearing these to slips. The feet can be used, too, with house slippers—or just to lounge around the house."

This tailor trix award winning idea of the week was submitted by Mrs. Betty Swatba, Cleveland, O.

"I am trying to let down the hems in my children's clothes and can't remember what you said about getting the crease marks out. I'm sure that many mothers are faced with this problem at this time of year and would also like to know."—Mrs. R.D.

Dear Mrs. R.D.:

Crease marks in cottons and woolens usually can be eliminated by carefully rubbing the crease with white vinegar or carbonated water before pressing. If the crease has been pressed in very deeply, it will be almost impossible to remove. Often the hemline actually has been worn or faded, and of course this can't be removed.

Please do not send technical information to Sew Simple for the tailor trix award. Instead, please send any creative ideas, sewing short cuts, etc. In case of duplicate ideas, the one with the earliest post mark will be used.

Surprise Drill Tests Best, Fire Chiefs Say

NEW YORK (UPI)—Why "fire drills" in schools engineered to be fireproof, fire resistant and seemingly indestructible?

And what is a "fire drill" anyway? Is it really necessary?

The International Assn. of Fire Chiefs reports that there are 12 major school fires a day on the average across the nation — including some in fireproof buildings.

The association said the best guard against fire occurring in a particular school involves sticking to a planned program of fire prevention activities.

Step two of the program includes frequent, well planned and intelligently coordinated fire drills.

Younger children, exposed to fire drills perhaps for the first time in their lives, require conditioning, not only to fire drill procedure but to the psychology of the drill itself.

The association suggested that drills be started during the early days of the school term and performed in an unhurried way so that all of the details can be explained to students.

The drills, to be most effective, occur the surprise way.

Couples Dance Lessons Slated

Friday evening at the Adaline Kent School, George and Doris Clifford will be conducting a series of lessons in ballroom dancing.

The "New Student" class begins at 8 p.m. and the intermediate and advanced class at 9 p.m.

Within the six week course the Cliffords plan to teach the latest steps and techniques of the samba, rhumba, fox trot, tango, swing, waltz, cha cha and the twist.

The class is open to couples only. Couples interested in attending may contact Mrs. Mervyn Dowd, dance committee chairman.

Mill Valley Girls Ballet Semifinalists

Two Mill Valley girls were among the 30 semi-finalists chosen from the 500 who tried out for the Bolshoi's new "ballet school."

It is to be seen in three performances during the Bolshoi Ballet's engagement starting tomorrow at the Fox Theater in San Francisco.

The girls were Billie Jean McCallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCallum, and Diana Hoagland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hoagland.

Both girls are students at the Dick Ford Dance Studio in Mill Valley.

New Button Aid

Did you know that the span between holes of a button is always the same regardless of the button's size? Working on this principal, one firm has come out with a new button-sew-on aid that fits practically all domestic and imported straight stitch sewing machines. There is no adjusting to do and the stitching automatically stops when the button is firmly attached.

Sororities, Fraternities Seem To Satisfy An Emotional Need

"I have a son and daughter in college," a father writes. "My boy wants to join a fraternity, my girl a sorority. I have my doubts about the organizations. Will you help me? Should I let them join?"

I'm glad to try to help. There are arguments both for and against membership in campus secret societies. One unpleasant fact is that the organizations are undemocratic. Kids are asked to join on the basis of whims and prejudices, not merit. Many of the students who aren't invited are deeply hurt. Fraternities and sororities are expensive. Often, they do foolish things — initiation stunts are goofy, and sometimes dangerous. Parties may become brawls. Certain groups earn reputations for immorality. Many college presidents have tried to abolish fraternities and sororities, and failed. In spite of their flaws, the organizations flourish.

The good thing about them is that they satisfy a basic human need. Experts tell us the need goes back 200,000 years or more. Our distant ancestors lived in a cruel, deadly, hostile world. They depended on their little tribal groups for survival. If they strayed out alone they died quickly. You "belonged," or you were killed. These conditions lasted long enough to create an instinctive need for close group existence.

We all have the need. We enjoy merging ourselves loyally into an organization. We need the support of "brothers" or "sisters." We get a kick out of secret rituals. These needs seem strongest in the teens and early twenties, the college years. It seems obvious to me that fraternity and sorority members obtain genuine emotional benefits.

I suggest you let your son and daughter join. Check the costs. Your kids can earn part of the extra expense, or all of it. Make sure they join reliable outfits, not wild ones.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "How can a parent learn about the reputations of certain fraternities or sororities?" Mrs. C. H.

(A) One way is to check with the college dean of activities. Another is to ask members of competing fraternities. If there is any dirt they'll be glad to spill it.

New Brining Process Now Demonstrated

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new packing process that makes frozen fish and seafood look, cook and taste like fresh can also be applied to frozen meat, says the firm that developed the process.

A spokesman for the packer, Gorton's of Gloucester, Mass., said the "brining" process retains valuable nutrients that ordinarily are lost when frozen fish loses liquid during defrosting. This "drip loss" runs as high as 20 per cent of the weight of the fish, he added.

At a demonstration lunch here, fish fillets frozen by the new process had, after defrosting, the glossy appearance and firm consistency of fresh fillets. Flavor was unimpaired, and "drip loss" measured a scant spoonful.

New York, N. Y. — It's a medical fact that pain from a tension headache can make people so irritable and highstrung they lose control of their tempers and take it out on those around them.

That is, a combination of ingredients. Anacin goes to work instantly to relieve the pain and its tension and irritability. Synthetic Combinations Are Manufacturers Problem

Like "ham and eggs" and "bread and butter," some combinations are just naturals. But then there are the duets that seem to go together — until they're put to the test. Textile manufacturers are finding that some of the synthetic and natural fibers they combine into one fabric just don't turn out to be problem-free materials.

Technicians in the laboratories of American Institute of Laundering point in particular to a fabric which combines nylon and cotton.

The fabric closely resembles material made of 100 per cent cotton, though it ordinarily has a more silky, shiny appearance. Because it easily can be confused with cotton, quite often the same care is given to the nylon-cotton fabric that would be given to 100 per cent cotton.

But nylon cannot withstand the normally high temperatures of home ironing. Being a thermoplastic material, it will melt when it comes in contact with an iron set at a cotton-linen setting. To avoid damage, professional laundries treat the nylon-cotton fabric as though it were made entirely of nylon. Nylon will melt at a temperature of about 480 degrees. Professional laundry presses are generally maintained at a 337 degree setting.

When damaged by heat, this fabric appears to have suffered multiple cuts by a sharp instrument. This occurs because only the nylon yarns have been damaged. The cotton yarns are not affected by these ironing temperatures and remain intact and in satisfactory condition.

Manufacturers sometimes include the fiber content on their garment labels. These serve as a guide for the care that should be given to the particular item. Technicians suggest that the label be left on a garment so that it can easily be identified by the laundryman and given proper care.

TERRIBLE TRIO TOGETHER

Actors Vincent Price, Peter Lorre and Boris Karloff, the terror triumvirate in a chiller freely adapted from Poe's "The Raven," take time off from their movie chores for a bit of relaxation on the set in Hollywood. They're toasting marshmallows over a studio-provided bed of coals. The terrible trio is appearing together for the first time in a film. (AP Wirephoto)

14 Counties Hold Key To Nov. 6 Contest Between Brown, Nixon

By JAMES ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Fourteen counties hold the key to the Nov. 6 election contest between Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his Republican challenger, Richard M. Nixon.

The 14 counties boast almost 85 per cent of the statewide total of 7,531,211 registered voters. Yet, comparing the 1958 gubernatorial contest between Brown and William F. Knowland with the 1960 presidential race between Nixon and John F. Kennedy, they switched radically from Democrat to Republican.

Which way they go on Nov. 6 is the big question.

The 14 counties involved are Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Kern, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

Four years ago, when Brown swept into office by 1,029,165 votes over Knowland, the Democratic governor carried 13 of the 14 counties. The only one he lost was Orange County by a margin of 13,365.

In 1958, Brown piled up a margin of 852,323 votes over Knowland in the state's 14 most heavily populated counties.

Yet, only two years later when John F. Kennedy and Nixon clashed for the presidency, Nixon edged out Kennedy in the same 14 counties by 6,597 votes.

The biggest battleground in the current campaign, of course, is Los Angeles County which has 40 per cent of the registered voters. Four years ago, Brown piled up a 344,797 plurality over Knowland in Los Angeles. But Nixon lost the county to Kennedy by a bare 21,157 votes in 1960.

San Diego is another example of an extreme switch between 1958 and 1960.

In the 1958 gubernatorial campaign, Brown took San Diego by 10,191 votes. Yet Nixon easily swamped Kennedy in the same county by 51,797 votes.

Even San Francisco, a traditionally Democratic stronghold, showed a sharp change in the last two general elections.

In 1958, the 57-year-old governor who was born in San Francisco, carried his home county by 128,983 votes. Two years later, Kennedy won over Nixon in the same county by only 54,733.

Alameda County was another which gave Brown a heavy vote in his last campaign but was much more friendly toward Nixon in 1960. In the Brown-Knowland campaign, Brown won by 104,733 votes in Alameda. Two years later, Kennedy's edge over Nixon was cut to 33,818.

Nixon's strongest county two years ago was Orange.

In the presidential contest which finally saw Nixon edge Kennedy in California by 35,623 votes, Nixon won in traditionally Republican Orange County by 62,834 votes. Brown lost the same county in 1958 by only 13,365 votes.

In three of the major farm counties — Fresno, Kern and San Joaquin — Brown was a big winner four years ago with a plurality of 79,120. Two years later, Kennedy carried the same three counties by only 7,294 votes over Nixon.

For whatever it means come Nov. 6, while Brown swept 13 out of 14 of the big counties in 1958, Nixon won eight of the 14 in 1960.

DR. EDMUND C. GAULDEN
Hospital Education Chief

Education Job Goes To Marin Doctor

Dr. Edmund C. Gaulden of 260 Canal Street, San Rafael, has been named supervisor of medical education at Herrick Memorial Hospital in Berkeley.

He will be in charge of the hospital's internship program, which includes 18 men and women this year.

Dr. Gaulden will also be chief of electrocardiography.

Prior to his appointment, he was in charge of clinical research for J. B. Roerig and Co. division of Pfizer and Co. in San Francisco.

He is a former instructor at medical schools of University of Oregon and Yale University.

State Tax For Boats Protested

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Cities, counties and boat owners voiced opposition at a hearing yesterday on a proposal that the state tax boats as it does automobiles.

The so-called in-lieu assessment would replace the present personal property tax levied by counties on boats. It would amount to 2 per cent annually on the market value of the vessels.

The proposal, which would affect 275,000 California boat owners, is embodied in Assembly Bill 998. A State Senate revenue and taxation fact-finding committee conducted a hearing on the measure at the State Building.

Opponents said the proposal is unconstitutional and illogical.

R. D. Sweeney, counsel for the Southern California Marine Assn., Inc., said automobile owners should be taxed for the use of highways but that the state has spent no money for the use of waterways.

"Boat owners feel they are being singled out as victims of an excessive and inequitable taxation," he told the committee.

"There arises also a question as to whether the state legally can impose a use tax upon boats on its navigable waters. In our opinion, such a tax is probably illegal and could be imposed only by the federal government."

He said the California constitution does not permit such taxation on pleasure vessels.

Commodore Win Unger of the Cabrillo Beach Yacht Club, who said he represented 54 yachting organizations, supported Sweeney's arguments.

Mayor Charles Hart of Newport Beach presented an 11-point bill of particulars against the proposal. He said its adoption would deprive Orange County of $800,000 annually in property taxes on boats.

Opposition came also from the City Council of Costa Mesa, the City of San Diego, the Delta Yacht Club of Stockton and the City Council of Newport Beach.

Two Fined For Drunken Driving

Two men were fined in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Joseph G. Wilson Monday for drunken driving.

Hal Edward Reece, 29, of San Francisco must pay $193 fine and remain on six months probation. Reece was arrested on Bridgeway in Sausalito on Oct. 5.

Paul Butterfield Naden, 37, of Oakland drew $110 fine and six months probation. He was driving while intoxicated along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard last Feb. 26.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

A Reformed Smoker Tells Of How He Was Able To Stop

"I am a former cigarette smoker," writes K. G. K. "and agree with your recent statement that the way to stop is to stop. The mental process of stopping was important in my case. To say to my self I never again would smoke was impossible but I could say (and did) I would not smoke before breakfast. Later, I decided to stretch the time to 10 a.m., and then until noon.

VAN DELLEN

"AFTER ENDING one day without smoking, it was just a little easier the second day. In a week the desire was considerably minimized. After almost two years without smoking, I feel sorry for people who are addicted to the habit. Incidentally, one of the things I enjoy most about not smoking is the freedom from wondering if the partially filled pack of cigarettes in my pocket will be enough to see me through the evening."

Each person must work out his own method of freeing himself from the habit. This lawyer found the right one for him. The last sentence in the above letter makes an especially good point.

A 71-YEAR-OLD Brooklynite reads four newspapers and maintains this is the best way to keep young mentally and physically. He writes:

"I am totally deaf, practically blind in the right eye, wear a truss because of a hernia, have occasional attacks of lumbago, suffer from sinus trouble, and have a circulatory impediment in the right leg. I also am an arrested case of tuberculosis for which I attend the health clinic every two months. Despite these ailments, my mind is so occupied with reading about what's going on in this world, I have no time to worry about my ailments."

When the mind is occupied, the individual is less likely to dwell on his own problems. A great editor had this in mind when he sent his daily paper without cost to the patients in a large Chicago hospital.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ANGER AND ANGINA

W. M. writes: After reading your article on attacks of angina after getting angry, I would like to clarify a point. Can a person who does not have hardening of the coronary arteries be affected in this way? In other words, could a normal heart react to anger with anginal pain or a heart attack?

REPLY

No, but the blood pressure is likely to go up and the pulse to quicken. You take a lot for granted when you assume that the individual does not have hardened coronary arteries. Studies on young men killed in accidents show that the majority have traces of arteriosclerosis and there is no test, to my knowledge, to determine whether the arteries are soft.

NIGHT BLIND BABY

J. H. writes: Is there any help for a boy born with night blindness?

REPLY

I doubt if the condition can be treated but nowadays night blindness is not a serious handicap, thanks to Thomas Edison. Vitamin A should be tried, however, on the outside chance that malnourishment played a role.

REDUCING PILLS

L. J. writes: I have known three persons who took some kind of pill to reduce and still eat all they want. They would not divulge the secret to me. Can you tell me what these pills are?

REPLY

No. If these pills do all this, I would be suspicious of their safety.

CAP AND BALDNESS

H. G. writes: I wear a cap all day long on the job. Will this protect me from baldness or cause baldness.

REPLY

Not if you refer to inherited male baldness. The only way to prevent this type of hair loss is to get another set of grandparents.

There's Less Spending Money Around Now

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the first time in months, Americans as a whole don't have more spending money in their pockets than they had four weeks before.

This steadily increasing personal income total had been a comforting mainstay of an economy that had faltered a bit in other departments.

The leveling off in spending money may help explain why retail sales also dipped unexpectedly. And it ties in with failure of employment to rise as hoped in many manufacturing industries.

The Commerce Department reports that personal income of individual Americans in September didn't rise above the August level.

This is the first time in eight months it hadn't risen. In fact, in the 19 months since the bottom of the last recession personal income had climbed each month except July 1961 and January 1962, when it dipped to the temporary alarm of chart watchers.

The September leveling off of personal incomes may be just as temporary. And the annual rate of 443 billion dollars is still at a record high.

Many economists expect renewed increases this month and next, along with a pickup in retail trade, and perhaps better performance by some of the basic industries.

None minimizes the importance of personal income totals in bolstering if not boosting, the economy. This is true both in its current performance and in making the right climate for future growth.

The September faltering in personal incomes was laid to a drop in wage and salary payments, especially in manufacturing.

Even government payrolls slipped, though increases in this field usually go on year in and year out.

Offsetting the wage and salary drop was an equal rise in income from dividends, interest payments and government benefit checks.

The manufacturing payroll drop came despite longer work weeks in a number of industries.

Like most government statistics, the report on personal incomes is put forth as the best possible guess and reflects the seasonal changes in the general economy picture.

Seat Belt Sales Set By Novato Jr. Chamber

Measles Increase Around County

A seasonal increase in measles in Marin during the next few weeks was predicted today by the county health department.

Twenty-four cases of measles, all in San Rafael, were reported last week to the department. Only three cases were reported the previous week.

"There is a sudden jump in measles, but it's nothing to be alarmed about," said Margaret Hoff, public health nursing director. "If it follows the usual pattern, we can expect measles to show up in the rest of the county in the next two or three weeks. An increase is not unusual at this time of year and is partly due to the reopening of schools."

Other communicable diseases reported last week included 19 cases of streptococcus, eight cases of mumps, six cases of gonorrhea, and four cases of syphilis.

Key speaker will be Leland L. Medsker, vice chairman of the Center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of California.

Purse Looter Gets $25 Fine

A San Anselmo youth, who looted girls' purses during a Santa Venetia dance on Oct. 6, must pay $25 fine, remain on six months probation and make restitution.

Another youth, Monroe Sheridan Stark, 18, of 76 Broadmead Court, who was with Curry that night, was freed of all charges because evidence was insufficient to hold him for any crime.

Horsemen's Playday Sunday In Novato

PEANUT BUTTER GOBLIN RINGS

Halloween Party For The Kids

The younger set, dressed as black cats, long haired witches, and masked goblins, like to come to a Halloween party in full costume. An evening playing spooky games and eating foods that they can prepare themselves, pleases most young goblins. Let your own young goblin invite friends in for the evening and help him plan foods that can be easily served and cleaned up. Decorative paper plates and cups add a gay touch to the table and are perfect for taking care of a large crowd.

Peanut butter sandwiches, always a favorite, take on a Halloween look. Bread rings, spread with circles of peanut butter and orange marmalade, can be easily decorated with raisin faces by helpful young hands. With the sandwiches, a ready pitcher of fruit punch lets each guest pour his own cupful during the evening.

For nibbling, have such foods as popcorn, dry toasted peanuts, and Halloween candy within handy reach. Popcorn, now ready for popping in its own handy foil package, can be popped in a jiffy by young guests and served right from the container in which it was popped.

GOBLIN RINGS

9 slices bread
1 cup creamy peanut butter
½ cup orange marmalade
raisins

Cut circles from bread slices with a 3" biscuit cutter. Spread a wide outer circle of peanut butter on each slice of bread. Spoon marmalade in the center of each peanut butter circle. Decorate with raisins. Makes 9 open-faced sandwiches.

HALLOWEEN PUNCH

1 (6 oz.) can tangerine or orange juice concentrate
3 pints chilled ginger ale

Just before serving, mix the concentrate and ginger ale together. Stir well. Makes about 1 quart punch.

Use Sausage The Swiss Way: Try This Erbswurst Stew

From a recipe collection published in Switzerland, we gather that the Swiss are devoted to sausage and that the cooks of this country use it in interesting ways.

Bratwurst, made of veal and less highly spiced than pork sausage, is sometimes served with leeks.

A special Swiss sausage made with tongue is added to bacon and ham and cooked with sauerkraut; then all the meats and the kraut are served on a big platter with pigs' feet.

Knackwurst is used in Erbswurst Stew. According to Webster, Erbswurst is a seasoned pea flour, marketed in parchment rolls, used for making soup. Now that a Swiss-style soup mix, including green split pea flour, is available here, you may wish to try using it to prepare Erbswurst Stew in your own kitchen. Tested at our house, the dish was liked immensely.

This recipe for Erbswurst Stew includes chunks of fresh celery and carrot and a sliced onion. It's a great dish for a quick and hearty lunch. It's also fine for Sunday night supper, especially if you follow it with apple pancakes. We are told this stew and pancake combination is popular in the central and northern parts of Switzerland where the cooking is close to that of Bavaria and Austria.

ERBSWURST STEW

1 envelope smoky green pea soup mix
2½ cups water
3 carrots
2 large ribs celery
1 small onion, sliced
4 knackwurst

Empty soup mix into a large saucepan; gradually stir in the water. Pare carrots, quarter lengthwise and cut into 1-inch pieces — there should be about 1½ cups. Cut celery into thin crosswise pieces—there should be about ¾ cup. Add carrots, celery and onion to soup. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally; reduce heat; partially cover and simmer 10 minutes. Cut the knackwurst into thin crosswise slices and add to soup; simmer 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Festive Shrimp Dish

To most of us, "cacciatore" means a chicken dish with tomatoes and onions. But to the connoisseur of Italian food, it is the term for foods prepared quite simply, "Hunter's Style."

In honor of the shrimp fiesta month, October, the Shrimp Assn. of the Americas has combined the famous cacciatore sauce with succulent shrimp to make a festive party dish. To complete the Italian-style menu, you might serve shrimp cacciatore with thick slices of Italian bread, a tossed green salad with oil and vinegar dressing, and chianti, with tortoni or spumoni for dessert accompanied by Expresso coffee.

SHRIMP CACCIATORE

2 pounds fresh or frozen shrimp
⅓ cup olive oil (or other fat)
½ cup minced onion
½ cup minced green pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
½ cup red New York State wine
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon allspice
1 bay leaf, crumbled
¼ teaspoon thyme
Dash cayenne pepper

Shell and devein shrimp. Cook 3 to 5 minutes in simmering water. Then heat olive oil in large skillet. Add onion, green pepper and garlic; cook gently, stirring occasionally, until onion is tender. Then add remaining ingredients. Simmer rapidly, uncovered, twenty minutes. Add cooked shrimp and heat through. Serve with spaghetti, rice or toasted croutons. Makes 6 servings.

Use Green Apples In Swiss Pancakes

Use tart green apples in these Swiss pancakes.

SWISS APPLE PANCAKES

2 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup light corn syrup
1¼ cups sifted flour
6 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine
2 medium apples (cored and sliced thin)
Extra-fine granulated sugar

Beat eggs slightly; add milk and corn syrup and beat to blend. Add flour; beat gently until smooth. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a large skillet over medium-low heat. Pour batter for a few pancakes into skillet, using about ¼ cup for each. Top each pancake with apple slices. Cook, turning once, until lightly browned on both sides. Place on heat-resistant platter, apple side up; sprinkle with sugar; roll up. Keep warm in a very low oven. Prepare remaining pancake batter and apples the same way, adding butter to skillet as needed. Sprinkle with sugar before serving. Makes 4 servings—2 large pancakes per portion.

Ginger Ale Surprise For All The Family

Small fry, teen-agers and older folk will all enjoy this refreshing summer drink.

Ginger Ale Surprise Cookies

GINGER ALE SURPRISE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate
Seedless grapes
Ginger ale (chilled)

Dilute orange juice according to can directions; pour into 2 ice-cub trays; put a couple of grapes in each small section of the trays; freeze. At serving time, place 2 or 3 orange-juice ice cubes in each glass and fill with ginger ale. Stir vigorously; serve with iced-tea spoons.

Tokay Tricks

Sherbets take on added refreshing quality when Flame Tokay grapes, halved and seeded, are stirred into them. Soften the sherbet, then add the grapes and return to freezer. Serve garnished with a tiny bunch of "frosted" Tokays. Wash grapes and drain well on paper towels; when almost dry, dust with sifted powdered sugar.

Good Custard Has Inviting Quality

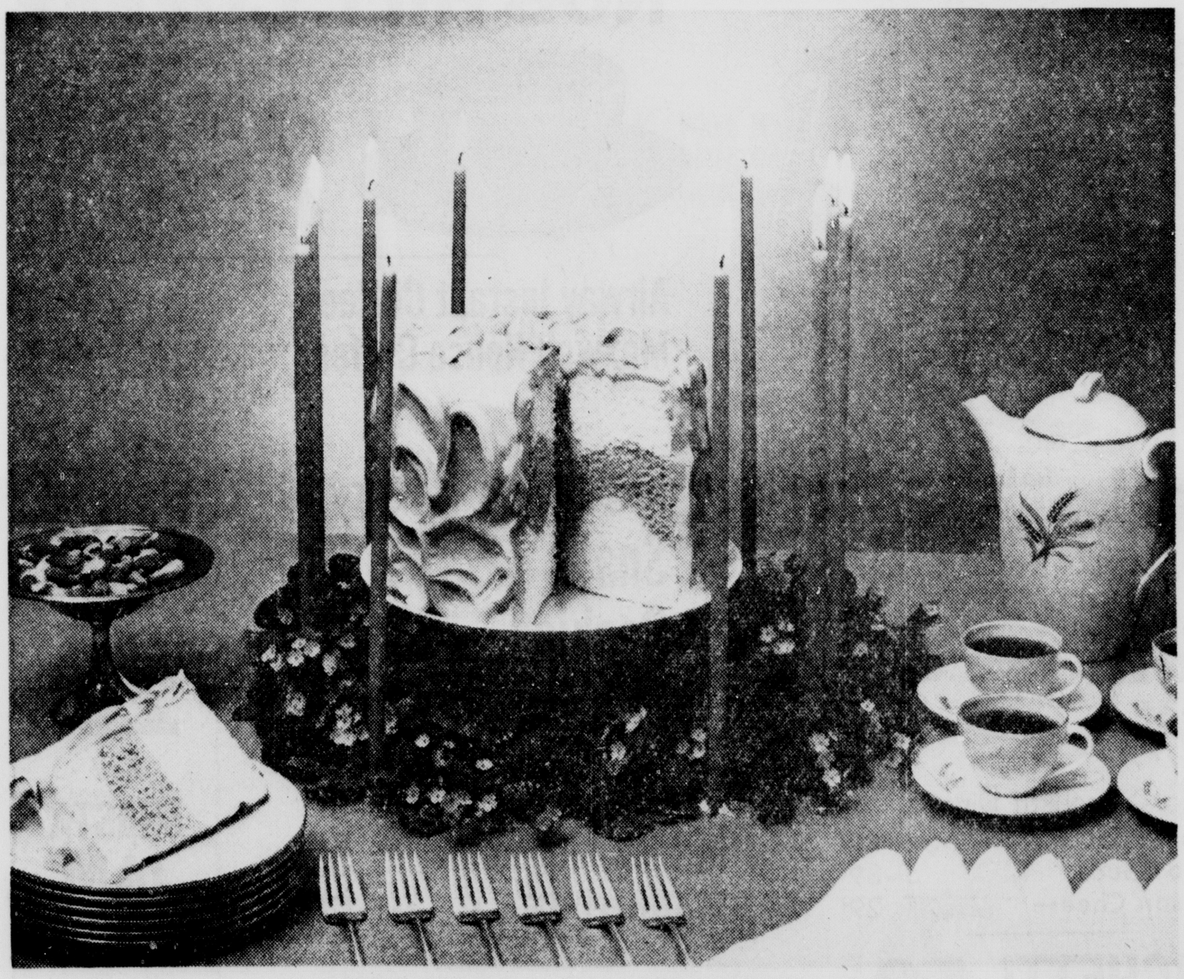
Much as we love fancy cakes and pies, a rich mellow custard remains one of the most endearing desserts. Like a fragrant cup of coffee, a good custard has an inviting quality about it. This is why it seems so suitable for that most hospitable of parties, the kaffeeklatsch.

This coffee doughnut custard is one of the dressier varieties. Cinnamon doughnuts are floated on top and baked into the delicious coffee-flavored custard. For party fanciness, you can rim the custard with whipped cream just before you pour the steaming coffee.

COFFEE DOUGHNUT CUSTARD

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2½ cups milk, scalded
2½ cups strong coffee
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 teaspoons vanilla
8 packaged cinnamon doughnuts

Melt butter. Combine with eggs, milk, coffee, sugar, salt, nutmeg and vanilla. Stir until sugar dissolves. Pour into buttered 2-quart casserole. Float doughnuts on top. Set casserole in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour, or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean. Chill. Makes 8 servings.



RASPBERRY SUNDAY CAKE

Angel food with a baked-in pink layer and all-the-way-through raspberry flavor is not only possible, it's easy with new Raspberry Sundae Angel Food Cake Mix. A packet of pink swirling mixture is included in the package.

KRAFT Whipped Cream Cheese

This Meringue Beats All Others

THERE ARE lots of wonderful dishes in the world. The trick is to find accurate recipes for them that a home cook can follow.

One of my best recipe scouts, my sister Phyllis, discovered one of the loveliest of soft meringue desserts at a New York restaurant where she often lunches. Lucky the day the recipe was printed on the back of the restaurant's menu! My sister tried the rule at home, cutting it in half to serve six, and early last spring we gave her version of it.

NOW WE'VE made a few other changes, practical for home use, in the rule—but the flavor and texture are the same. The original recipe suggested frozen strawberries and whipped cream as the accompaniment for the meringue. Phyllis omits the cream, and serves her meringue with fresh orange sections—a throwback to the way the famous Schaum Torte was offered in our home when we were young.

I stick to the frozen strawberries, sometimes making them into a sauce. The whipped cream I, too, find superfluous.

WE CONSIDER this an economical dessert because it uses leftover or what Phyllis calls "sneaked" egg whites. When she scrambles eggs for her family, she sometimes leaves out a white and "sneaks" it into a small screw-top jar. Then as other egg whites are leftover or "sneaked," she adds them to the jar. Tightly covered and refrigerated, the egg whites keep safely for a week to 10 days. So it's easy to save the half-cup of whites (usually four) needed for this recipe.

MELLOW MERINGUE

- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup (4 large) egg whites
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

In a small saucepan, scald ¾ cup milk. Gradually stir the remaining ¼ cup cold milk into cornstarch, keeping smooth; mix into scalded milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened; remove from heat. Stir in sugar, salt and coconut; cool slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff straight peaks form when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold in cooled sauce and vanilla. Turn into an ungreased 8-inch round cake pan. Place in a pan of hot water, having water come half way up side of cake pan. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until puffed and lightly browned—30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Serve with Strawberry Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Dessert will not come to the top of the regular American layer-cake pan suggested in recipe. It will fill a French cake pan that is 8¾ inches across and ¾ inch deep.

Culinary Taste Progresses To Include Poached Fruits

American culinary taste is progressing! We're beginning to be enthusiastic about the poached fruits so much appreciated abroad.

Among the fruits that take to this treatment is the Bartlett pear.

Ever try Pear Melba? This, of course, is stolen from the peach dessert originated by Escoffier. For Pear Melba, perch a poached pear half atop a scoop of vanilla ice cream and serve with a raspberry sauce. To make the sauce, thaw a package of frozen red raspberries in sugar syrup and rub them through a fine strainer to get rid of seeds. (If your strainer hasn't an extremely fine mesh, line it with cheesecloth.) Bring the raspberry puree to a boil and then simmer until just thickened, about 5 minutes; cool and chill.

HOW ABOUT Pear Helene? The version we have served to guests, with much applause, goes like this. Surround a mold of vanilla and coffee ice cream with poached pear halves and pass chocolate sauce.

Another delight: poach pear halves just before serving, adding lemon rind to a light sugar syrup; offer these with a drift of whipped cream. The delicate flavor of the pear, accented by the lemon, seems to come through perfectly when the pears are hot.

TEAM POACHED pears with white raisins soaked in sherry and you'll never regret it.

Poached pears are also fine to serve as a garnish with meats. Fill the cavities of the pear halves with whole cranberry sauce (out of a can) and garnish with sprigs of mint.

Here's a recipe we like for poaching Bartlett pear halves in an orange-flavored syrup to serve "as is" or with a Chinese-type embellishment.

PEAR VARIETY

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup orange juice
- 4 Bartlett pears

In a wide medium-sized saucepan, stir together the sugar, water, orange rind and juice over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to simmering. Pare pears, leaving stems on. Add pears to simmering syrup; cook gently, turning often, until pears are tender when pierced with a fork—about 20 minutes. Remove pears with a slotted spoon. There should be about 1½ cups syrup; gently boil syrup to reduce to about 1 cup. Pour syrup over pears; cool and chill.

Variation: Add slivered preserved ginger to pears and syrup; serve with Chinese tea. Delicious!

Note: It's important to use ripe but firm pears for poaching so the cooked fruit will have good texture. Don't overcook!

Peachy Russe

An individual "Charlotte Russe" is elegant and quite simple to prepare. Fit one round of pound cake into each custard cup or other serving dish. Stand lily fingers, cut into halves, around edges. Top cake with a dollop of whipped cream and crown with a golden canned cling peach half, cup-side down.

Delicious Roast Prepared The Southern Way

An economical cut of beef makes a delicious roast when prepared this New Orleans way.

Roast Beef a la Lucie
Oven Potatoes — Broccoli
Salad Bowl — Bread Tray
Peach Cake — Beverage

ROAST BEEF A LA LUCIE

- 2¼ pounds rolled larded eye-round beef
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 scallion (green onion), chopped
- 1 tiny clove garlic, minced

Mix together the salt, pepper, mustard, Worcestershire, vinegar, onion and garlic. Place meat in mixture, spreading it over surface. Allow to stand several hours or overnight; baste as often as you like with the small amount of marinade. Let meat come to room temperature if it has been in refrigerator; remove from marinade; roast on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Allow to stand in a warm place about 10 minutes; cut away strings; slice thin. Ends of beef should be slightly pink, center quite rare.

Fruit Muffins

Tiny "Muffin Jewels" with a sugar-glaze topping are delightful treats for a leisurely vacation-time breakfast. Prepare your easiest muffin batter. Gently fold in well-drained canned fruit cocktail. Spoon into small muffin cups. Dip sugar cubes in syrup from canned fruit cocktail and pop on top of each muffin before baking.

Icebox Cake Goes Modern

Look what's gone streamlined! That belle of the '20s—Icebox Cake.

This scrumptious dessert probably made its first American appearances when ice chests began to be a standard part of our kitchen equipment. Then when the '20s rolled around, it really had its heyday. Its antecedents were undoubtedly the Austrian and German torten—cake desserts of a rich variety, according to Webster.

FAVORITE of all icebox cakes of the '20s was a chocolate version. For this lady fingers were used to line a spring form, then more of the "fingers" were alternated with a filling of chocolate, eggs and butter or cream (or both). This glorious concoction went into the icebox to chill overnight, so it would be ready to cut beautifully for a next-day party.

Now comes a quick-and-easy version of chocolate icebox cake, a culinary beauty of the '60s. Made from lady fingers, the dark sweet variety of packaged chocolate pudding plus whipped cream, we found it delicious: Because not all kitchens boast spring forms, we made this dessert in a regular loaf pan so it could be turned out.

MODERN CHOCOLATE ICEBOX CAKE

- 1 package (3 ounces) dark sweet chocolate pudding
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 to 3 packages (3 ounces each) lady fingers
- 1 cup heavy cream

Follow package directions for making pudding, using the 1½ cups milk instead of the 2 cups called for. Pour pudding into a bowl; place waxed paper or saran directly over entire surface of pudding; refrigerate about one hour. Line bottom and sides of a loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) with 2 crossed strips of waxed paper. Now line bottom and sides of pan with some of the split lady fingers. Stir the chilled pudding to soften. Whip cream until stiff; fold into stirred pudding. Pour half of pudding-cream mixture into pan. Arrange split lady fingers on top. Pour in remaining pudding. Top with lady fingers. Refrigerate overnight. Snip off any protruding tops of lady fingers at sides so they are even with top layer. Invert on serving plate; remove waxed paper. Serve with extra whipped cream if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Corn, Tomato Scramble A Popular Dish

Fresh vegetables plus stewed tomatoes from the pantry shelf make a dish that is usually popular.

CORN AND TOMATO SCRAMBLE

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion (cut into thin strips)
- 2 cups diced celery
- ½ cup diced green pepper
- 1½ cups corn kernels (cut from 3 large fresh cobs)
- 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon tomato seasoning

In a large skillet melt the butter; add onion, celery and green pepper and cook gently until wilted; stir in corn. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper and tomato seasoning; simmer 10 to 20 minutes. Serve in sauce dishes if you like. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pre-Made Casserole Perfect For Buffet

Friends give us recipes for dishes they have enjoyed serving at buffet suppers and we pass these along.

Recently one hostess found herself facing a last-minute supper party for her newly-married daughter's in-laws, and a chicken-and-rice dish was concocted to serve 12 to 16. We call this recipe a "morning casserole" because our friend prepared it the morning of her supper. Then she refrigerated the dish and heated it in the oven an hour before serving.

WE'RE GIVING you the original large recipe in case you, too, have to feed a crowd. When we tried the dish we were counting on only six to eight guests to feed, so we halved the amounts.

As an extra with the casserole at our supper, we had sliced smoked tongue. With the tongue we offered a variety of mustards—the regular American kind in both brown and yellow versions, Dijon (from France and sharp), and Bahama-type (a sweet brown mixture).

A HUGE salad of water cress, chicory, escarole and romaine plus paper-thin slices of cucumber, a bowl of tiny tomatoes, and a basket of hot buttered rolls were our accompaniment to the casserole and tongue. And for a no-preparation dessert we found ice cream and an on-hand sauce the perfect answer.

As an alternate menu, we suggest cooked green peas with the casserole, followed by a salad of water cress (or other greens) orange slices or segments, and French dressing. Dessert might be a filled and frosted layer cake—angelfood or another variety.

BIG CHICKEN AND RICE CASSEROLE

- 3 whole broiler-fryers
- 2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
- 2 bay leaves
- 3 sprigs parsley
- 1 cup coarsely cut celery tops
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 2 cups converted-type rice (cooked)
- 1 pint commercial sour cream
- 1 package (1½ ounces) dehydrated onion soup mix
- Mushroom garnish

In a deep kettle bring to a boil, covered, the chickens in water with salt, monosodium glutamate, bay leaves, parsley and celery tops. Simmer until tender. Strain chicken from broth. Measure broth and, if necessary, boil until reduced to 1½ cups; mix with undiluted mushroom soup; turn into a 4-quart casserole. Skin chicken; remove it from bone; cut into large fork-size pieces; add to casserole with cooked rice, sour cream and onion soup mix; mix well. Refrigerate. One hour before serving place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven and bake, uncovered, 50 minutes. Add mushroom garnish. Makes 12 to 16 servings. Mushroom garnish: Drain one 6-ounce can of mushrooms and wrap in foil, using a drugstore fold. About 30 minutes before casserole is heated, place foil-packaged mushrooms in oven to heat. At serving time place mushrooms around edge of chicken casserole and top each one with a tiny pimiento cut-out; sprinkle center with minced parsley.

Luncheon Tip

Want to add a dash of variety to the children's school lunch? Spread pimiento cheese generously on slices of whole wheat bread. Top with 5 or 6 whole Norway sardines. Cover with bread slices spread evenly with butter. Cut into quarters for easy handling.

No Need To Give Greater Power To Appeals Boards

Two propositions facing you on the Nov. 6 ballot would turn over greater power to appeals boards.

Proposition 15 is designed for large counties, those with populations of more than 400,000 persons. Its purpose is to reduce the work load of the supervisors by taking the problems of property taxation equalization off their hands

It would provide for the creation of tax appeal boards to act as boards of equalization within counties. They would be given power to raise or lower appraisals on property in the same manner as the supervisors now do it.

Unfortunately this measure is so loosely drawn it gives no indication of qualification, method of selection of members, their term of office, removal or discontinuance of the boards. This would be done by the legislature at some later date.

In the big counties particularly, and sometimes in one of Marin's size, the problem of equalization is extensive and time consuming for the supervisors. But we oppose the idea of taking something so vital and personal to individual taxpayers out of the hands of elected representatives and placed in the hands of appointees.

Vote NO on Proposition 15.

PROPOSITION 18 is designed to increase the power of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board. It would make the board more independent of the governor by giving its members 4-year terms, rather than serving at the will of the governor. It also would give the board the power to delve deep into the background of an appealed case.

Although designed to reduce the number of cases going from the appeals board to the courts, it appears to us that this is, in effect, substituting an intermediate judicial review of a liquor violation decision by a board which may or may not have judicial qualifications. It seems to us unnecessary to establish such a new and all-powerful board.

Vote NO on Proposition 18.

PROPOSITION 9 is a bookkeeping proposition authorizing the setting up of one fund in the state treasury for paying off state bond issues. At present there are as many funds as there are bond issues outstanding.

We favor getting all the funds together where we can look at them all at one time.

Vote YES on Proposition 9.

LEARNED HER LESSON WELL

A 12-year-old girl put into practice a lesson learned in school when a tornado struck her house. As a result, her five brothers and sisters are alive today.

Their mother was several blocks away shopping when the windstorm approached their Waterbury, Conn., home.

After the girl herded the younger ones into the cellar, she and her older sister opened all the windows in the house to reduce the chance of injury from broken glass. This was something they had learned in school.

Damage was extensive but, when their mother struggled home through the rubble-strewn street, she found all her children safely huddled in the basement.

The purpose of any education—whether in coping with a tornado or in learning how to strengthen the fabric of society, is to put to use what one has learned.

God will bless your efforts if you employ constructively your acquirements of mind, heart and soul for others.

"What have you that you have not received?" (1 Corinthians 4:7)

Keep me ever aware, O Holy Spirit, that my talents are given me in trust, to be used for You and my fellow men.

Office Vine May Produce Some Sour Grapes But It Fills Need

NEW YORK (AP)—Does the company president wear a hairpiece?

Is the executive vice president dating his secretary on the side?

Will the firm give a Christmas bonus this year? Are there plans to move the company to a new city?

Such rumors and reports constantly circulate on "the office grapevine," that unofficial escalator of truth, gossip and wild misinformation which operates in every business organization having more than three employees.

The office grapevine has somewhat the stature of astrology. Most people deny they believe in it, but they are more than willing to hear what it has to say—particularly if it affects them.

For years industrial leaders have regarded the office grapevine as a disturbing nuisance, and some have sought ways to stamp it out—only to find it has more roots than a poison ivy plant.

Now a social scientist arises to say that "is the most disastrous mistake an executive can make."

Defending the office grapevine as more of a boon than a bane is Dr. Hideya Kumata, Michigan State University sociologist.

"Productivity is greater when there is no grapevine, but is it worth it to sacrifice the employees' identification with the company's aims?" he told a recent leadership conference.

"BY ATTEMPTING to stamp out the office grapevine, you destroy morale."

Dr. Kumata then gave this helpful hint to executives: Make positive use of the existing grapevine by passing on their own ideas to "opinion leaders" within the office.

THE GRAPEVINE isn't restricted to business firms. It is a characteristic of all social organizations.

You will find it in every army, fraternal lodge, monastery, Boy Scout camp, classroom or P-TA.

Whether the grapevine is right or wrong makes no real difference. As long as people like to guess and speculate about possibilities, the grapevine will continue to grow and spread its mixed burden of suspicion, hearsay and truth.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Unfair To Reflect On Character

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Replying to Leo M. Smith's letter to the editor appearing in your Wednesday, Oct. 10 edition, I wish to point out that it is quite obvious that Mr. Smith lives in the area of the "J" route (for the Novato freeway). His feelings are natural and understandable. People adversely affected quite naturally try to shift their adversity onto others. In a decision of this nature someone always gets hurt.

It is the responsibility of the Highway Commission to weigh all considerations, engineering, community values, etc., and come up with a decision favorable to the majority of the citizens, both local and statewide. The state highway engineer has already recommended the "J" route to the Highway Commission.

I think it is unfair, however, for Mr. Smith to reflect on the character of our businessmen, the Junior and Senior Chambers, for a congested traffic condition existing on Highway 101 not of their own making. The delays in a decision affecting the condition referred to certainly do not lie within the province of those accused by Mr. Smith. On the contrary, the accused have been striving for an early decision to alleviate the situation and clear the way for an orderly development of the community.

Mr. Smith, the people certainly "do have a voice in a major issue" such as this one. They certainly have been heard, too. In an impartial 25 per cent community attitude survey conducted over the entire area by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the results were an overwhelming 70 per cent of the people, including those directly affected and those not affected, wanting the freeway moved out of the downtown area. In addition, petition signatures of 2,226 residents of our city indicated their preference for removal of the freeway from its present route.

On your side of the picture, Mr. Smith, the opposition in your area came up with a protest petition containing only 266 signatures at the time of the Jan. 18 hearing. Your position deteriorated to 56 supporters by Aug. 28.

On that date Mrs. Leo M. Smith presented a petition to our city council containing only 56 signatures, your name appearing first. You were "against any route east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad except the "K" route—."

Yes, Mr. Smith, "Jefferson's America" is in existence right here in Novato today. The majority of the people have spoken, and voiced their opinion. You are still privileged in America to voice your minority opinion, but you should not represent it as a majority opinion.

I, too, personally, will be adversely affected by the "J" line; my home being on Chase Street is closer to the freeway than yours. However, I bow to the will of the majority. This is the American way.

Geese Getting Hep To Being Plucked

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Some cartoon you had in your issue of Oct. 10. "Wanted: Big Man to Fill Dedication Chair." Such benign looks you drew on their faces; like bitter pills covered with sugar coating. And the empty chair with Supervisor Fusselman's name on it.

Once crooks got all the publicity; now you become talked about because you are honest.

All the newspapers call Bill Fusselman a "chief foot dragger." So the press is giving this guy a black eye for sticking to his honest belief that the taxpayers should have the right to vote on projects costing just a measly little millions and millons of dollars. And, county offices pledged in order to get them started, to cost only $30,000 skyrocketing far in excess of this amount once they were installed.

Say, wasn't that sweet of Harold Stockstad to fight for the right for us geese to get to go through "OUR" civic center. Help! The man, he may have a conscious. He was the lad that insisted we keep the architectural fee at 10% when we had a chance to lower it to 7%. Well, it's like he said "3% isn't much more in taxes." Heck, no! Just a hundred thousand claims. Peanuts!!!

Gee, only a thousand people showed up, which number included the Terra Linda High School Band. Where were all those geese so willing to be plucked? The original estimate on the first stage of Taj Mahal was $3.2 million, but tsk, tsk, tsk, it is much closer to $5 million. Guess the geese are getting "hep" to what it feels like to be plucked. Wait until the next stage is completed and they will know what it is to be goosed as well.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A lecturer who underestimates his audience is not worth listening to. I shall never forget a letter I received after I had spoken to a ladies' club—years ago — in Grand Rapids, Michigan. "Thank you for obviously putting your heart into your appearance here," it read, and continued, "I wonder if you knew that the dignified matron in the front row who asked you about the menace of comic books was once the shining star of the Folies Bergere in Paris (without that mink coat, of course)? The lady next to her, with the ermine scarf, is an archaeologist who has worked and suffered in the most remote corners of the world. And behind them sat two maiden ladies who have contributed over five million dollars anonymously to charities, and a lady who almost broke the bank at Monte Carlo some years ago. Could an audience at Carnegie Hall top an array like that?"

Bill Weldon drove his secretary Corinne to a tennis match one blazing afternoon in Columbus. "I hope our seats aren't too far front," said Corinne. "It's too cold there." The puzzled Mr. Weldon asked, "Why do you think it's colder down front, Corinne?" She explained, "I'm sure I don't know, but it certainly was at the ice carnival in January!"

What Professional Baseball Needs Is More Poodles And Less Pelf

With due notice, I am prepared to resume my Shanghai practice of carrying a gat under the left armpit.

I say this before confession:

Big league baseball bores me to the utter depths of extinction.

The only thing that bores me more is the attitude of the big league devotees, especially such as live in Marin County.

I make this latter statement on the following basis: That living in Marin County, one is neck-deep in luck already, and can arrange for the services of as competent a psychiatrist as can be found elsewhere at probably no more cost.

ANYWAY, TO BE fair let's say that regarding my above statement (about baseball boring me) the same is probably true vice versa.

I not only contribute no cash money at the gate—it's worse than that.

If one of those purported phone call interviewers who find out what you're seeing on television, and alter the national ratings accordingly, were to phone and ask me what I was looking at when every patriotic American was watching the World Series, what would I say?

"I'M JUST PLAIN not looking at TV," I'd say. "I am getting my commercials painlessly on a pick and choose basis by reading the I-J, and getting news of Marin County and outlying precincts the same way."

Not even a mention of baseball, observe.

This probably puts me right out in left field, as the baseball addicts might phrase it.

Lest I be misunderstood let me say I have had considerable contact with baseball. When a boy I played it after a fashion, not under adult supervision, on many a vacant lot. It wasn't commercial.

We tried everything we ever heard of or read about in the world of sport. This included such diverse enterprises as football, boxing, wrestling, marksmanship with everything from .22 rifle to sling, fencing (wood swords), horseback riding, skating and hockey, and apple stealing.

MOST LASTING affections developed from that period were for tennis, on borrowed courts mostly with borrowed equipment, and motoring with other people's lent cars.

Of this lot I ranked baseball well down. Too much standing around and yakking.

Since that time I have seen no baseball that pleased me until last year in Florida where there was play involving a well-educated porpoise.

One of the fine points about that was that the porpoise, a good-humored fellow indeed, seemed to be getting fun out of the proceedings.

But the I-J the other day carried a photo which again softened my heart toward baseball. Weather had caused another gap in that interminable World Series so to fill in the space, the boys ran a wonderful picture of an eager poodle on hind legs catching a ball tossed by a human pitcher.

I'M A SUCKER for poodles anyhow and this struck me as the first sports page picture I'd seen in years that had personal appeal.

You could see that poodle Gus really liked what he was doing. He was making a fine catch not even for peanuts, just for sheer sport—the kind we kids had before kids started staying up all night to earn a neat profit on scalped tickets for the Series.

My hunch is that Gus doesn't even have a contract, save the bonds of love and pleasure. What present so-called sport needs is more poodles and less pelf.

Message To Moscow Is That We're Not Too Liberal To Fight

WASHINGTON — If Premier Khrushchev is reading the news from Washington, he must be aware that President Kennedy is engaged in a deliberate and what — to the Kremlin—he hopes is a sobering enterprise.

The President is acting to make three things clear to Khrushchev as Moscow prepares its new moves to harass West Berlin right after the American elections. The message to Moscow is:

That the U. S. intends to defend Western rights at any cost under any circumstance.

That the United States will meet force with force—and, if necessary, with the maximum of force.

That the U. S. will not be deterred from defending Berlin by the establishment of a Soviet satellite in Cuba and will not give audience to any proposal to trade off the presence of Soviet power in Cuba for the presence of Western power in Berlin.

KENNEDY lately has been using high-placed officials of the government to deliver the word to the Kremlin — the word that if, in planning future moves against Berlin, Khrushchev thinks he can count on American indecision or weakness, he will be making a grave mistake.

The spokesmen are Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and McGeorge Bundy, assistant to the President for national security. Each is saying the same thing different ways.

RUSK'S REPLY to a recent question as to whether the U. S. might consider a "deal" with Moscow taking in Cuba and Berlin was simply no. He added pointedly: "You don't preserve freedom in one part of the world by giving it up in another."

Secretary McNamara, after a visit to Berlin, took special pains to state that the United States would use nuclear weapons, if necessary, to defend West Berlin. This is not new American policy, but it is newly affirmed American policy to erase any doubt that could lead the Soviets to a miscalculation.

Secretary McNamara and Taylor have the same purpose in mind: to relieve Khrushchev of any idea that a little show of Soviet force against the West in Berlin would be all that would be needed to bowl us over and at no risk of nuclear war.

AND IN Copenhagen, at the annual assembly of the Atlantic Treaty Association, Bundy gave U. S. support to creating a European nuclear force. This would be made a unified and multilateral force integrated with America's own defense of the NATO alliance. It would be a NATO nuclear capability to which both Britain and France would contribute.

All of these policy statements have been concerted over a relatively brief period and with the explicit approval of the President.

It is significant, I think, that they have come hard on the interview which the American poet and close Kennedy friend, Robert Frost, had with Khrushchev in which the Soviet Premier said he thought the Kennedy administration was "too liberal to fight."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Go To Bank Until You Have Money (Suit) To Deposit

Don't go to the bank until you have the money ready to deposit. It's not quite the same thing to have a strong feeling that you're about to strike it rich.

This applies particularly to penalty doubles at the bridge table.

West thought his ship had come in when this hand came along in a recent tournament in Washington, D.C. He wouldn't have settled for less than 800 points when he doubled two hearts.

SMOKE CLEARED

When the smoke cleared, however, West was glad to get 200 points. It took very careful defense to defeat South at all.

West started out with three rounds of trumps, trying to reduce the hand no trump. East discarded the eight of diamonds on the third trump, and West did some thinking

By this time the diamonds were all located. East had doubled two diamonds to show length and strength in the suit.

If East could now afford to part with a diamond, he must have started with the missing four cards in the suit.

OWN TRICKS

If South had no diamonds, West had to rely on his own tricks in spades, hearts, and clubs. It would be fatal to lead a diamond, since that would give declarer a trick that he couldn't win for himself.

West's only safe exit from his hand was a low spade. South took two spade tricks and continued with the seven of spades.

Now West had to step up with the king of spades and get out safely with his last spade.

TRICKS NEEDED

By this time West had taken four tricks and needed two more to defeat the contract. He refused to win when South led the king of clubs. The only way to defeat the contract was to sit back with the A-J of clubs and wait for two more tricks.

It was quite reasonable for West to double two hearts, especially after this partner had doubled two diamonds for penalties. But once the play began West had to adjust himself to reality.

Any attempt to make a fortune would actually allow South to bring his doubled contract home.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Oct. 17, the 290th day of 1962 with 75 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1945, Juan Peron staged a surprise coup d'etat and overthrew the government of Argentina, thus becoming that country's absolute dictator.

A thought for the day: Albert Einstein said: "As long as there are sovereign nations possessing great power, war is inevitable."

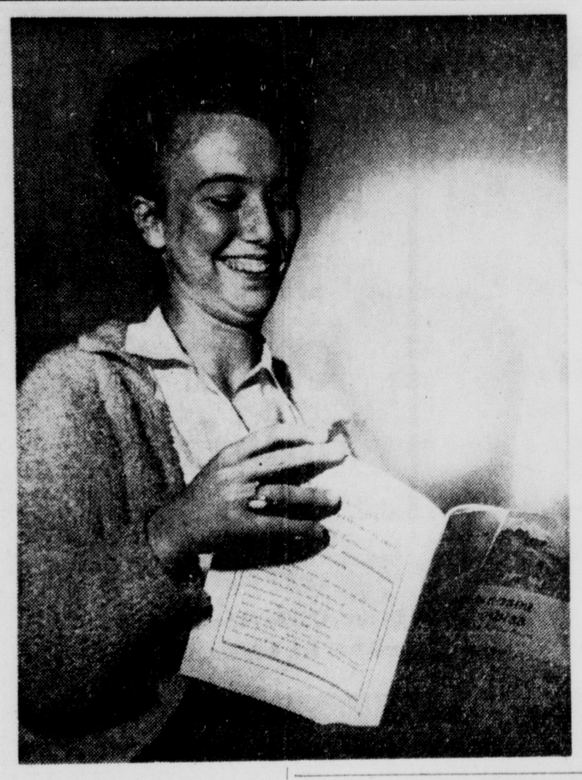
Marin Girl Learns Britons Not Somber



By PHIL FRADKIN

The stereotype of the austere Englishman was broken this summer for a vivacious San Anselmo girl interested in international relations.

Jill Hofmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hofmann of 19 Rutherford Avenue, started reaching the conclusion that English people are "comfortable and very free to discuss opinions" as one of her first experiences while in England under the Experiment in International Living program.

She was standing in a London subway with a group of fellow experimenters "looking lost" when a conservative looking Englishman, complete with cane, approached the group and asked, "Can I help you?"

Much to Jill's surprise he began discussing a book one of the group was reading after giving directions on the proper subway line. "It was a simple, friendly act," she said.

Jill, 16, a freshman at San Francisco State College, became interested in applying for a summer abroad when movies were shown to the Drake Diplomats on the experiment. She was president last year of the International Friendship Club at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The result was a summer of travel through southern England and the opportunity to live with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scillitoe of Bristol. An added dividend was 11 pounds of gained weight from "five meals a day, including tea with biscuits at 11 a.m., and more tea with cakes at 4 p.m."

Jill was "really surprised" Mrs. Scillitoe had any free time since she seemed to be baking cookies, cakes and biscuits, in addition to preparing the regular meals, all the time.

The cloudy weather, with only four days of sunshine in Bristol, made Jill comment, "I just thought it was winter." She escaped for two days on a weekend trip to the French Riviera to visit some friends.

Things she had trouble getting used to included the money and the British sense of humor. "I watched television with my English family and I just couldn't understand what they were laughing at. They have a subtle sense of humor."

Driving on the left-hand side of the road didn't bother Jill as she had prepared herself for it. However, on her first ride down Butterfield Road after she returned home, "I closed my eyes for a moment because I thought we were going to crash on the right-hand side of the road."

Jill said she "learned a lot of the nature of the English people and how they react to their environment" by traveling not as a tourist, but with other youth groups.

She is no stranger to foreign lands. Jill lived for two years in Australia and three years in Ecuador while her father worked in those countries as technical supervisor on the construction of rice mills.

With her knowledge of foreign lands, Jill, a major in international relations, hopes some day to join the Peace Corps, or the diplomatic corps, or work for the United Nations.

Blocking Drug Heroic Act

By RAYMOND CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal bureaucracy, butt of many a joke and gibe, can boast that in this year 1962 it produced an authentic heroine, a female knight in shining armor.

Frances Oldham Kelsey, M.D., Ph.D., doesn't look much like a knightess. She's a plain Jane in flat-heeled shoes, with no lipstick, and she has the seemingly unromantic job of physician and pharmacist for the Food and Drug Administration.

But, by now, most everybody knows how, in one of the most notable acts of female obstinacy in history, she blocked the marketing of the sedative thalidomide in this country.

When word came that this drug was being blamed for the deforming of thousands of babies born in Europe, President John F. Kennedy hastened to hang a gold medal around Dr. Kelsey's neck. Other honors have showered on her.

The thalidomide incident put new strength into a drive for a stronger drug safety bill. The Senate hastily replaced some of the teeth that had been extracted from the bill and it breezed through Congress.

Dr. Kelsey was among the honored guests looking on when Kennedy signed the measure Oct. 10.

Thus, Dr. Kelsey has taken her place on the roster of notable warriors for safe, effective drugs and wholesome food — a roster including such men as:

Upton Sinclair, Socialist uplifter who couldn't make much of a dent with his Socialist propaganda but did play a mighty role in the passage of a meat inspection act and the nation's first pure food and drug law, in 1906.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, an M.D. with an evangelical fervor for unadulterated food. As chief chemist for the Agriculture Department (1883-1912) he conducted his fight by "poison squad" tactics and other means, and was the first administrator of the pure food law.

Samuel Hopkins Adams, freelance reporter and muckraker extraordinary. Nothing, not even attempted blackmail, could deter him. His series "The Great American Fraud" began appearing in Collier's Oct. 7 1905, and had great impact. It was accompanied by charming illustrations, such as a grinning skull with patent medicine bottles for teeth.

In 1906 Sinclair published a novel "The Jungle." It was about the Chicago stockyards and was designed to forward socialism by enlisting sympathy for downtrodden stockyard workers. It didn't do that, but it did turn the stomach of America by its descriptions of the unwholesome conditions under which meat was being produced.

Dr. Wiley, in 1902, established what the newspapers immediately dubbed "the poison squad." It was composed of rugged young volunteers, mostly employees of the agriculture department. In a basement dining room in his bureau, he fed them food to which preservatives, coloring and other substances had been added.

The public interest was so intense that "my poison squad laboratory became the most highly advertised boarding-house in the world," Wiley wrote in his autobiography.

Wiley's conclusion was flat: "Preservatives used in foods are harmful to health." Modern scientists would take some exceptions to this; some preservatives now are pronounced all right.

When Wiley became chief chemist of the Agriculture Department in 1883, he began with two or three laboratory assistants and a secretary. The Food and Drug Administration, now part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has 2,684 employees today.

It is still a midget agency, as federal bureaus go, but it is not a midget in brainpower. On its rolls are physicians, physicists, pharmacists, veterinarians, pathologists, pharmacologists, bacteriologists, biologists, chemists, microscopists.

George P. Larrick, FDA commissioner, emphasizes that the great majority of food, drug and cosmetic makers are honest. No one alleges any fraud on the part of the men who tried to market thalidomide; they had imperfect knowledge of the possible side effects.

Latin America Speaker

Dr. John J. Johnson, Stanford University professor and expert on Latin America, will speak Jan. 3 at Olney Hall in the College of Marin concert and lecture series. Title of his talk will be announced later.

Dime Store Sponge Saves Human Hearts

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—The surgeon-scientist who first sewed a dime store sponge onto a human heart pleaded today for more surgeons to follow his example.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg, professor of surgery, McGill University, Montreal, also is the inventor of an artery-switching heart operation. He urged them both at the 48th Annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Both were designed to rescue the persons whose heart arteries are so far gone they are incapable of any activity and are not far from dying.

He presented facts and figures indicating remarkable life-restoring effectiveness. The artery-switching operation now has been performed 228 times.

Of that many hopeless heart cripples 75 per cent were restored to full life and the operative mortality was only 3 per cent.

Vineberg himself was sewed strips of dime store plastic foam sponges to 34 hearts all of which were "in failure" at the time. Ten per cent died and most of the remainder were restored to full life.

Both operations are measures of desperation, for hearts which are not getting enough blood from their own arteries to sustain them. The switched artery is the left mammary artery which feeds the chest wall. In the male, particularly the aging male, it serves no function other blood vessels can't take over, Vineberg said.

He detaches this artery from the chest wall and tunnels it into the heart muscle whose interior is a "vascular bed." The blood brought to the failing heart by this improvised channel is returned to the circulation through that bed.

Some hearts whose arteries are on the verge of giving up are just too large for one transferred artery.

So Vineberg stripped back the covers of hearts and sewed strips of sponge to the layer beneath. Blood vessels were pushed into the sponge holes, directing their flow back into the heart muscle.

Weekend Watercolor Classes Starting

A weekend of field watercolor classes for beginners and advanced painters will be conducted in the Larkspur-Corte Madera area next Saturday and in Sausalito and Fort Cronkhite locations Sunday by Richard Yip, associate professor of arts and crafts at Stanislaus State College. Enrollment for classes, to be held regardless of weather, may be made with Mrs. A. W. Ralston of Fairfax, director of the project.

Mill Valley Council Holding Many Secret Meetings

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Unannounced, closed meetings are quite commonplace for the Mill Valley city council, the Independent-Journal learned yesterday.

The latest such meeting was held Monday when the council discussed, over lunch in San Francisco, findings of a survey probing into the city manager's duties and city administrative procedures.

The council, with George Blackwell absent, met with William R. Zion, governmental research consultant and author of the 15-page survey.

Zion was hired in September to do a three-week study of administrative procedures to establish criteria for the city manager's job and suggest any necessary changes in procedures.

The city council, according to Mayor Joseph E. Sheeks, discussed Zion's findings Monday, then asked Zion for a two-page summary "in order to make the findings more publishable."

The Zion report, said Sheeks, is to be given first to the council, perhaps tomorrow or Friday, then a copy to city manager A. E. Almcrants. Copies will be released to the press by next Wednesday, he said.

Under the Ralph M. Brown Act all legislative bodies must hold public meetings unless hiring, firing or bringing of charges are being considered. No notice of the Monday meeting was given the public.

It's primarily a matter of personnel," said Sheeks, holding the unannounced meeting was not illegal. "It comes down to a question of the city manager. The problems revolve around the city manager . . .

TWO WOUNDS IN HEAD

Marin Attorney 'Very Critical' After Shooting

Kentfield attorney Albert H. Gommo Jr., 52, shot twice in the head yesterday in his Market Street office in San Francisco, was reported in "very critical" condition today in San Francisco General Hospital.

Under police guard in the same hospital was John Trischan, 50, a San Francisco electrician who, police said, fired the shots at Gommo and then shot himself.

Trischan's estranged wife, Louise, formerly was Gommo's legal secretary.

Inspector William Guthrie said Gommo told San Francisco police that Trischan entered the office in the Central Tower about 3:30 p.m. yesterday. Gommo was out. Trischan waited until his return about 5 p.m., Meantime the office secretary had left.

They apparently argued for an hour before the shooting.

At 6 p.m., Gommo called Mission Emergency Hospital for help and called his wife, Lillian, at their home on Quisiana Drive in Kentfield.

When police arrived, Trischan was lying face down on the floor. Gommo was upright —despite two wounds in the head.

Gommo had been shot twice above the left eye. One bullet emerged through the side of his skull; the second was imbedded in his head.

Police said both shots were fired from a .22-caliber pistol. Trischan had then fired the pistol into his own mouth, they reported.

Walter Alston Is Rehired By Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers rehired Manager Walter Alston today, ending weeks of speculation. The club also announced that Alston wanted to retain Leo Durocher as coach despite reports that Durocher had second-guessed Alston after the Dodgers lost the National League playoffs.

The club's decision to keep Alston was anticipated by many, although some feared he was definitely in jeopardy after the Dodgers blew a four-game lead in the final week of the regular season and then lost the playoffs to San Francisco.

DUROCHER SURPRISED

More surprising, perhaps, than the announcement of Alston's new contract was the manager's decision to retain Durocher. At least once last season, Alston rebuked Durocher for what the manager considered an invasion of his jurisdiction.

Alston was given a one-year contract. It has been the club's custom for years to commit itself to a manager for no more than one season at a time.

Alston's salary was not announced. He was believed to be making about $42,000 and the guess is this figure won't change much, if at all.

Alston's contract renewal was announced at a news conference held in the press-box dining room at Dodger Stadium.

ON TELEPHONE

Alston spoke to newsmen via telephone from his home in Darrtown, Ohio. His voice was amplified by a device attached to the phone in the press conference room.

Asked directly whether Durocher would be back next season, Alston said:

"As far as I know, yeah. I'm satisfied with the way Leo worked. No one has convinced me yet he said those things about me. If I had anything to do with it, he'd be back."

Alston said, however, that he will discuss the coaching situation with General Manager Buzzie Bavasi before any final decision is made.

Novato Councilman Is Served Recall Papers In Freeway Rift

Action Comes Over Selection Of Route

By THERON A. NEWELL

Novato City Councilman John Angeloni was served recall papers last night at a stormy council meeting that saw tempers flare to the breaking point on the selection of a freeway route through the city.

Before order was restored to the crowded meeting, there were verbal clashes between members of the audience and between the council and the audince.

JOHN ANGELONI
Recall target

It started when Alfred W. Bowman, co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Freeway Committee, asked if he could read a prepared statement. Councilman Angeloni said he could read it into a hearing which the council would hold before it gave its decision on the route.

Angeloni had just told Mrs. A. P. Garatti of 708 Bradley that the council would get the transcripts of the highway commission hearings and then hold its own hearing before making a decision on the freeway.

Bowman, red-faced at the refusal to hear the statement, turned to M/Sgt. Richard L. Weber of 830 Reichert Avenue, sitting behind him.

"Serve the papers," Bowman said.

Weber took a paper from his pocket and gave it to Angeloni. Angeloni shoved it away. Mayor M. E. Silva unfolded the paper and said something to Angeloni in a low voice.

"If Al Bowman wants to recall me, let him! It's characteristic of him," Angeloni said angrily.

Frank Perachiotti, real estate dealer, elbowed his way through the crowd. He shook is fist at Bowman, but addressed the council.

"I got two calls tonight, one demanding to know about a real estate transaction which I wouldn't tell anyone and the other from Al Bowman threatening me with a grand jury investigation," he said. (Bowman is a member of the county grand jury.)

Then addressing Bowman, he said: "That was asinine. Don't you ever threaten me again with a grand jury investigation!"

Hugh Turner of 1470 Pastel Lane read a statement from the board of directors of the chamber of commerce urging immediate decision on the freeway.

PORTRAIT FOR CIVIC CENTER

Sam Goode, San Rafael artist, stands beside portrait he painted of architect Frank Lloyd Wright, which he offered yesterday to sell to the county for $500. He told the board of supervisors the picture, done in plastic paint, depicted "the life mind of a man embattled in the struggle to free itself of entities adverse to its achievement of toil of the mind." The framing, he added, "is in keeping with the motif of civic center." The supervisors did not leap at his offer. (Independent-Journal photo)

SAUSALITO PASSES WATERFRONT PLAN

Plans by Sausalito Properties Inc. for a multi-million-dollar apartment and commercial development on the waterfront between Bee and Turney streets finally were approved last night by the Sausalito City Council.

The approval capped almost two years of delay, discussion and study since the plan was originally submitted. The council nearly met its self-imposed Oct. 16 deadline for decision on the plan, but not quite — the discussion ran past midnight.

A weary but determined E. Elmore Hutchison, president of Sausalito Properties, then thanked the council, the planning commission and the citizens of Sausalito for their consideration.

During a 15-minute recess earlier in the meeting, Hutchison remarked to a reporter as he gulped an aspirin:

"I wonder if I'll live to see this built?"

The plan, which Mayor Paul Micou said will be "a fine thing" for Sausalito, involves two peninsulas to be created by filling underwater lots from Humboldt to Railroad Avenue. Litho Island, the westerly peninsula extending from Litho Street, would have 69 apartments and a 210-room hotel. The easterly Pine Peninsula, on which most of the argument centered, would be for commercial buildings.

Micou opened the discussion by praising most aspects of the plan and expressing confidence in the ability and integrity of the developers.

He said the city had discussed with federal officials the possibility of acquiring property in the area through federal aid for recreational development, but this was found to be not feasible.

Reports by planning consultant William E. Spangle Jr., who

Ranger 5 Moon Shot On Again

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The space agency today rescheduled the Ranger 5 moon-shot for tomorrow when a change in direction by tropical storm "Ella" promised improved weather conditions. (See earlier story, page 2.)

Officials last night had wiped the launching off the October schedule because of the threat posed by Ella.

Earlier today, NASA said the scheduled launching tomorrow was tentative, depending on further weather reports. When the weather outlook improved, officials made the schedule definite.

WEATHER FORECAST

Bay Area: Fair tomorrow; little change in temperature.

Sierra Nevada: Fair tomorrow; slightly warmer.

Russ Put Another Sputnik In Orbit

MOSCOW —The Soviet Union today announced the launching of another Sputnik-Cosmos X.

The Soviet news agency, Tass said it was packed with scientific instruments and everything was functioning normally.

The purpose of the Sputnik is to measure radiation and other factors bearing on manned space flights, Tass said.

The satellite made its first orbit of the earth in 90.2 minutes, on a path ranging from 126 miles to 208 miles from the earth and at an angle of 65 degrees from the equator, Tass said.

No report was made on the weight of the satellite or how long it was expected to stay up.

TAKING NOTE OF WEATHER

When a belated letter from F. Methner of San Francisco was read to Marin County supervisors yesterday in complaint against parched-weather dirt and rubbish conditions on West Marin roads, public works director Donald R. Frost had a dry answer.

"We hosed all that down last weekend!" he quipped.

Shipwrecked Islanders Keep Alive On Just One Match

SUVA, Fiji Islands (AP)—Shipwrecked for 11 weeks on a South Sea reef, 12 Tonga islanders defied death and the sea by living on water distilled from the ocean and by catching fish and crabs.

And when a New Zealand Air Force flying boat came out of the night Monday and dropped flares, it was as if everything in their weak, dehydrated bodies came alive again, a survivor said today.

The story of survival came from Veetuto Pahulu and Fine Feuaki, two of the Tongans who lived through the ordeal that took the lives of five of the 12 men.

The Tongans set out in a yacht last summer from Tongatapu to Ata Island, in the Tonga Islands east of the Fijis.

Storm winds blew them far off course. On July 7 the wind bore them down on Minerva Reef, 300 miles west of Ata and well off the shipping lanes.

"The yacht broke up quickly," said Feuaki, "and we were on the open reef all night. It was like a dream when light came and we saw not far away the Japanese wreck."

The wreckage was that of a Japanese fishing vessel.

There was but a single match among the 17 Tongans. With it they started a fire from wreckage to serve as beacon and cookstove. Through the 11 weeks someone always was on watch to see that the fire did not go out.

"We took our food from our wrecked boat and lived on that for 17 days," said Feuaki. "Then we had to catch fish and crabs."

They also had aluminum pots. Sea water was put in one aluminum pot with a lid and the pot placed over the fire.

Steam from the pot passed through a rubber tube and condensed in the other kettle. This produced two pints of precious water a day—a small cup for each man.

"After 24 days Fatai Efeafi died and was buried in the sand on the reef. Then later that day Sione Sikemeti and Sione Lose died," Feuaki said.

The men decided to build a raft from the wrecked fishing boat. Capt. Tevita said he would try to reach the Fijis for help.

"We had only a hammer and no saw," Feuaki related, "and had to cut timber with a nail."

By this time, a fourth man had died. The captain and two volunteers boarded the raft and set out for Kandavu, most southerly of the Fiji islands, 350 miles away.

The three had no food and only four cups of water. One volunteer died on the way.

Weak and exhausted, the captain and the other islander arrived Monday at Kandavu, and gasped out their story.

The flying boat went to Minerva Reef, took the 10 bearded men aboard, and brought them to Suva.

Kennedy Signs Tax Incentive Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President John F. Kennedy has signed into law a tax revision bill that carries a one-billion-dollar incentive to businesses that modernize.

The bill, Kennedy said in a statement accompanying yesterday's signing, "makes a good start on bringing our tax structure up to date and provides a favorable context for the over-all tax reform program I intend to propose to the next Congress."

Meanwhile, he said, the bill "will stimulate the economy and provide a greater measure of fairness in our tax system."

Although Congress turned down the president's proposal for setting up a system of withholding taxes on interest and dividend income, Kennedy said the requirements it established for reporting such income and interest would help improve compliance with tax laws.

The Treasury estimates it is now losing about one billion dollars a year in revenue because taxpayers fail to report all the dividends and interest they receive.

Corporations now will be required to report to the Treasury and to the recipient all dividend payments totaling more than $10 a year. Savings institutions will have to do the same for interest payments.

The investment credit of up to 7 per cent on purchases of machinery and equipment is the major revenue law change Kennedy asked when he submitted the bill to Congress in April 1961.

The revenue estimates of the bill are in considerable dispute. The Treasury figures that when all provisions are effective the annual revenue loss will be 170 million dollars. Congressional staff experts place it at 545 million dollars.

The investment credit takes effect as of last Jan. 1. Most of the other provisions will be effective at the start of next year.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Red Invited To Visit South Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UPI)—U.S. Maj. Gen. James B. Winn today invited a North Korean Communist general to visit South Korea and see for himself whether it was "hell."

Winn, chief United Nations Command delegate to the military armistice commission, issued the invitation to North Korean Maj. Gen. Chang Chung Hwan during the 158th meeting of the military armistice commission at this tiny truce village.

Chang had called South Korea a "living hell" and a "land of darkness."

"It is quite obvious you have not been in South Korea recently," said Winn sharply across the conference table. "I extend you an invitation to come and see for yourself."

Chang did not reply.

UAR Troops In Yeman

CAIRO (UPI) — Thousands of troops from the United Arab Republic are in Yemen helping the new republican government establish control over the country, according to Western travelers arriving here.

Westerners who went to the twin Yemeni capitals of Taiz and San'a said they saw UAR soldiers "everywhere," many of them in paratroop uniforms and carrying arms.

One of the travelers who arrived here yesterday estimated there were 40,000 UAR troops in Yemen, but informed sources said there probably are less.

Praise For Kennedy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Indonesian Assn. of Student Organizations praised President John F. Kennedy today for his handling of Negro James H. Meredith's admission to the University of Mississippi.

The association said it sent a cable to Kennedy expressing full support for his action.

Negro Employment Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government reported yesterday it has sharply increased its employment of Negroes, particularly in middle- and upper-bracket jobs.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson released figures comparing employment in 33 agencies in June 1962 with a year earlier.

They showed employment increased 29,240 to 2,226,607 — an over-all increase of 1.3 per cent — while Negro employment alone increased 10,270 or 3.6 per cent.

Johnson said Negroes have not been given special job privileges. Rather, he said, their job gain represents insistence by the present administration that employes be hired, promoted and upgraded on the basis of merit.

Actor Laughton 'Fair'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Charles Laughton was reported in "fair condition" today at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital where he is recuperating from major surgery for cancer of the spine performed nearly three months ago.

Doctors said the 63-year-old entertainer was holding his own in his battle to recover, but his condition still remained the subject of much concern.

Laughton, famed for his role of Captain Bligh in "Mutiny on the Bounty," made his most recent appearance as a Southern senator in "Advise and Consent."

Santa Gets Stuck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Playing Santa Claus to please the little girl next door, Jimmy Kelly, 5, got stuck in the chimney of the outdoor fireplace and grill in his back yard.

Jimmy was staging "The Night Before Christmas" for 5-year-old Allison Doane yesterday. He descended to his nose with his arms extended above his head when he came to a full stop in the chimney. He couldn't moveup or down, and he didn't even have a pack of toys on his back.

Allison's mother notified her husband, Dr. James H. Doane Jr., police and Jimmy's mother.

Doane and Abington Township patrolman Richard McClelland mounted the brick barbecue bastion. Taking Jimmy's arms, they rocked him back and forth. After 10 minutes they eased him out unhurt.

Rare Disease Kills

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—A rare malady known as Schilder's disease has taken the life of two-year-old Suzanne Marie Johnson.

The same disease previously killed three infant sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Johnson. One child survives, Barbara, 8.

Suzanne Marie died Monday of the disease which attacks the nerves.

The American Medical Assn. says cause of the disease is unknown. It occurs sporadically but sometimes runs in families. It is not known to be either contagious or infectious.

Fair Ends Sunday

SEATTLE (UPI)—The Seattle World Fair will approach or pass the 10 million attendance mark Sunday when it is officially closed by President John F. Kennedy.

Kennedy will be on hand to press a telegraph key that will flash a signal to the Mariner satellite en route to Venus. The signal will return here, officially ending the space age exposition's six-month run.

Red Weapons In Viet Nam Are Improved

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam have begun using more powerful weapons against U.S. helicopters, informed sources said today.

This was understood to be one reason why the Army has sent some of its latest model helicopters, armed with rockets and machine guns, to cover the slower H-21 "flying banana" helicopters which have been carrying South Vietnamese soldiers on raids against Communist strongholds.

When the U.S. helicopter operation started early this year the Red guerrillas had little more than rifles and other light weapons to fire at them.

MASHINE GUNS

But the Communuist Viet Cong recently has been bringing heavier firepower to bear on the troop-carrying helicopters, the sources said. It was indicated these newer weapons may be .50-caliber machine guns suitable for antiaircraft work.

A Defense Department spokesman confirmed yesterday that the Army is arming its helicopters and that the Vietnamese air force is flying cover missions to protect the carriers.

Reports from Saigon earlier this week told of three rocket-firing U.S. helicopters mounting a strike against the Viet Cong in the mountains northwest of the capital city.

SPEED, ROCKETS

The machines involved were HU-1 Iroquois, turbine-powered helicopters which are fitted with rockets and machine guns. The turbine motors give the choppers greater speed and maneuverability than the older troop carriers.

The United States has committed about 140 troop-carrying helicopters to the Vietnamese war. They are flown by Army and Marine pilots.

A Defense Department spokesman said U.S. policy in Viet Nam remains unchanged —that American military men may fire back if fired upon.

Three American propeller-driven planes, two of them reconnaisance craft, were downed this week in Viet Nam. In one instance, three Americans were killed, bringing to 16 the number of U.S. dead resulting from Communist attack.

BEN BELLA LAUDS CUBA ON ARRIVAL

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, who says his new nation will stand forever beside Fidel Castro's Cuba, gets a chance today to look at the Cuban revolution results he avowedly admires.

In reply to greetings from Prime Minister Castro, who loosed a tirade against "Yankee imperialism," Ben Bella said on his arrival yesterday from talks with President John F. Kennedy in Washington:

"Brotherhood always reigned between Cuba and Algeria. Algeria is and will be with Cuba. History has willed it that both people meet on the road to liberation."

Castro met the Cuban airliner that brought Ben Bella from Washington, and declared in his welcoming address:

"To visit Cuba at a time when the United States is redoubling its criminal blockade, when the Yankee imperialists threaten to attack, is on your part an act of political firmness and valor."

Ben Bella is expected to leave tomorrow.

'ELLA' GROUNDS RANGER

Moon Shot Canceled By Tropical Storm

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The gusty winds of tropical storm "Ella" have forced a four-week postponement of the attempt to launch the Ranger 5 spacecraft to the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had planned to launch the spacecraft today, but called off the effort last night when Weather Bureau reports indicated there was a good chance the storm would cause unfavorable weather at Cape Canaveral the next several days.

Preparations were made to remove Ranger 5 and its Atlas-Agena B rocket from the launch pad and move them to the safety of a hangar.

The space agency had only a four-day period ending Friday when the moon was in a favorable position for the Ranger 5 launch. The next optimum period begins about Nov. 13.

Ranger 5's mission is to streak a quarter million miles to the moon, take closeup television pictures and land a capsule to register moonquakes and meteor hits.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"
New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials of normal regularity
As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.
Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs frequently cramp and gripe. Of all leading laxatives, only new COLONAID gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).
(1) COLONAID prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAID's unique rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAID acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.
COLONAID relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAID won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAID today! INTRODUCTORY SIZE 43¢

SIGNS OF THE TIME

It takes a fast reader with a photographic memory to conform with Japanese traffic regulations. This mass of dos and don'ts is posted at the newly-opened Wakado Ohashi Bridge linking two cities in northern Kyushu Island. A driver can't stop to read the maze of signs because one of them says "No Parking." Slowing down is also illegal for there is a minimum speed regulation. Some 18,000 vehicles cross the bridge daily and a tough traffic officer could have a holiday enforcing all those rules. (AP Wirephoto)

Medicare Called 'Bizarre,' Necessary In College Debate

The King-Anderson Medicare Bill was berated as "bizarre and dynastic" and defended as necessary to get medical aid for middle-income oldsters in a debate last night at College of Marin.

The "bizarre and dynastic" description was applied by Dr. Robert F. Schell, chairman of the legislative committee of the Marin Medical Society, at the debate sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Assn.

Schell also called the bill "a reverse Robin Hood," claiming it proposes a tax of 3¼ per cent on $5,000 incomes and one per cent on $15,000 incomes.

Medical needs of the elderly are better served under the Kerr-Mills Act, now in effect, contended Dr. Schell.

Mrs. Jennie Matyas, administrator of health, welfare and pension funds of the Women's Apparel Industry of the Bay Area and former vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, retorted that under Kerr-Mills 90 per cent of federal funds go to four states, 10 per cent to 23 other states — and the remaining 23 states get nothing because they have not passed the necessary matching fund legislation.

"The AMA (American Medical Assn.) spends millions to make their 'no' on the King-Anderson Bill so resounding that Congress will not dare say 'yes,'" she said.

Ed Wachsman, vice president of Marin Underwriters Assn. and president of the San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce, opposed the King-Anderson Bill, warning that "every time government provides an inch of benefits, it takes away two inches of liberty."

The fourth speaker, Dr. Harold A. Kazman, president of the San Francisco branch of American Medical Writers Assn., said "there was the same cry of anguish" from doctors about Blue Cross and Blue Shield when they were first proposed. He said middle income families have too much money to expect free care, but too little to meet medical disaster. The answer, he said, is medical care under Social Security.

SAUSALITO

was hired by the city to go over the plans, were generally favorable, as was a report by the planning commission, Micou said.

The city, in return for relinquishing underwater street rights of way to the developers, would gain a waterfront park. Public water access would be assured by retaining the rights of way for two streets extending out from the shoreline, Micou pointed out.

Council approval of the project consisted of a set of six motions presented by Micou. The second motion, dealing with commercial uses on Pine Peninsula, was the major hurdle of the evening.

What Micou sought to say was that the commercial plan was not in conformity with the general plan for Sausalito, but was appropriate to the area if properly carried out. Councilman Michael Harris wanted the motion to approve of the Pine Peninsula commercial development in principle, but at the same time retain city control over its execution.

The council's chief concern was that too intensive commercial development would further congest Bridgeway.

Harris said he thought the developers ought to mix some apartments in with the commercial area.

Hutchison said his firm could not predict exactly what businesses would locate in Pine Peninsula, but that the density would be within the city's regulations.

The general plan calls for eight commercial buildings, which worried Councilman Philip S. Erlich Jr. because, he said, the council didn't know if they would be one, two or three stories high.

The problem finally was resolved by including in the motion a limitation of 80,000 square feet of building area, or 15 per cent coverage of the developed property, which was more than the firm had originally proposed.

The rest of the package of motions by Micou approved of the Litho Island development, directed the planning commission to take steps to amend zoning in the general plan for the Pine Peninsula commercial area, approved the concept of trading underwater streets for park and public waterfront property, urged passage of Proposition 14 on the Nov. 6 election ballot to enable the city to make such a trade, and approved the planning commission's report of March 12.

Sport Coat, Slacks Stolen From Auto

A newly cleaned sport coat and two pair of slacks vanished from a car parked in front of Tomahawk Motel restaurant north of Novato, the victim reported to the sheriff early today.

Robert L. Keane, a guest at the motel, said the clothes were stolen between 8:30 p.m. and midnight. He valued them at about $100.

TV Store Robbery Loss Is $4,190

A burglar broke into the All-Channel TV Service at 467 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, last night and stole $4,190 in equipment and cash, Police Chief Howard Clark reported today.

Loss included at least 19 transistor radios and a tape recorder taken from the display window, 16 television sets and half of an AM-FM stero phonograph taken from the the showroom, and $50 in cash.

Proprietors Fred and Walter Ulner made the estimate of loss.

The thief or thieves left behind a large color television set in the middle of the showroom. Models stolen were black and white sets.

A pry bar was used to open the aluminum front door, said Clark.

Forty centuries before Christ, people lived in mud-brick villages and tilled the soil of the relatively fertile northern Negev.

Little Girl Takes Stand In Murder Trial

A 7-year-old girl testified yesterday she heard Claude Hilton Bradley, 22, enter the apartment where she lived on the night that her mother was strangled to death.

Bradley, a truck driver, is on trial for the murder of Carole Leona Frederick, 29, last June 3, in her apartment at 45 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael.

As nine women and three men members of the jury listened intently, little Laura Frederick took the witness stand next to Judge Richard M. Sims Jr.

She answered questions put to her by Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety. Laura said she slept in the living room with two other children on the night of the slaying. During the night she was awakened by a "knock on the door."

She said her mother went to the door, and "I heard Bob talking to mommy." The children knew Bradley as "Bob."

Laura said she heard him ask for the use of the bathroom. Laura then went back to sleep.

Next morning, she said, her sister Gail, 10, went into their mother's room and came back crying. Laura told the jurors she went in and "I saw Mommy laying there. It looked like she was sleeping."

Yellow Cab driver Douglas Litser then testified he was called to 45 Woodland Avenue early on the morning of June 3. He picked up Bradley, who walked out from the other side of the street, and delivered him to a home in Ignacio.

Both Inspector Lincoln Borba of San Rafael police and Deputy County Physician Richard W. Wolk testified they found one spot of reddish stain which looked like blood on Bradley's underclothing. Dr. Wolk, who examined Bradley that night, said he also had a small scratch on his back, but no other signs of blood or bruises.

"He appeared depressed and tired," said the doctor, but he was calm, passive and cooperative at all times.

"We're not trying to hide anything. The report isn't ready for publication yet. We intend to make it public. I wouldn't permit it to be handed out before Al (Almcrants) sees it."

The mayor added: "We had a whole series of meetings on this at the time we selected a consultant. The things we wanted to talk about were not things to be brought out in the public press. We're particularly sensitive to the necessity of publishing everything that goes on so the public knows what's going on.

"There's nothing detrimental in the report to either the city council or the city manager."

City Atty. Leland H. Jordan said today, "I would not want to comment on it until I discuss personally with the council members what was done."

The Ralph M. Brown Act, which contains sections 54950 through 54960 of the Government Code of California, provides that "all meetings of a local agency shall be open and public."

It provides that when a special meeting is called notice shall be delivered to "each local newspaper of general circulation, radio or television station requesting notice in writing . . . at least 24 hours before the time of such meeting."

Sole exception to the open meeting law is contained in Section 54957, which specifically permits executive sessions "during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints against such officer or employee." Advance notice of such regular or special meeting is required under the preceding section.

SHOOTING

had worked as legal secretary to Gommo and his office colleague, attorney Gus C. Rignole, until about 18 months ago. Mrs. Trischan has filed for divorce.

Interviewed by police, Mrs. Trischan denied her husband's accusations and said he was "insanely jealous."

Scattered about Gommo's office were pages of a rambling, typewritten account of Trischan's marital difficulties, in which Trischan accused his wife of draining him financially and "destroying" his life. It indicated he had tried to hold her by giving her money, and that he was in debt.

Trischan reportedly told police that he had been looking for his wife for about a week with the intention of killing her. An ice pick and an awl were found of the floor of the office. Trischan told police he was "saving" the ice pick for Louise.

In Trischan's pocket police found an envelope, addressed to "undertaker," containing five $20 bills and instructions to cremate him and scatter his ashes over the ocean.

Inspector Guthrie said it is believed the bullet fired into Trischan's mouth missed his brain, and he is expected to recover.

Gommo was still conscious when his wife, hurrying from Kentfield on receiving his call, arrived at his hospital bedside.

The tall attorney has only one leg as result of a childhood accident.

He and Mrs. Gommo have three daughters.

NOVATO

"Bowman and Barnwell are putting the screws on the council trying to get their favorite route, the J route," he cried.

"Barnwell, you have threatened me and tried to ruin my business in the columns of your paper."

Barnwell later said he had never threatened anyone nor tried to ruin anyone through the Advance.

Other members of the audience asked for a decision on the freeway route, but were told the council would set a date for another public hearing at its meeting on Oct. 30.

City Administrator J. Julien Baget said council members should have their transcripts of the last public hearing held by the State Highway Department by the Oct. 30 meeting.

The notice of intention to circulate recall petitions charged that "Angeloni continued to represent special interests in urging an extravagant, wasteful, disruptive freeway route."

BOLINAS ARTIST WILL EXHIBIT

"Chris," by Edwin Manheim of Bolinas is one of several paintings by Marin County artists to be shown by the Society of Western Artists Oct. 31 through Dec. 2 at the M. H. de Young Museum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco. Other Marin artists to be represented are Helen Gapen Oehler of Mill Valley and Dorner T. Schueler and Art McWhorter, both of Sausalito.

Lincoln School Board Can Still Operate With Burdell

The Lincoln School District can still operate under a three-man board of trustees, even with the annexed Burdell District added to it, said Edwin L. Blackmore, administrative assistant to the county superintendent of schools.

Burdell voters last week unanimously endorsed annexation to the Lincoln District. All 23 voters who cast ballots in the small Burdell District voted in favor of the annexation.

This was not a unification election, or merger of the two districts, Blackmore said. No new board has to be elected. The Independent-Journal carried the story before the election that the two districts were voting on a merger.

The Lincoln District board gave written consent for the Burdell District to annex, Blackmore said.

The Burdell board will continue in operation, paying the Lincoln District for teaching the children of the Burdell District who are now attending Lincoln School until annexation takes effect next July 1.

A new Lincoln board will be elected in the April elections, according to Blackmore.

Voters in the Burdell section will not be eligible to vote in that election, however.

So Be Composed, You're Not Crazy

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—Do you worry? Have financial troubles? Brood over your difficulties? You are lucky you weren't born a few years earlier. You might have wound up in a mental institution.

In its first report to the Legislature, issued in 1898, Western Washington Hospital for the Insane listed these reasons for commitment:

"Brooding over trouble, death of wife, domestic trouble, financial troubles, love sickness, reading books on hypnotism, sunstroke and worry."

In 1745 when Bonnie Prince Charlie failed in an uprising against the English throne, Scottish clans were disbanded and the tartan outlawed.

Brigham Finds New Job Frustrating Too

When Marvin W. Brigham was Marin County public works director he thought he was the most frustrated man north of the Golden Gate.

Now that he's in private employ he seems to be sure he's the most frustrated south of the equator.

In a letter to Supervisor Chairman Walter R. Castro enclosing a message of congratulation on dedication of the civic center, Brigham complained that his job in the Marshall Islands is rugged.

"They push hard," wrote Brigham, "but seem to do much less work with a bigger crew than we did in Marin County."

Castro chortled and said "I told him so," amplifying: "Down there his company has both the Army and the Navy on top of it. You can't win that way."

Getting men of proper skills to perform the variety of jobs required on his electronic missile project is difficult, according to Brigham. He said they have several native Marshall Islanders but "many have limited skills and all are very slow."

Brigham described his location as beautiful, with lots of coconut palms and other vegetation.

"The ocean is a very deep blue," said the letter. "The water is warm, and in the lagoon schools of tropical fish of all colors and descriptions fill the water.

"The coral reefs are a multitude of colors. We quite frequently go shell hunting on the reef at tide and find quite a selection.

"The weather is very warm, especially now as it is the doldrums season when there is little wind. It rains almost daily but that only cools things off while it is raining. It is also very isolated and somewhat lonesome."

Wishing all success in the civic center dedication, Brigham wrote: "It is nice to know that I had some small part in it. I'm sure it will become accepted by most people and all of the original critics will disappear."

Strawberry Book Fair Is On Now

To allow sufficient time for delivery before Christmas, the Strawberry Point School Parent-Teacher Assn. is planning an early book fair this year.

The fair will be held at the school from 3 to 4:30 p.m. today and tomorrow, 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday, and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Mrs. Russ R. Lloyd and Mrs. Edward J. Smith are co-chairmen. Laurel Robinson, Mill Valley School District librarian, will assist purchasers in the selection of books from 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Paperbacks will be a new feature this year. They will be available in the fields of science, social science and literature. Any book currently in print may be ordered. Books on display will be suitable for both children and adults. Profits will benefit the school library.

History Repeats Itself In Rome

NEW YORK (UPI)—Several years ago Trans World Airlines workmen in Rome were under instructions to dig gravel for ballast for piston-engine Constellations from one central pit in an effort to stop spoiling the site with a multitude of holes.

While digging they uncovered an ancient plaque in Latin which, loosely translated, was an admonition to Roman workmen from their supervisor instructing them to dig gravel for ballast for Roman ships from one central pit rather than the area with a multitude of holes.

Indicted Lawmakers Expect Vindication

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two congressmen, indicted by a federal grand jury on conspiracy and conflict-of-interest charges have expressed assurance they will be vindicated.

Reps. Thomas F. Johnson (D-Md.), and Frank W. Boykin (D-Ala.), said they were shocked at the indictments handed down yesterday, and expressed their desire for a speedy trial.

The jury charged they received compensation for trying to persuade the Department of Justice to postpone the mail fraud trial of J. Kenneth Edlin, 64, of Miami, Fla., and attempting ultimately to have the charges dropped.

Edlin pleaded no contest to the charges, made in connection with the operation of the First Colony Savings and Loan Assn. in Maryland, and was sentenced last April to six months in jail. He also was fined $8,000. Edlin was released last Wednesday from federal prison.

Johnson issued a statement last night.

"I was deeply shocked and amazed by the charges made against me and I am positive that I will be completely vindicated," he said.

"I believe every fair-minded person will certainly regard it as a strange coincidence that such baseless charges should be brought immediately upon the adjournment of Congress and just three weeks before election."

In the November election Johnson faces Rogers C. B. Morton, a Republican and the brother of Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky.). Morton refused comment on the indictments, though other members of the Maryland Republican ticket jumped on Johnson with gusto.

Boykin, 77, also indicated he wants a quick trial, and expressed confidence he will be vindicated. He failed to win the Democratic nomination May 29 after 14 terms in the House.

"I'm anxious for the trial to come real quick," he said. "I have never had a nickel's worth of business with the savings and loans in my life."

Postmaster General J. Edward Day, speaking at a rally in Salisbury, Md., Friday, lauded Johnson for his work in Congress and called for his re-election.

President John F. Kennedy mentioned Johnson by name and called for his re-election when he spoke to a huge Democratic rally in Baltimore Oct. 10.

The special grand jury charged that Johnson, seeking a third term from Maryland's First District, had received $24,918 for his efforts in Edlin's behalf, and that both congressmen realized profits on real estate transactions totaling at least 3.2 million dollars in which Edlin also was involved.

The congressmen, Edlin and William L. Robinson, 37, a Miami attorney, were charged in one count with conspiring to obstruct impartial operation of the Department of Justice and right of the government to service of the congressmen without corruption, dishonesty and fraud.

Johnson, 53, also was charged in seven other counts of receiving specific payments of $17,550 in violation of a criminal conflict of interest. The others were named as aiding and abetting him in the transactions.

The jury said the payments were made either by First Continental Savings and Loan Assn. of Maryland or Robinson, and said the payments were for Johnson's intercession with the Justice Department in Edlin's behalf. The indictment said Edlin controlled First Continental and First Colony.

Boykin's inducements to intercede in Edlin's behalf, the jury said, was purchase by Edlin of property the Alabama Democrat owned in Maryland.

Bail of $10,000 was set by U.S. Dist. Judge Edward S. Northrop for each of the four defendants.

Each of the four defendants could receive maximum sentences of 18 years and fines totaling $80,000 in addition to being barred from federal office.

DISTRICT, CHURCH AGREE ON SEWERS

Richardson Bay Sanitary District directors have approved an agreement with the American Lutheran Church to install sewers for the church and parsonage on Trestle Glen Drive, Tiburon.

The board Monday also approved the Hawthorne Terrace annexation and appointed J. Warren Nute, district engineer, to handle design and assessment proceedings for the annexation work.

Despite great difficulties caused by last week's storm, all facilities held up, secretary Samuel A. Fletcher said. He added that the salt works canal station was pumping to peak capacity during the storm and an auxiliary pump was hired to augment pumping capacity. Fletcher praised cooperation the district received from residents.

$200,000 Asked In Boy's Death

A $200,000 damage suit was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday for the death of a 2-year-old San Rafael boy, who was killed by a car on Lincoln Avenue last May 25.

Leonard John Steers and his wife Wilhelmina Steers filed the suit for the death of their son, Marc Robert. Defendant is Eugene Lackenbach, owner of Eugene's Restaurant at 909 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael.

Lackenbach was turning his car from Lincoln Avenue into a driveway next to his restaurant when his car ran over the boy on the sidewalk.

Ugly Old Piano Produces Some Very Happy Notes

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI) — The old piano was ugly and cumbersome. Its finish was cracked and checked from age. When you hit a key, it sounded like a spoon on a battered dishpan.

Wilfred Tull of Kokomo, Ind., a piano tuner, and Herbert H. Heltzel, manager of a music store, shook their heads in dismay as they started to dismantle the ancient upright to see if it was worth reconditioning.

Inside, the piano was dusty. It also was musty, and the felts were frowsy. And there were some parcels that one ordinarily doesn't find in pianos.

"Someone left a stale sandwich down here," said Tull as he stopped and picked up a neatly wrapped package.

Heltzel opened it and out fell a stack of bills.

Tull looked again and discovered more packages. All together they yielded $9,090 in currency, some of it issued as long ago as the 1930s, some rare coins and some jewelry.

Heltzel took the cache to a bank for safekeeping, closed his shop for the rest of the day, then contacted the former owner of the piano, a widower. Heltzel learned the money apparently was hidden in the piano by the man's late wife "years ago, over a period of time."

"This represented the life savings of these people," Heltzel said today. "He knew the money was hidden somewhere, but he never found it. If we had sold the piano for junk, we would never have found it."

Heltzel said the money was turned over to the man because "there was no doubt of ownership."

CALIFORNIA CANDIDATES

HOPEFUL—Gov. Edmund G. Brown beams between his wife and Earl Warren Jr., son of the Supreme Court justice. Brown told Warren, "Who knows you may be governor some day. I hope you are." They talked yesterday in San Diego. (AP Wirephoto)

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Republican Richard M. Nixon has hit hard at Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown for saying it would be bad to have a California governor at odds with President John F. Kennedy.

"That's the most irresponsible and indefensible statement I ever heard from a political candidate," Nixon said during a three hour telethon over a Sacramento station last night.

"Why was it when Brown was running in 1958 he didn't say vote for Knowland because Eisenhower was president?" asked Nixon.

Brown defeated former GOP Sen. William F. Knowland four years ago.

Nixon — going Brown one better — PLEDGED NO TAX INCREASES IN 1963, 1964 or the years ahead."

Brown has said taxes won't be raised next year but he could not predict beyond that although he believed a rising economy would make new taxes unnecessary.

"I am going to cut government expenditures, without depriving the people of this state of any service," said Nixon. "We will get a surplus that will enable us to get a tax reduction but we can't promise a tax reduction now because we must save the money first."

Nixon gave these answers last night to various Democratic charges:

He denied he deserted former Gov. Earl Warren's bid for the presidency at the 1952 GOP convention.

"As Gov. Warren knew at that time," he said, "I was for President Eisenhower before the convention."

He said he never called Helen Gahagan Douglas a Communist during his successful 1950 senatorial campaign against her.

"I did charge what was the truth, that she was out of step with her party — had voted against aid to Greece and Turkey, against the House Un-American Activities Committee —and that I believed that an individual who had shown that much blindness to Communism, both abroad and at home, should not represent California."

He denied any intention to cut pensions to the aged, blind or disabled and said he has no intention of firing state civil service.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who says he expects to win by a landslide, clashed with Richard Nixon today on the water issue.

Brown summed up Nixon's proposal to cut one million dollars from the State Water Department budget as "the most reckless and irresponsible talk of this campaign."

He told the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce:

"I challenge Mr. Nixon here and now to produce his plan for reducing operation of our vital water department."

The Democratic governor spoke of Nixon's proposal as an example of his opponent's numbers game in budget cutting.

He said Nixon promises to cut spending in one breath and advocates new expenditures the next.

"Here we have one of the most vital functions of state government, the development of our precious water resources . . . and Mr. Nixon says he will reduce operations by one million dollars. He does not say where or how he will make the reduction. He just blindly calls for a 'cut'."

In Anaheim last night, Brown predicted he would defeat his Republican rival by a landslide — his most optimistic assessment yet of the Nov. 6 outcome.

College of Marin student clubs will sponsor a once-a-month campus forum series of educational and cultural events, Ronald Cox, president of the college's interclub council, announced today.

All events will be scheduled for the 1 p.m. "free hour" on either Tuesday or Thursday and will be held in Olney Hall.

"This series is being arranged primarily for the students and faculty but each event will be open to the public," said Cox.

The series will begin Oct. 25 with a panel discussion on "Can Successful Marriage Be Predicted." Panel members will include Celia Walker, social worker with the Family Service Agency in San Rafael; Dr. Catherine Pike, Ross pediatrician and family relations counselor; Dr. Phillip Hicks, San Rafael psychiatrist, and College of Marin counselor, William Scalapino. Samuel N. LeCount, another College of Marin counselor, will be moderator.

On Nov. 8, the Lively Arts Club, a merger of the art and photography clubs, will sponsor a showing of films including "Knockout," a silent movies with Charlie Chaplin, Fatty Arbuckle and the Keystone Cops, and Cecil B. DeMille's "History of the Cinema." This will be the first of a series of films to be sponsored by the club.

MYSTERY SUBSTANCE

Clue To Cancer Found In Blood

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)— There is much more than a mere possibility that the mysterious natural something which preserves most persons from cancer has been discovered.

It is an ingredient of the blood. According to the scientific evidence people without cancer have 10 and more times of it in their blood than persons with cancers have in their blood.

Dr. Edward D. McLaughlin, its youngish discoverer, revealed his persuasive evidence today at the 48th annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

He got his evidence from mice and rats as well as from people. To deal with people first, he measured the amounts of it in the blood of 30 healthy persons, in 22 women who were pregnant or who had been just delivered and in 25 persons ill of a variety of diseases other than cancer.

He also measured the amounts in the blood of 15 persons with untreated cancers, in nine persons with recurrent or metastatic cancers, and in six persons who had had cancers surgically removed and who had been free of any sign of recurrence for 14 months to seven years.

Some of the healthy men and women and some of those with diseases other than cancer had as much as 50 times more of the substance in them than did the persons with cancers or who had had cancers.

Compared on the means of the non-cancerous and the cancerous, the advantage of the former was approximately 10-fold. In the non-cancerous the blood content was uniformly high and in the cancerous uniformly low — comparatively speaking.

One of the most widely held of scientific cancer theories is that there are two factors in the cause of cancer, one which initiates a change from normal cells to malignant cells, and the other which permits the altered cells to propagate and take over.

McLaughlin himself recalled this theory in describing his discovery and what he has learned about it so far. He was not prepared to say flatly this blood substance is the second factor but it was clear he himself was persuaded it might be.

Belvedere Woman Turns Over In Car

Mrs. Ruth Melone, 41, of Belvedere was treated by her doctor early today after her convertible went over a retaining wall and landed upside down in the driveway of the Willard Anderson home at 40 Bella Vista, Belvedere.

Police Chief William S. Woodington reported that Mrs. Melone, en route to her home at 215 Golden Gate Avenue at 3:15 a.m., said she got too far to the left of the road at a curve.

She complained of a sore head and that her legs hurt. "She was scared to death," Woodington added.

Bay Area Optometric Council Is Formed

Formation of a Bay Area Optometric Co-ordinating Council has been announced by Dr. S. Kumata, president of the Marin County Optometric Society.

Dr. Kumata, Core Madera optometrist, said the council will unify public relations and programs of seven Bay Area societies, including the Marin group.

Miller Buried With Brief, Private Service

Rep. Clem Miller was buried yesterday afternoon in the first section of land acquired for the Point Reyes National Seashore.

Brief graveside services were conducted by Dr. John R. Bodo, instructor at the San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo. The private services were attended by R. D. Moore of San Rafael, cousin of the congressman, and a few close friends.

An honor guard of Hamilton Air Force Base sergeants and National Park Service rangers carried flags.

The grave of the first district congressman, who was killed Oct. 7 in a plane crash in Humboldt County, is on a knoll overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

The half-acre site, donated to the park service by Bear Valley Ranch owner Bruce Kelham, is about three miles west of the grove where funeral services for Miller were held Saturday.

Burial was delayed because of difficulty in digging the grave.

Car Out Of Gas Hit On Highway

An out-of-fuel car stopped on Highway 101 just south of San Rafael city limits early today was rammed by another vehicle with injury to both drivers.

Henry D. Schramm of 137 Canal Street, San Rafael, halted his sedan northbound when its gasoline tank ran dry at 2:50 a.m. San Rafael Police Officer James W. Carlton passed on nearby Francisco Boulevard, promised to summon aid, and advised Schramm to get his car onto the highway shoulder.

Schramm started to push his car when he heard a northbound truck approaching. He jumped out of the way just before the truck, driven by Otis Graum of 7 Brookmead Court, San Anselmo, hit the sedan. The sedan's door flew open and struck Schramm in the right hip.

Graum suffered a cut forehead and both he and Schramm were treated at San Rafael General Hospital. The California Highway Patrol cited Graum on a charge of driving at unsafe speed.

TALL BABY, TWO SHORT ONES

Pamela, a mama giraffe at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo looks around at her five-foot, six-inch, 160-pound colt Admiral which was born yesterday. The baby is Pamela's third colt. At the National Zoological Park in Washington, D. C., two other babies (below) are on view. Lulu (right), a 17-month-old chimpanzee, hasn't bitten the hand that feeds her. It's just a glove that dropped in her cage. She shares the cage with Tomoka (left), a 13-month-old gorilla. (AP Wirephotos)

Corte Madera Creek Recreation Use Urged

Former county planning director Mary Summers wrote county supervisors yesterday, as president of the Marin Conservation League, urging preparation of a public recreational use plan covering the Corte Madera Creek project area.

She said that though this is primarily a flood control move there are also public recreational potentials. Suggested were development of the Greenbrae interchange area for general public use and fishing, and provision for public access to marginal lands bordering the tidal estuary of Corte Madera Creek.

Supervisors agreed the idea had merit and referred it to the parks and recreation commission.

A letter from Gene McDaniel, president of the Bolinas Harbor District board, pointed out in connection with possible highway relocation that the district intends to use the Bolinas lagoon for moorings, anchorages and docks.

A suitable access road should be provided, two-lane and with a third lane for parallel parking, he suggested.

Baptists Get Marin City Church Site

Marin County Redevelopment Agency commissioners Monday agreed to sell the fourth church site in Marin City to the Village Baptist Church at $15,825.

The Gospel Fellowship Church and Roman Catholic churches were also represented, according to executive director Bert Klahn, but the commission decided the Village Baptist Church should get the site "based on qualifications of the church which has been established in Marin City for 15 years."

The American Baptist Union has offered to underwrite purchase of the land and construction of the church, Klahn reported.

The commission also adopted a resolution expressing condolences to the family of the late Rep. Clem Miller and noted his cooperation to provide housing for persons of low and middle incomes.

Woman Driver Hurt In Accident

A woman driver of a light van suffered minor injuries when her vehicle rolled over while crossing the San Rafael overpass yesterday.

Helen Marie Robinson Hale of 215 Mark Twain Avenue, San Rafael, was driving south at 1:30 p.m. when her vehicle struck the divider curb, bounced over to hit the rail on the outside, then skidded into collision with a truck driven by Arthur T. Jones of San Francisco, hit the divider again, and overturned.

Mrs. Hale declined hospitalization for minor cuts and bruises. Jones was unhurt.

Unification Urged Of Tam Schools

All elementary school districts within the Tamalpais High School District should be unified, the League of Women Voters held in a workshop committee report last night to trustees of the San Anselmo School District.

Supt. Stephen L. Parodi said the workshop, represented by chairman Mrs. James Compton of Kentfield and Mrs. Loretta Phelps of San Anselmo, believed that breaking the high school district into three areas would make each district too small. Also, he said, Mrs. Phelps reported the assessed value per child would differ greatly if the district were broken into smaller units.

At $1 per $100 assessed valuation, for example, the rate per child each year in the Sir Francis Drake High School area would be $250 while in the Redwood High School area the same levy would bring $440 per child.

Mrs. Phelps said the workshop's report would be presented to the Central and South Marin League of Women Voters units in January for approval or disapproval.

About 40 parents attended the meeting to hear the unification report and view plans for the addition to the Wade Thomas School, Parodi said. The plans, drawn by San Rafael architect Eugene Crawford, include four new classrooms, a multi-use room and teacher's room and students' rest rooms. Construction cost is estimated at $209,782, to be financed from state aid. Contracts should be let in approximately three months, Parodi said.

The board learned the district has sold $947,000 in bonds.

Board members Marin Hedin and Robert Corlett were appointed to a joint school district and San Anselmo city nomination committee for a Parks and Recreation committee.

Architect Promises New Center Schedule

Architect Aaron Green of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation promised county supervisors yesterday that he will submit a revised schedule for civic center occupation next Tuesday.

This was suggested by public works director Donald R. Frost as solution of a snarl created by emergency problems arising last week when it was discovered that some administration building work must be done over.

Green had said the crisis followed a long-standing condition of "an optimistic contractor and a pessimistic architect," adding:

"I feel responsible for the delay caused over final acceptance, but I also feel that this was in the county's interest. They (the contractors) were ready for the furniture to be moved in but I said that anything wrong must first be fixed. . .

Difficulties occurred only in the last week. . . We checked the floors two days before they were supposed to be ready and it was then we found we couldn't accept them. . .

"The county has been misled by checking with the contractor. Contractors are always optimistic; architects are always pessimistic."

"Let's admit it — we gambled," said Supervisor William Gnoss.

Supervisor William D. Fuselman said he thought the board should plan on work by county employees starting at the civic center only after the beginning of the new year.

This met no enthusiastic response, and Chairman Walter R. Castro remarked that "the longer you give these contractors, the more they drag their feet."

Patient Is Moved

Charles Locati, 16, of 5 Dawn Place, Mill Valley, who broke his neck in a fall during a Tamalpais High School gymnastics class, has been transferred from Ross General Hospital to Marin General Hospital. He was reported today slightly improved from a very serious condition.

Mill Valley Commuters Club Say Gate Bridge Still Hazard

Mill Valley Commuters Club directors lambasted directors of the Golden Gate Bridge District at a meeting last night, saying recent bridge changes have not solved traffic problems and that the directors are inadequately serving commuters and people of the district.

"The so-called improvements to the northern approach to the Golden Gate Bridge have actually served to slow down traffic and increase the hazards of the sharp curve," the board agreed, according to club president James A. Bollier.

"They have accentuated the curve instead of reducing it," he added. "The change made in the Sausalito lateral has made no marked difference in the flow of traffic. And the board still doesn't understand what the directors are doing about setting up four-lane traffic in peak hours.

"One-way tolls are absolutely necessary, we think. In short, we're completely disappointed with the whole thing and don't think directors are adequately serving the commuters nor the people of the district."

The board approved appointment of new directors Larry Symmes of 309 Tamalpais Avenue and Jerry London of 629 Northern Avenue.

No New Links In Theft Ring

No new links between major thefts in Marin and an alleged San Francisco burglary ring were reported today by investigating officers who examined loot collected by San Francisco police.

Ross and Belvedere police found no loot which could be traced to burglaries during the past two years in their cities, but indicated they planned further investigation.

Five men have been arrested by San Francisco police on suspicion of Bay Area burglaries involving loot worth well over a million dollars.

Lt. Don Scott of San Francisco police said today no evidence of previous burglaries has been established yet, and police are still sorting and listing loot recovered.

San Rafael Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa said he plans to examine the loot again tomorrow. "We're still making an investigation, and plan to question the suspects with the help of the district attorney's office."

Marin Doctor Rammed By Bus

Dr. Charles D. King of Sylvan Lane, Ross, escaped injury yesterday when his car was rammed by a municipal bus in San Francisco. Nine passengers aboard the bus were injured.

Police said the bus struck the rear of Dr. King's car at California Street and Arguello Boulevard, then careened across the boulevard and crashed into the entrances of two adjoining apartment buildings.

Bus driver James Landers of San Francisco escaped unhurt. Nine of his passengers were treated for cuts and bruises. Landers was cited for driving too fast.

Marin Attorney Wants To Know 'All' In Mendocino Wrangle

A Sleepy Hollow attorney hopes to get two judges and a former deputy sheriff to tell a Mendocino County grand jury tomorrow why they've filled the courts with complaints against the district attorney, sheriff and sheriff's captain.

Alvin H. Goldstein Jr., appointed by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk as special attorney for grand jury proceedings which involve a cast of Mendocino County officials

Scheduled to "tell all" to the grand jury tomorrow are Robert Morton, former deputy sheriff who has already pleaded the Fifth Amendment once; Judge Maurice Tindall, whose court is in Boonville, and Judge Glenn Evans, who holds court in Covelo. The grand jury will meet in Ukiah.

Between them, the two judges have issued four warrants for arrest of Dist. Atty. Frank Petersen, Sheriff Reno Bartolomie, and Sheriff's Capt. Gino Stefani — all on complaints by Morton. The contention is that Petersen, Bartolomie and Stefani don't enforce the laws.

Morton testified before a grand jury session Oct. 5, but after answering some questions took the Fifth Amendment. The two judges have expressed willingness to testify.

Crown Prince Of Libya Will Visit

His royal highness Hasan Al-Rida Al-Sanusi, crown prince of the United Kingdom of Libya, will visit Marin Saturday.

He is to go first to Muir Woods National Monument, arriving about 2:30 p.m., then to the new low-rent housing project at Marin City at 3:45 p.m.

James P. Cavanaugh, agent in charge of the State Department security office in San Francisco, said the crown prince will be accompanied in Marin by Samuel L. King and Cavanaugh. King is assistant chief of U.S. protocol.

In Marin City, the royal visitor will be shown around by Alton Lerch, chairman of the Marin County Redevelopment Agency, and Omar E. McNally, chairman of the housing authority, as well as Mrs. Jacqueline Smith, director of the Marin City program of the Marin Council of Community Services.

Fairfax Unit Asks Questions On Unification

Fairfax School District trustees last night voted unanimously to request a letter from the Marin County Committee on School District Organization stating advantages and disadvantages of all unification plans suggested for the Tamalpais High School District.

The Fairfax district board has proposed its own unification plan which would join the San Rafael, Dixie, San Jose, Lagunitas, Fairfax, San Anselmo and Nicasio elementary school districts. This would take parts of two high school districts. San Rafael and San Jose elementary districts are in the San Rafael High School District. The others in the Tamalpais High School District.

Trustees tabled until their Nov. 20 meeting a request from Mrs. Mildred Kenny of Bolinas Road for payment by the school district for her child's school transportation. She lives too far out for her children to take the school bus, Mrs. Kenney said in her request.

Contractor Raymond Beierle of Fairfax was given permission to move a house from Merwin Avenue across hte Central School yard.

Storm damage to Central, Deer Park and Manor Schools included minor leaks and fence damage caused by falling limbs, trustees learned.

The board will hear an audit report from the League of Women Voters on district unification at their Nov. 20 meeting.

Novato Took In More, Spent Less

The City of Novato took in more money and spent less than it expected during the last fiscal year, the annual auditor's report discloses.

The report by auditors Lindquist, Von Husen and Joyce of San Francisco was presented to the Novato City Council at its meeting last night, from which Councilman Howard Schoff was absent.

It showed city receipts for the fiscal year ended last June 30 exceeded budget estimates by $49,108, while the city spent $45,495 less than budgeted.

Result was a year-end balance of $456,310, despite purchase of Presbyterian Church properties at $62,846 and the Community Building at $93,000 to provide space for city offices.

The report noted some difficulty in tracing cash receipts in the city hall. This has been corrected, City Administrator J. Julien Baget told the council, with hiring of an accounting clerk.

Andersen Chevrolet Co., lowest of three bidders, was awarded a contract for two police cars at $4,613.75 and one two-door sedan for the building inspector at $2,117.80.

The Novato City Council also:

1. Asked County Planner Robert Lagele, who does the city planning, to work with Councilman Lucile Cannon on developing a tree planting ordinance for new subdivisions.

2. Approved job qualifications for an assistant building inspector to start at $583 per month.

3. Continued a survey of job classifications and salary scales for city employees. Members of a council have been studying an ordinance from Pinole, aiming at adopting a similar ordinance for Novato.

4. Referred to the lighting committee for its spring consideration, requests by Police Chief Roy McLeran for increasing the power of two street lights nearest the police station on Sherman Avenue.

5. Authorized the mayor and city clerk to terminate lease of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad depot which has been used as a police station for two and one-half years. The council thanked the railroad for the free use of the building for the period. The lease is to end on Nov. 30.

7. Approved appointment of Charles Joseph, city director of public works, to the Marin County Flood Control Advisory Committee.

8. Approved payment of a claim of $488.52 to contractor's MacHinery Co. for the street sweeper on a rental-purchase plan, and the city September salaries for $11,307.17.

9. Adjourned to Oct. 30.

San Rafael Rec Plans Announced

Natural science classes and a girls' playday are planned this week and next by the San Rafael Recreation Department.

Track and field events for girls eight to 13 years old are scheduled Saturday at 1 p.m. at the San Pedro School playground.

Natural science classes for fifth and sixth grade boys and girls will begin Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. in the Santa Venetia School. Instructor will be Walter Benson.

Intoxicated Fairfax Driver Given Fine

Jerrold Orville Cooper, 24, of 15 Mono Avenue, Fairfax, drew $166 fine and six months probation yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated along Highway 101 last Sept. 20.

Auto Stolen From Gas Station Lot

Theft of a 1954 model two-door sedan, belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Royce Brier of 108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Anselmo, was reported to San Rafael police Monday.

Dave Munro of the Union Oil Service Station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue, said he parked the car in the station lot after servicing it at 9:45 a.m. The car, with the keys in it, was missing at 12:15 p.m. he said.

Polish Up Price On Your Old Car

RACINE, Wis. (UPI)—Brighten your car before selling or trading it and you'll probably fatten your wallet by $25 to $100.

And if you've kept the outside and inside in tip-top shape since you bought the auto, you may be ahead by several hundred dollars.

Those are the conclusions of car care product makers here, based on spot checks of used car buyers in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

Successful Shakedown

MEMPHIS (AP)—The ice cream vendor who covers the Vincent Skillmans neighborhood here belongs to the practical realist school.

The Skillmans' big boxer, Rebel, took offense at the ice cream cart in the spring and did battle with it every time it appeared—until the driver took action.

Now when the bell tinkles, Rebel joins the kids in the rush. The driver hands Rebel a popsickle, compliments of the house. And all is serene.

Car Stood Ground In Severe Storm

BEASON, Ill. (AP)—Marvin Winters went into his yard after a severe wind, rain and hail storm.

He found his car undamaged but the garage gone.

Commercial-Apartment Proposal Delayed By Sausalito Council

The Sausalito City Council last night delayed granting a parking variance to Stanley P. Berney for a commercial and apartment development at Bridgeway and Princess Street until a use permit is issued.

But the council assured Berney's representative, Victor M. di Suvero, that it is in sympathy with the proposal to combine commercial and apartment zoned properties and provide parking access on Princess Street instead of Bridgeway.

Berney plans a five-story building. The planning commission has asked for more data on grades and slopes before granting a use permit.

The variance issue was laid over to the Nov. 13 meeting, when Mayor Paul Micou expects a full council to be present.

Only Micou and Councilmen Michael Harris and Jan Paul Dyk were present last night until nearly 10 o'clock, when Councilman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. arrived.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Reiterated its previous stand against leasing a city-owned waterfront lot between the Ondine and Glad Hand restaurants for $30 a month for parking.

2. Accepted a low bid of $2,015.45 from Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet of Mill Valley on a compact car for the use of police detectives.

3. Granted a use permit to Gregory Leones to convert a duplex to a triplex at 20 Woodward Avenue.

4. Laid over all other business on the agenda to next Tuesday's meeting to devote most of the time to discussion of Sausalito Properties Inc. plan for waterfront commercial and apartment developments on Richardson Bay.

Betsy Save a Fort

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Old Betsy, the single cannon which saved Fort Stephenson, Fremont, Ohio, during the War of 1812 still stands at the scene of its victory.

Sense Of Justice Can Be Inborn

MINNEDOSA, Man. (AP)—An innate sense of justice is an essential trait of a good judge, says retired County Court Judge Walter Jacobson Lindal.

Judge Lindal, who served 20 years on the bench, said that while needing technical and academic education the good judge also must have an inborn sense of justice and of what is fair.

A native of Ireland, he is a great believer in the value of a knowledge of human behavior. "It is an advantage to have been raised on a farm, to have worked in lumber and fish camps, to have been in the war and to have acted on behalf of someone from skid row as well as the president of a large corporation," he said.

Pedestrian, 76, Is Victim As Cars Collide In Novato

A 76-year-old pedestrian was the victim when two cars collided at a Novato intersection yesterday.

Joseph Valin of 703 Alice Street was walking east on Olive Avenue at Chase Street at 5 p.m. Jeack Dick Burns, 57, of 672 Plum Street, Novato, was driving north on Chase Street. Gregory Jan Hurt, 18, of 1188 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, was driving west on Olive.

The Burns and Hurt cars slammed into each other in the intersection, Novato police reported. Hurt's car skidded and flipped onto its side. It hit Valim, knocking him down.

Valim suffered a fracture of the right leg and injuries to right arm and shoulder. He was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato Hospital.

Police cited Burns for failure to yield the right of way.

Hospital Board Approves Combining Aid Groups

Consolidation of the service league and auxiliary of Marin General Hospital was approved last night by Marin Hospital directors.

The auxiliary, a fund-raising group, has handled public relations and services. The league has provided volunteer assistance, such as the Pink Ladies.

Mrs. Fred Drexler of Mill Valley, auxiliary president, said she and Mrs. Allan Gilman of Greenbrae, league president, soon would meet jointly with their executive committees to pick new leaders.

Mrs. Drexler termed herself "very happy" with the consolidation and said she was sure the groups could accomplish more as a single organization during the current hospital expansion than they formerly accomplished as separate groups.

The hospital board also:

1. Authorized purchase of an accounting machine from National Cash Register Co. for $8,600.

2. Ratified award of insurance to the Marin County Assn. of Insurance Agents for $6,403.

3. Approved a tentative agreement with the College of Marin to train nurses' aides under the manpower development and training act.

Venetia Assessment District Launched

Marin County supervisors yesterday adopted a group of resolutions launching a Venetia Harbor Special Assessment District, to meet federal requirements in seeking a $10,500 government grant.

Attorney Philip Assaf, of the San Mateo firm of Wilson, Harzfeld, Jones and Morton, counsel for the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, explained that federal technicalities in annexation of Venetia Harbor to the Las Gallinas district put Marin County in the position of contributing the $10,500 but actually it will simply serve as channel for transmission of the federal money.

Asst. County Counsel Douglas P. Maloney said it was proper to put through the resolutions, but no contract should be let or bonds sold until there was complete assurance that Washington will provide the grant.

Assaf said the cost to those assessed will be $336 per lot and that this had been announced at a public meeting. An earlier estimate of "around $300" was without connection charges, he believed.

The resolutions included appointment of Assaf's firm to be attorneys for the district with Warren Nute, engineer for the Las Gallinas Valley district, as engineer.

The board earlier passed a resolution authorizing the county department of public works to act as its agent in this matter, part of several operations asked by the Regional Water Pollution Control Board to purify Gallinas Creek and San Pablo Bay waters.

Many Have Foot Problems In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chiropody began in the United States 125 years ago when an itinerant corn cutter named Nahemia Kenison treated New England mill workers.

Now there are 8,000 podiatrists in America. Medicine at Work, publication of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., said that four out of five elderly persons and three out of five school children have foot problems.

Barnett Says He Acted Within Law As Court Ponders Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi says his actions in the University of Mississippi desegregation case are based on "what I believe to be the law" and that he is not in contempt of any court.

His statement, issued yesterday in Jackson, Miss., came as the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals considered whether to imprison or fine him. Earlier, it had found him guilty of civil contempt for his refusal to permit Negro James H. Meredith to enroll at Ole Miss.

There was no indication when the court would rule.

The Justice Department has asked the court to fine Barnett $100,000 for failing between court hearings Oct. 2 and 12 to take positive action to purge himself of contempt. It also asked an additional fine of $10,000 a day starting Oct. 12 until he does so.

Barnett's attorney, Charles Clark, told the court the governor did not consider himself in contempt, because Meredith was attending the university.

"I have never taken the position that I have purged myself," Barnett said yesterday. "Nor have I authorized anyone to take such a position on my behalf."

He added, "My position is that I have upheld the law and am not in contempt of any court."

Barnett also said: "My position is based upon the Constitution of the United States and the constitution and laws of Mississippi. My every decision in this matter has been formed after careful and deliberate consideration of what I believe to be the law."

Charging that "Mississippi has not yet had her day in court," Barnett said that if anyone felt "that I have violated his rights, the courts are open to challenge my action in a proper court proceeding."

Barnett failed to appear, and did not send his attorneys, to the Sept. 28 hearing at which he was convicted of contempt.

In another development yesterday, attorneys for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker asked U.S. Dist. Judge Claud Clayton to revoke his order that Walker undergo a psychiatric examination.

Walker, arrested during the riots here, is free on $50,000 bond on the condition he undergo a mental test to see if he is mentally competent to stand trial on four federal charges including leading an insurrection.

The motion was filed at U.S. District Court in Oxford. It said the order for a mental test violates the constitutional rights of the former general.

Meanwhile, Meredith continued his increasingly uneventful attendance at Ole Miss.

He ate breakfast and lunch at the university cafeteria without incident. When he arrived for supper with two Justice Department officials and sat down, four students at an adjoining table picked up their trays and moved to another table.

The Mekong River rises in the Tibetan highlands and runs southward for 2,800 miles, through the Southeast Asia peninsula.

Open Zoning Area Application Asked

First use of Marin County's new "Open area zoning" loomed yesterday when Supervisor Peter Behr inquired of Asst. County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney whether statutory time had elapsed to make it effective.

Maloney gave a go-ahead, but Supervisor William D. Fusselman interposed that the chief subdivision menace to Marin Municipal Water District land lay in his district, not Behr's.

Fusselman then moved, Behr seconded and the board approved a resolution instructing the Marin County Planning Commission to initiate application of open area zoning to water district lands.

The law is limited in its application to public lands which, if zoned open area, must be preserved in natural state.

The supervisors also:

1. One suggestion of Mrs. Eric Moeller of Ross, declared Oct. 21-27 United Nations Week and accepted a U.N. flag to be flown that week over the Civic Center.
2. Decided County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom should investigate further before carrying out his recommended plan of having men of his department draw plans for the new Hicks Valley fire substation.
3. Received notice from attorney A. E. Bagshaw of appeal against planning commission denial of a gasoline station at Tiburon and Trestle Glen Boulevards, Tiburon, and set hearing for Nov. 13.
4. Upheld the planning commission in denying a rezoning application to allow Thomas R. and Elizabeth Griffin to open a new Black Point store to serve patrons of the launching ramp.
5. Approved final map of the Kieth subdivision in the Novato area, and development plans for a portion of Red Hill subdivision in Tiburon area. Approved resolutions launching Red Hill special assessment district.
6. Granted one-year extension of time for filing final map of Lucas Valley subdivision.

In August 1962, the U. S. population passed the 187-million mark.

Richardson Dredging Suspended

A further one-week suspension of all requests to dredge and fill in Richardson Bay was obtained from county supervisors yesterday by county planning director B. D. Dobbs.

This supplemented an earlier two-week suspension allowed Oct. 2 so that county officials might have opportunity to consider planned development of the area. Public works director Donald R. Frost has been working with the planning staff on prospects for developing a scheme.

Dobbs said that "we could use more time still, but in deference to the man whose work is being held up will content ourselves with another week."

George Kappas, who was stopped from illegal filling in July, has requested permission to dredge and fill tideland property.

Terra Linda Theater Will Open Oct. 26

Dion Chesse of Sausalito, who recently played a prominent part in the Marin Shakespearian Festival, will direct the play, which portrays the trials of little theater companies.

Eleanor Gaustad portrays Mrs. Pampinelli, the "leading spirit of the movement," who "discovers" Paula Ritter (Sara Oppenheim) much to the chagrin of Mr. Ritter (Jim Ray).

Others in the cast are Virginia O'Brien as Nelly Fell, John Lewis as Mr. Spindler, Marion Bjork as Florence McCrickett, Al Flower as Huxley Hossefrosse, Eric Wilkinson as Mr. Twiller, Richard Atkins as Teddy Spearing, Dale Beck as Clara Sheppard, Sheila Glover as Jennie, the Ritters' housemaid, and Harry Zwagerman as the stage manager.

Photographers Forming Group

Eleven Marin commercial photographers have decided to form the Marin Photographers Assn., it was announced today by Mill Valley photographer Philip Planert.

Its purpose is "to obtain better business practices for the benefit of Marin professional photographers and the Marin County public," he said.

All licensed photographers are invited to join the association, according to Planert. The next meeting will be Oct. 24, at 8 p.m. at the Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield. President pro-tempore is Ernest Franckeen of Mill Valley.

Courthouse Remodeling Bids Opened

Herrero Brothers Inc. of San Francisco, with a base figure of $23,226, was apparent low bidder yesterday on remodeling of the Marin County courthouse.

County supervisors deferred decision for a week as to award of contract. Other bidders were Neil T. Burton of Kentfield with a base bid of $23,733 and Wilson-Widekind of San Rafael, base bid $26,094.

DeLong Chevrolet Inc. of San Rafael won contracts for two four-door passenger sedans at $2,227.11 unit price, nine passenger station wagons at $2,359 unit price.

Award of contracts on two police cars, with DeLong bidding against Ames Ford, was held up one week on recommendation of public works director Donald R. Frost.

State Says 'Great Imposter' Is Running Legal Boys' Camp

SACRAMENTO (AP) —Ferdinand W. Demara, who won fame as "The Great Imposter," is running a legal boys' camp in California, and the state has decided not to prosecute him because he once had underage boys there without a license.

Dist. Atty. Jack Winkler of neighboring El Dorado County decided against prosecution yesterday after conferring with state attorneys at the capitol.

Demara at various times, using various names, has impersonated a Canadian Navy surgeon, a school teacher, a minister, prison warden and a Trappist monk.

He is now running the New Life Youth Ranch near Placerville under his own name — and it's a legal operation. It is one of a string of camps for problem boys owned by Philip Thatcher of Los Angeles.

Last May, Demara inquired if he needed a state license, and was told he did if he had any boys under 16 years old. There were several such boys in the camp, but Demara promptly sent them home, except for two who had been placed in the camp by juvenile courts.

"You have to treat this case as if it were John Doe, and not Fred Demara, con man extraordinary," said Rudolph Michaels, lawyer for the State Department of Social Welfare.

"If you take Demara's name out, you have just another vanilla ice cream case. We get them every day. A man asks whether he needs a license. When he is told he does, he changes the business so he doesn't need one any more."

FERDINAND W. DEMARA
Won't be prosecuted

Debate May Be Christian Future Clue

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Ecumenical Council's first formal debate may give a clue to the future of Christian unity, church experts said today.

The 2,500-plus Roman Catholic cardinals, patriarchs, bishops, archbishops and abbots are to begin discussion Monday on a new constitution on sacred liturgy.

Liturgical reform concerns the forms of prayers, acts and ceremonies used in public worship, particularly mass.

Part of Pope John XXIII's expressed reason for calling the council is to bring the church into step with modern times.

Another stated reason is to do everything possible, within limits of the faith as Catholics see it, to make it easier for Christian unity.

Most non-Catholics — and many Catholics — object to certain church ceremonials and the use of Latin in the mass.

An authoritative non-Catholic view has been given by Canon Bernard Pawley of England's Ely Cathedral. He has been living in Rome for over a year as the personal representative of the Anglican Church to the Vatican's secretariat for promoting Christian unity.

Canon Pawley recently said, "The picture in the minds of most Protestants of the Roman church at mass is that of a priest mumbling inaudible words in a tongue incomprehensible to the people while they are preoccupied in certain private devotions to make out the time."

Malicious Damage At Model Houses Told

Malicious damage to two model homes in Forest Park subdivision in Novato was reported Monday to Novato police by Joseph Downing of Petaluma, supervisor for Kaehler and Farrar Construction Co. of San Rafael.

Someone entered the attics of the houses and poked holes through the ceilings, Downing said. Damage was estimated at $200.

ONE OF A HUNDRED

Ordinarily, when the powers that be at the factory level summon us to a meeting, our reaction can most diplomatically be summed up as "mixed." The human body is not so constructed to accept unlimited quantities of air, even though it be pre-warmed.

In this particular case, however, the meeting was scheduled in Detroit, my old stamping grounds, and the opportunity to once again flex my muscles before the admiring glances of the home folks, particularly while riding the factory expense ticket, was too attractive to turn down. Belatedly, I learned the invitation was limited to one only, Mr. Cowan, so I naturally prevailed upon his good nature and hitched a ride.

In sharp contrast to many other soirees of the past, when frustrations at the complete confusion of all arrangements quickly dampened any remaining enthusiasm for the program, this meeting was well-planned and managed in a speedy, efficient manner. Individual Thunderbird Landaus were on the ready for luxurious transportation to the first class Dearborn Inn. This trip promised to be different.

The meeting held the following day at the Ford Rotunda offered some of the aforementioned air, but in thankfully palatable doses, separated by several speakers with professional approaches to extraneous remarks, and a welcome coffee break. It was here we learned of the singular honor we were enjoying being included in the apparent exclusive group of exactly 100 Ford Dealers, from the entire United States.

As most of you good people of Marin already know, we at Ames Ford have not been shy about blowing our own horn. But, here, the top brass of Ford Motor Company was doing a pretty good job of blowing a few notes for us. We were one of 100 Ford Dealers out of 6,500 nationwide, who sold 25% of all Thunderbirds. When one realizes over 78,000 Thunderbirds were sold this year, our personal mark of distinction becomes even more impressive.

An extended tour through the Wixom, Mich., plant, where all Thunderbirds and Continentals are built on the same production line, by the same workers, using obviously equal care and concern for each unit, added to our sense of achievement.

It is of particularly personal gratification that our merchandising policy, avoiding the gimmick and the blatant shouting, had contributed to a sales level for Ames Ford that would be singled out in such dramatic fashion. Other dealers represented there probably used other methods to attain their goal, particularly in the metropolitan areas of Los Angeles, Chicago and New York.

We know, however, our customers are not receptive to the strong pitch, and we are confident Ames Ford will be singled out again, for selling in volume in a non-frantic manner.

Giants Lost Series But Won Fans Throughout World

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The New York Yankees won the World Series, but the vanquished San Francisco Giants won the hearts of baseball fans the world over.

They finally bowed to those mighty Yankees, who are long accustomed to winning, but midnight did not toll for this Cinderella team until it went as far as baseball law allows.

The Giants had the potential winning runs on the bases before the bell finally tolled in the ninth and final inning of a season, the likes of which the sport never has seen.

So the Yankees wound up with most of the gold, and some of the glory, too. The rest of the gold—and most of the glory—went to the battling Giants who finally bowed out on a screaming line drive, which a few inches, one way or another, would have brought San Francisco its first world championship.

But it was not to be—because of Ralph Terry, who up until this year knew nothing but heart-break in world series competition. He made up for all of that, however, when he pitched the Yankees to a 1-0 scintillating triumph which gave the New Yorkers their 20th series victory in 27 tries.

"Well," sighed Giants manager Alvin Dark, "they've always said baseball is a game of inches. That's exactly what it was in that deciding game yesterday.

"We came so close, so close," he kept repeating. "I thought we were going to win it all the time until little Bobby (Richardson) speared that line drive for the final out."

"Richardson sure was in the right spot," said the jubilant Houk, who now has won two American League pennants and two series in his two years at the helm of the Yankees.

"That was the only break of the series. We had Richardson standing just where (Willie) McCovey lined that smoker in the last inning.

"If he hadn't been, the ball game would have been over."

Thus the Yankees won again and the Giants who had been battling from behind all season finally ran out of gas—by those few inches. They didn't though, run out of fans. They won their hearts when they tied the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant and then won in the third and deciding game of the playoff. In that one those never-say-die Giants went into the ninth inning trailing, 4-2. They pulled it out with four runs.

"It didn't occur to me that we wouldn't pull this one out, either," said Dark, "until Bobby caught that McCovey liner. All I can say is that we did our best and it wasn't quite good enough."

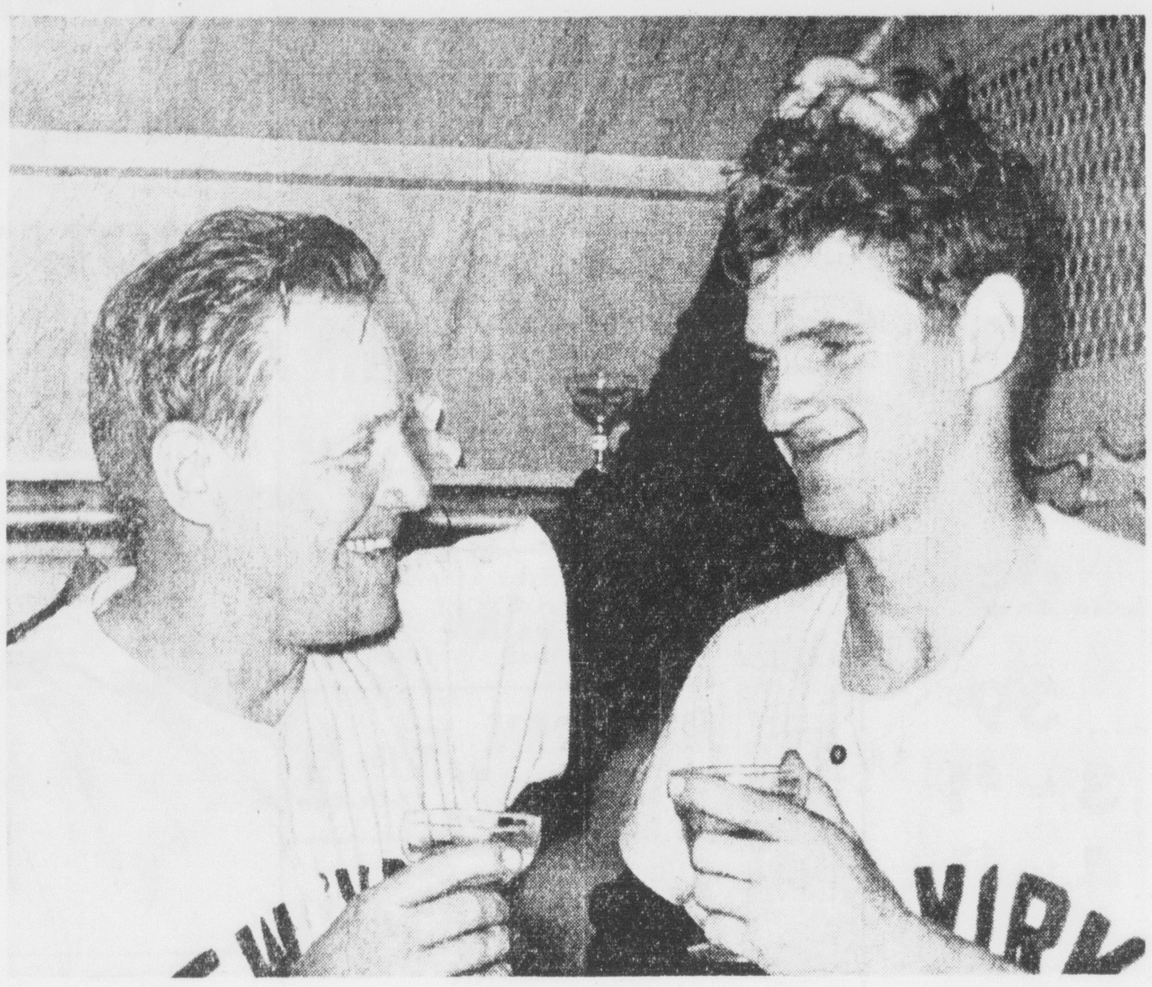
Houk paid tribute to the crestfallen Giants.

"The Giants have a real good ball club," he said. "We were evenly matched. There was just that one break. It went our way. It could have gone their way."

"I can't recall a series in which so few mistakes were made."

What a series it was. It started back on Oct. 4 and took 13 days — matching the longest World Series on record—way back 51 years ago, in 1911.

There had been a day's delay for the start while the Giants beat the Dodgers in the playoff. Then there were four postponements because of rain — one in New York and three here in San Francisco — and there were two days off for travel.



YANKEE JOY — Ralph Houk, New York Yankee manager, a cigar in one hand and a glass of champagne in the other, tousles pitcher Ralph Terry's hair in the Yankee dressing room at Candlestick Park yesterday after Terry hurled the Yanks to a 1-0 shutout over the San Francisco Giants to win the World Series. Yanks Won Series On Great Pitching

The New York Yankees, famed for their slugging heroics from the days of Babe Ruth to Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and Co., won the 1962 World Series on pitching — and pitching alone.

While the hitters, for the most part, played dead, the pitchers—all who toiled in the seven-game series with the San Francisco Giants—were magnificent.

So were those of the Giants, who put up a valiant struggle, grudgingly going down to defeat but not until they had the potential tying run on third and the winning run on second with two out in the ninth inning of the seventh game.

The most magnificent pitcher of all was Ralph Terry, who had been living under a cloud ever since he became the "goat" of the 1960 World Series when he threw a series winning home run to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski in the ninth inning of the final game.

Terry, 26, started three games. He pitched strongly in the second, losing 2-0. He pitched as well in the fifth game, winning 5-3. Yesterday, the right-hander was superb, limiting the Giants to four hits and winning 1-0. Jack Sanford, Terry's mound opponent in all three games, was the loser.

"This has to be the best game Terry has ever pitched," said Yankee manager Ralph Houk. "I have never seen him with better control. He didn't walk a single batter and he had three balls on only one hitter. I don't think he made more than three or four bad pitches all day."

Terry, relying mainly on a fast ball and slider, plus nearly perfect control, easily disposed of the first 17 batters he faced. Memories of Don Larsen's perfect game in the 1956 World Series for the Yankees must have been in the minds of the 43,948 Candlestick Park spectators.

Terry thought of it, too, but his dream was shattered when Sanford lined a single to right center with two out in the sixth inning.

YANKS TAKE LEAD

The Yankees, meanwhile, had taken a 1-0 lead although it took a double play to bring the run home in the fifth inning. Singles by Bill Skowron and Clete Boyer put runners on first and third with none out. Sanford, pitching carefully to Terry, walked the pitcher on four balls, filling the bases.

Sanford almost pitched himself out of the jam. He induced Tony Kubek to bounce into a doubleplay as Skowron crossed the plate, and he retired Bobby Richardson on a foul popup to Orlando Cepeda.

Terry made the run stand up, never permitting the Giants to put two men on base in any inning until the ninth. Pinch hitter Matty Alou beat out a drag bunt, and two outs later Willie Mays lined a double to the right field corner.

BIG RELAY

Quick fielding by Roger Maris and a fine relay from Maris to Richardson to the plate held Alou on third. Willie McCovey's line drive to Richardson ended the game and gave Terry the victory.

The Yankees had a team batting average of .199 and hit only three home runs. The Giants batted .226 with five home runs.

It was the Yankees' 20th championship in 27 World Series since they won their first pennant in 1921. It also marked their fifth World Series triumph over the Giants, who haven't beaten them since 1922.

49ers Ready For Pewerful Green Bay

The San Francisco 49ers are physically ready for Sunday's big battle at Green Bay, according to coach Red Hickey.

He said they got through the Bear game without a scratch and are "in the best physical condition we've known since the season started."

Hickey was not too impressed with news that Packer star Paul Hornung had an injured knee which might prevent or at least limit his playing Sunday.

"Without Hornung, the Packers drop all the way down to Tom Moore and Elijah Pitts," he said caustically. Moore and Pitts are a pair of top-notch backs in their own right. Hickey did add that Hornung's absence would hurt the Packers field goal potential, "but I wouldn't say they were ruined without Hornung."

Hickey was high in praise of defensive halfback Elbert Kimbrough's performance last Sunday against the Bears, but added that the pass secondary would have to tighten up this Sunday at Green Bay.

HUSKIES LEAD IN BIG SIX STATISTICS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Big Six, with a strong 14-5-2 combined football record, released statistics today which showed the Washington Huskies dominating most of the key categories.

The Huskies lead in total offense (308 yards per game), total defense (208), rushing offense (246) and pass defense (73).

Other champions include Southern California in rushing defense (121), and the University of California in pass offense (147).

Red Conkright Is New Raider Coach

OAKLAND (UPI) — William (Red) Conkright, former University of Oklahoma grid star, took over today as chief mentor for the faltering Oakland Raiders of the American Football League after the team fired head coach Marty Feldman.

Conkright, 46, who played professional ball for nine years, had served as defensive coach under the ousted Feldman since the beginning of this season. Feldman was released yesterday.

Terry: 'He Hit Good Pitch'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It's a long way to the top of the baseball world.

Ralph Terry, the New York Yankees' right-hander, reached the high point of the road yesterday in Candlestick Park as a line drive off the bat of Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants rocketed into the glove of Yankee second baseman Bobby Richardson for the final out in the seventh game of the 1962 World Series.

A foot either way, and . . . but it was not a foot either way, and the Yankees won the game 1-0, and the World Series 4 games to 3.

"He hit a good pitch good," Terry said. "The rest was in somebody else's hands.

"I was lucky."

As he sat in the Yankees' dressing room, he said, "what an ending. What a perfect ending, 1-0. That's how close the two teams were in every respect in this Series."

Then he thought a bit, and added in a soft voice:

"This is a personal triumph. It wipes away two years of worry, two years of doubt."

In 1960, he compiled a 10-8 record, but wound up with a "goat" label when Bill Mazeroski's homer beat the Yankees in the Series.

Working in relief, Terry threw two pitches in the bottom of the ninth inning of the seventh game of that series, and Mazeroski hit the second one for a home run that won the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Terry snapped back from that terrible moment, and went on to win 23 games, high in the league, for the Yankees this season.

But he never forgot it. They wouldn't let him.

"I got an anonymous letter from Pittsburgh only this morning," he said, "reminding me of Mazeroski, and saying I would throw another ball like that today.

"And I could hear people yelling at me in the stands, especially late in the game, about Mazeroski."

Another ninth inning, another seventh game, and Matty Alou dragged a bunt for a single. Terry got Felipe Alou and Chuck Hiller on strikeouts. Then Willie Mays doubled.

Up came McCovey.

"I told manager Ralph Houk I'd rather pitch to McCovey than walk him and pitch to Orlando Cepeda," Terry said.

"The first pitch was a curve. He hit it foul. Then I tried to jam him with a pitch in close to the hands. He hit a good pitch good."

Seventh World Series Game Was Loaded With Big 'Ifs'

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One day after the World Series ended and Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants already is looking ahead to 1963.

"I'm as proud as I can be of the Giants, they played great all year," the skipper declared of his crew that wasn't beaten until the final out in the ninth inning of the seventh World Series game. "They played great.

"If a ball club is good enough to win the pennant, I don't see need for any major changes."

Alvin also wouln't use any different strategy if he had yesterday's 1-0 game to replay, explaining, "You'd go crazy if you second guess yourself in baseball."

Yet a matter of a couple feet in two instances meant the difference between victory and defeat in the finale.

In the seventh inning, the Yankees' Tom Tresh just grabbed a Willie Mays liner to left ticketed for a double before Willie McCovey slammed a triple to center. And in the ninth with runners on second and third and two out, McCovey's line drive went right at second baseman Bobby Richardson.

"That's as hard a line drive as a guy can hit," Dark commented in the quiet Giant clubhouse. "You can't hit one harder than that."

McCovey himself, sitting with his chin in his hands, added, "I hit it good but right at him."

The Giants were in agreement that Matty Alou could not have scored in the ninth on Willie Mays' double down the right field line.

"In my opinion, he couldn't have made it," said third base coach Whitey Lockman. "If Roger Maris juggled the ball I would have sent in the runner."

Alou, who reached first on a bunt as a pinch hitter, also said, "I think I would have been out." He died at third with Mays on second.

As the "ifs" were recounted, there was the bunt by Chuck Hiller in the ninth that rolled foul. If it had stayed fair, the Giants would have had Matty Alou on second when Mays doubled. Or if losing pitcher Jack Sanford hadn't walked opposing pitcher Ralph Terry in the fifth, the Yankees might not have had their run. Sanford had struck out Terry six of the seven times he faced him this series, but threw four straight balls this time.

The 24-game winner who had blanked the Yankees in the second series game and been a tremendous competitor all year was unhappiest of the Giants. Asked if he missed with his fast ball to Terry, he snapped, "Certainly that was it. Why do you think I walked him?"

11 Yankees Return To N.Y. Almost Unnoticed

NEW YORK (AP) — Eleven members of the Yankees baseball team came home today—happy, tired and practically unnoticed.

There was no welcoming crowd at Idlewild Airport to meet the predawn arrival of the airliner that brought them from San Francisco where they beat the Giants in the world series clincher yesterday.

Pitcher Jim Coates led the players out of the United Airlines jetliner.

"Woo!" he said, blinking. "It's good to be back."

Then, as the players piled around him and he surveyed the long airline terminal corridor, he did a doubletake and said: "What a mob!" He pushed out his arms at the nonexistent throng, adding in mock panic: "Get them off me! Get them off me!"

Completing his act, Coates then inquired plaintively: "Where did everyone go?"

Manager Ralph Houk said: "We didn't really expect a crowd here. They would have to be crazy to come out so early."

Standing by quietly but tired was the star of the series, pitcher Ralph Terry.

Terry remarked that his day of triumph was much different from the windup of the 1960 series with Pittsburgh when his last inning pitch blew up the ball game.

Coates also recalled the 1960 debacle. "That was a nightmare," he said. "I still can't forget it."

Lavorante Remains In Serious Condition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The condition of Alejandro Lavorante, knocked unconscious Sept. 21, remained serious and unchanged today at California Lutheran Hospital.

Lavorante has remained in a coma since he suffered a brain injury in his bout with Jimmy Riggins.

Griffith, Wright In Title Bout?

VIENNA (AP) — Emile Griffith of New York and Teddy Wright of Detroit clash tonight in a 15-round bout for what may or may not be the world junior middleweight championship.

A state of complete confusion surrounds the bout. The promoters have billed it as being for the title with a 154-pound limit. That would make it the division for fat welterweights or scrawny middleweights.

As far as the European Boxing Union and the British Board of Boxing Control are concerned, though, it is strictly a farce. They both refuse to sanction it.

"There is no such title," said BBBC's secretary, Teddy Waltham. "And you just can't stage a fight and make up a title for it."

Likewise, the World Boxing Assn.—the new name of the National Boxing Assn. of the United States—also has refused to recognize it, but for a different reason.

The WBA has sanctioned the Denny Moyer-Joey Giambra bout, scheduled for Saturday in Portland, Ore., as being for the world junior middleweight crown.

THE BIG, BIG PLAY

This is the key play that might have changed the complexion of the seventh and final World Series game between the San Francisco Giants and the New York Yankees in Candlestick Park yesterday. Giant star Willie Mays doubled to the right field corner where the Yankee's Roger Maris fielded it and made a perfect throw to second baseman Bobbie Richardson behind first, who relayed it to catcher Elston Howard. Giant third base coach Whitey Lockman can be seen holding up hands signaling Matty Alou to stop. (AP Wirephoto)

Detroit Will Get Another Chance For Summer Games

CHICAGO (AP) — The city of Detroit will get another opportunity to host Olympic competition when it makes a bid for the 1968 summer games as the United States representative.

Detroit and Lake Placid, N.Y., were selected by the U.S. Olympic Committee yesterday to bid for the 1968 summer and winter games, respectively, at the International Olympic Committee meeting in Nairobi, Kenya, Oct. 13, 1963.

It will be Detroit's fourth effort to get the games. U.S. officials expressed doubt that the Motor City would be successful. Lake Placid, scene of the 1932 winter games, had little hopes of getting the 1968 bid since the United States had the 1960 winter games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

Detroit was selected over Los Angeles, scene of the 1932 games, San Francisco, Philadelphia and Portland. Lake Placid beat out Salt Lake City.

Detroit was chosen by the 37-man board of directors "after a very lengthy, wearing discussion," said K. L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. committee.

At Nairobi, international competition for the games is expected from Lausanne, Vienna, Mexico City and Buenos Aires.

"With the large European bloc and a very strong plea from Lausanne, headquarters of the International Olympic Committee, the United States may have a tough time landing the 1968 games," said Wilson. "However, I think we are in a position to do a better job than any of the international cities which will bid."

Doug Roby of Detroit, vice presidents of the U.S. committee and one of three American members of the international committee, made it clear he used no influence for Detroit.

"We must remember that when we get to Nairobi it is not the American city making the bid; it is the United States," said Roby, "I am sure that the three times Detroit has been passed up was not because of the city but because it was the United States bid. The biggest argument against the United States has been the foreign exchange which makes it expensive for outside countries to send their representatives."

Roby added that there was a tourism lock in Europe and that he didn't think the United States would get the summer games unless there was a change in world conditions.

Lakers Whip Detroit In Opening NBA Tilt

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Los Angeles, unable to give its fans a baseball pennant, had early assurances that Elgin Baylor and Jerry West are ready to repeat with another Western Division title for the Lakers in the National Basketball Assn.

Baylor pumped in 35 points and West added 30 last night as Los Angeles defeated Detroit, 122-106, in the league's season-opener.

In the other half of a doubleheader played in New York, before a crowd of 8,247, the Knicks edged Chicago, 121-119.

Baylor, as if apologizing for playing only two-thirds of last season because of his army status, connected on 15 of 37 field goal attempts and added five more points from the free throw line.

Detroit came close at 73-68 early in the third quarter, but the Baylor-West combo went on a nine-point tear in the next minute and a half to widen the Laker lead and put the game out of danger for Los Angeles. Ray Scott of Detroit was the outstanding scorer in the contest with 37 points.

The Knicks had to hold off a determined Zephyr rally in the remaining three minutes that saw a New York lead dwindle from 10 points to 1 with time running out. Richie Guerin, New York's high scorer with 30 points, sank a foul shot after the buzzer sounded for the two-point Knick edge.

Walt Bellamy of Chicago was the night's high scorer with 43 points, garnered on 16 field goals and 11 foul shots.

Gene Conley, Boston Red Sox pitcher and erstwhile Boston Celtic, chipped in with 12 points for New York.

Vancouver Whips Seal Hockey Men

VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) — The Vancouver Canucks came from behind in the final period to beat the San Francisco Seals 3-2 at the Forum last night.

The husky Seals made most of the play in the first two periods, but couldn't keep up with the fast-skating Canucks in the final stanza.

Rookie goalie Gilles Villemure again was sensational in the Vancouver net. He shut out the opposition in the club's first two games.

Micholson got in the first for San Francisco at 14:15 of the first period. Len Haley put San Francisco two goals in front when he scored at 1:03 of the 2nd period.

Phil Maloney got Vancouver's first marker two minutes later.

The home town club came out fast in the final period and George Ford tied the score at 21 seconds.

Howie Hughes, picked as the star of the game, got the winning goal at 4:13 on a fast Canuck three-man break.

Vancouver wound up the league's only unbeaten club after Los Angeles Angels bumped Calgary, 4-2.

Ontario Open To Begin Tomorrow

ONTARIO (AP) — The professional golfers' autumn tournament trail led here today for the $25,000 Ontario Open tournament.

A pro-amateur round was on tap today at the Whispering Lakes Golf Club, with the 72-hole tournament set to get under way tomorrow.

Many of the players who competed last week in the Bakersfield open have left the tour, including the Bakersfield winner, Billy Casper Jr.

HEART AID HURTS NAVIGATION

Patient Stays Out Of Air For Planes' Protection!

GLENDALE (UPI)—Doctors want Florence Steven, 65, a heart patient, to stay out of airplanes.

But not to protect her—to protect them.

Her heart is aided by an electronic timer embedded in her chest.

Experts say its signal could interfere with a plane's navigational equipment.

Before the timer was installed she was suffering from fainting spells—in one 24-hour period she fainted 25 times.

Physicians found her trouble: A defect in the timing function in her heart. A tiny, battery-powered device designed by doctors at Glendale Sanitarium and engineers at General Electric Co. was placed in her chest in an operation at the sanitarium.

The battery which powers the timer is in her abdomen, placed between fatty tissues. Mrs. Steven, thanks to the miniaturized device, can now control the rate of her heartbeat.

She has a control unit which she holds over the part of her stomach where the battery lies.

The control's knob regulates her pulse from 70 to 120 beats a minute—according to the activity in which she is taking part.

Bomb Report On Airliner No Joke When Offender Goes Before Judge

By PETER HAYES

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—"I'm a great kidder," said the truck farmer from Washington state.

"It just came out spontaneously. It was asinine," said the young corporation executive.

And, "I was just joking. I wasn't even talking to the stewardess," said the California state legislator.

All of these remarks have one thing in common, they are the anguished cries of solid citizens who have just been informed that they are under arrest and face the possibility of a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

In their eyes, they had made a very small joke. In the eyes of the government they had made a false report.

Such a "joke" involves airline passengers and goes something like this:

Stewardess: "Sir, may I place your brief case in the overhead rack?"

Gentleman: "Thank you. But be careful, there's a bomb in it."

The stewardess promptly informs the pilot who notifies federal authorities who come and remove the gentleman from the plane. If the U.S. commissioner is handy, the passenger is promptly arraigned and freed on bail. If the commissioner is not around, he spends the night in jail.

With variations, this scene has been repeated at least nine times in Northern California this year. Nor is it confined to this region. The Department of Justice said that so far this year there have been an estimated 350 to 375 bomb hoaxes in the nation.

A United Air Lines spokesman said the pattern of airline bomb hoaxes has changed in recent years. Formerly, it was the crank or mischievous teenager who would telephone the airline office and warn that a bomb was aboard a plane.

Today it's the "witty" air passenger who's causing the trouble, he said.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Frederick Woelflin lives on the San Francisco Peninsula and as a result is frequently called on to handle these cases at San Francisco International Airport. He said the government is absolutely without a sense of humor in such matters.

"We have strict orders from the Department of Justice to initiate criminal proceedings in these violations," he said. "No questions are asked."

Actual cases of airliners that have crashed as the result of bomb explosions make a tough policy mandatory, Woelflin said.

So far, the stiffest sentence here has gone to a young Los Angeles real estate man. He received three months in jail because he told a TWA stewardess that two boxes he was carrying contained a bomb and a mechanical lady.

A check showed that the contents were a bouquet of flowers and some Nevada real estate material.

The California assemblyman escaped with a two-month suspended sentence, $500 fine and six months probation for remarking within earshot of a stewardess that he was carrying a revolver and nitro-glycerine.

The district attorney who prosecuted the legislator remarked, "I find no exception in the statute for comedians."

But there are indications of increasing judicial reluctance to throw the book at such violators.

In recent weeks U.S. District Judges Alfonso J. Zirpoli and Oliver J. Carter acquitted defendants. Zirpoli said a corporation purchasing agent did not make a meaningful statement when he told a stewardess he wanted "to take the atomic bomb out of my pocket" before she hung up his coat.

And Judge Carter commented in acquitting a marine engineer: "Congress did not intend every stupid statement to be a crime, otherwise a lot of us would be in jail."

What's the solution?

Woelflin said it might help if airlines posted conspicuous signs in terminals warning passengers of the consequences of false bomb reports.

A newspaper editorialized that a similar warning could be attached to each airline ticket.

"Education ought to head off these 'crimes,' which leave everyone involved feeling foolish," the paper said.

Wireless Assn. Meeting Nov. 3

An electronics expert credited with being the man who built the transmitter used to make the first radio contact between Hawaii and the mainland will speak to the Northern California Chapter of the Quarter Century Wireless Assn. Nov. 3 at Sabella's of Marin.

After an 8 p.m. dinner, Ralph M. Heintz of Los Gatos, a retired electronics businessman, will speak to the group. Heintz is credited with building the first high frequency radio gear for the Signal Corps in 1923 and the radio apparatus for the first Byrd expedition to the Antarctic.

The dinner will be preceded by a cocktail hour at 6 p.m. Members have held amateur radio licenses for a quarter century or more.

Stolen Car Found, But Keys Missing

Dr. I. Igdaloff, who reported to Sausalito police at 8:20 p.m. Monday that his 1961 Austin sedan had been stolen from in front of his home at 148 Harrison Avenue, reported at 8:40 a.m. yesterday he found his car one half block from where it had disappeared.

Missing from the car, said Igdaloff, were his house, office and car keys, which he said he had left in the ignition.

Agriculture Wage Reports Are Due

Charles J. Brady, auditor for the State Department of Employment in Marin County, today reminded employers of agricultural workers that wage reports and disability insurance deductions for the third quarter of 1962 must be sent to Sacramento by Oct. 31.

Any employer of agricultural labor who pays more than $100 in wages during a calendar year must deduct one per cent from his workers' wages and send it to Sacramento along with a report of total wages paid.

Forms are available at the department's audit office at 807 E Street, San Rafael.

Sculpting Materials Stolen In Tiburon

A thief walked off with about $150 worth of equipment from the open air studio of a Tiburon sculptor, who specializes in abstract impressionistic art.

Marr Roy Grounds, who has the studio at the end of Hacienda Drive in Tiburon, reported the loss Monday to the sheriff. Missing tools include an oxygen regular, acetylene regulator, assorted cutting and welding tips, a sparker, and a piece of hose.

Mill Valley Plans For Halloween

Mill Valley Parks and Recreation commissioners Monday night appointed Ray Bell as chairman in charge of the city's Halloween celebration. The event will be for youngsters of elementary school age and will include a parade, prizes and refreshments.

The commission completed work on the new parks and recreation ordinance and forwarded it to the city council, recommending approval.

Ronald Samet of Corte Madera told commissioners he has plans to go abroad in 1963 and, therefore, plans to resign as city recreation director effective next June.

Word Is Out Zelinsky Negotiating With Purity, Safeway For Store

Word is out that Fred Zelinsky is negotiating with both Purity and Safeway for a large store on his property opposite the Boardwalk on the Tiburon peninsula. Zelinsky owns about 11 acres at that point. A large market here would round out the Boardwalk shopping facilities and both firms appear to be aware of the potential.

Reason seems to be the increase of apartments in that area which show signs of going on and on.

Multiple housing starts all over the county have increased phenomenally over last year—notably those projects with five or more living units. Comparative figures in this category for the first six months of this year over the same period in 1961 showed a gain of 196 per cent.

WHAT USED TO BE Gay Pet Shop at 508 Fourth Street, San Rafael, became "Fur, Fins and Feathers" on Oct. 1.

Jules and Ann Gall who took over the store last July have done quite a bit of redecorating. Centerpiece is a large oak tree from which birdcages are suspended. Front window will feature pools and fountains. "Everything to make both the customers and livestock feel restful," says Gall.

This is the couple's first retail venture. He was previously with Fireman's Fund; she was with the California Department of Employment.

DOUGLAS J. COWAN, president, and Lou Concilio, manager, represented Ames Ford Sales, one of 100 dealers invited to inspect Ford's Thunderbird plant and production line at Wixon, Mich. last week.

Ford sold 78,000 Thunderbirds in the 1962 run; the 100 dealers (out of 6,500) sold 25 per cent of them. More than half of them were from California. During the first 10 days of October, 1963, Thunderbird sales averaged 338 units a day.

SAM GAZZANO and Frank George of Redwood Travel Advisors, San Rafael, and their wives will attend the national convention of the American Society of Travel Agents in Las Vegas next week. They'll stop to investigate resorts in the Palm Springs area on the way home.

STARTING SUNDAY, the balance of October has been set aside for the observance of National Thrift Week.

Mrs. Esther M. Dearth, executive vice president of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., notes that only through the process of individual thrift can a free nation acquire its capital to create more jobs and advance its technology.

For the first time the United States is participating with other free countries of the world in observance of International Thrift Day, Oct. 31. This annual promotion is advanced by the International Thrift Institute of Amsterdam, Holland.

MAX MARTIN of San Anselmo will head a joint campaign for traffic safety by civic, business and religious groups Nov. 17 to Jan. 1. He also represents the California Assn. of Insurance Agents.

"With the best highways to drive on," Martin said, "safety is the job of the driver."

Girvan Pecks Hosting Party Before Lagunitas Club Dance

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

Mr. and Mrs. Girvan Peck are entertaining at a cocktail party at their home on Hotaling Court, Kentfield before the dinner dance at the Lagunitas Country Club Saturday night. Because of the World Series excitement, responses to the invitations have been slow coming in both for the dinner dance and Girvan and Sheila's party. However the Pecks are expecting about 50 friends. When I talked with Mrs. C. Howard (Anne) Allen, the club's entertainment chairman yesterday, she was so excited as she and Howdy were leaving to see the last game of the series.

THE GEORGE SCHIRMERS of Kent Woodlands have had an exciting week. Saturday night they gave a dinner honing Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Garrett of Fairhills, San Rafael who have just returned from Europe. George and Lorraine had as their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ruff of Delano, Calif., who arrived Sunday and left today. George and Lorraine have been attending the San Francisco Opera regularly and like many of us, watched the World Series on TV. One of my staff, Barbara Hosmer, was mighty lucky. Her father Dr. Matthew Hosmer of San Rafael had tickets for the series so she saw the game at Candlestick Monday when the Giants tied the Yanks.

THE RICHARD NEWELLS have returned to their Kent Woodlands home after two weeks in Mexico. The first week they were in Mexico City and sightseeing nearby. The next week they relaxed at Puerto Vallarta and Acapulco. By the way, Mrs. Newell's brother, Peter Knowles, and his wife have taken an apartment on Paradise Drive in Tiburon. They were married recently.

THE CHAMPAGNE preview of the annual Art Exhibit and Auction, sponsored recently by the Belvedere-Tiburon Democratic Club, brought attendants from all parts of the county and there were several dinners before it. Dr. Albertine Nash, who was in charge of hors d'oeuvres at the preview, dined at the Dock with Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Field, who recently moved from Tiburon to Woodside.

Judge Richard Sims was at the preview without his wife Dale, as she was celebrating with their son, Robert, on his seventh birthday. The two went to San Francisco to the opera. Mrs. Sims recently gave a party for her daughter, Elizabeth, who was cerebrating her eleventh birthday. Elizabeth and her friends went horseback riding in Novato and returned to the Sims' home in Rolling Hills, Tiburon for a slumber party. Celebrating with Elizabeth were Gail McDonogh and Lana Kinser of Tiburon, Mary Hoefer of Belvedere, Sandra Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Donnell of Sonoma, and Judy Leahy of Los Altos, formerly of Belvedere.

Mrs. Duane Beeson of Tiburon was general chairman of the art exhibit and auction and Mrs. John Newell was hospitality chairman. Mrs. Seymour Whitelaw attended with Miss Anne Ellinwood, who was in charge of ticket sales. Over from Mill Valley came Mr. and Mrs. Peter Behr.

THE Ted Steigers of Tiburon with their children, Betsy and Billy, flew to Southern California recently for a weekend and went to Disney Land and stayed at Disney Land Hotel. The Steigers also visited Ann Steiger's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Amdal of Woodland Hills.

MAJOR and Mrs. Leaman C. Harvey have bought a home in Strawberry. They have moved there with their daughter, Nancy Lee. Major Leaman retired from the Army last May.

AT THE home of Mrs. Ralph Alden in Ross a group met for a coffee hour and to write 150 cards to Northgate members for Harvey which will be presented at the Barn at Marin Art and Garden Center. The center is sponsoring the opening performance of Harvey Oct. 25. The play is presented by Ross Valley Players. Elly (Mrs. Arthur W.) Fiedler wrote me that just about all of the board members of the center will attend the gala opening except Mrs. Russell G. Smith, who will be in Hong Kong. Sending out tickets were Elly, Lillian Alden, Mary (Mrs. John E.) Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Batie (Norman O.) Schwien. Elly said that the group was so excited watching TV—the Giants and Yanks game, she wondered how many Northgate members were invited to attend the World Series instead of Harvey. She wrote also that Alton Raible of the Marin Society of Artists drew the wonderfully relaxed rabbit on the tickets for the opening night.

MORE IDEALISTIC

Cool Generation Does Care, Says Tamalpais Principal

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Tamalpais High School Principal Robert Prather in sketching a profile of the "Cool Generation" at the Awareness Group meeting Monday in Mill Valley used the term not in its jive sense but to describe the adolescent's non-committal attitude today.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting in the home of Mrs. Edmond Gross, Prather said that adults misinterpret the teen-ager's "coolness" as "not earing."

The truth is, he said, that "They want to benefit society and work toward a good life, but wouldn't say it because it would expose their emotions. They are much more idealistic than we give them credit for."

THE SPEAKER made it clear that he was referring to the "good kids—those who make up the greater percentage of high school students—and not the two or three per cent of delinquents that have established the image of the generation."

Continuing his sketch of one of these "elite youths," Prather asked, "Where is this kid today? In danger of being swallowed up by adults who are trying to make him into a precocious organization man and transform him from a critic of our society into a kind of apprentice adult."

LATER in his talk Prather said he would favor creation of a Hyde-Park-like setup where kids could speak whatever is on their minds from soap boxes.

On the other hand, he went on, some people treat him too much like a baby by not recognizing his capacity for responsibility. The real situation, he pointed out, is that he is balancing between the two—in some ways an adult in his ability to do such things as earn money, and in others a child, as in his personal habits.

"It's not a neat age," he declared. "He is like a traveler who has left one place but not yet reached the next place."

OTHER DIFFICULTIES the "cool generation" kids face have to do with the faster pace of life now-a-days and many sources of confusion, Prather said.

"Who knows what is happening?" he asked. "The only thing we know is that in 10 years it is going to be entirely different. The gadget hasn't been invented yet that your sons will be manufacturing." Some parents today, he implied, wouldn't know what modern mathematics are all about.

Furthermore, adults give this "cool generation" kid a confusing picture of what to follow. Here the speaker mentioned the negative influence of such people as Billy Sol Estes in high finance, the Mississippi governor's defiance of the law of the land, and a heavyweight champion with a criminal record.

ROBERT PRATHER

IN SUBURBIA it is difficult to give him a good image to work for, he said. Should it be beating dad on the golf course or what? And what is the use of worrying about anything anyway when the prospect is nuclear destruction, he figures.

These kids don't want to be enthusiastic about anything because they are not sure of anything, Prather stressed.

"This generation seems to be walking on eggs more than any other generation in this century," he said, but went on to explain that this "delayed reflex might be of great benefit in the nuclear age when an overly enthusiastic person might press one button and end civilization."

These kids' lives are likely to be full of Berlins and Cubas, he said, and this might be an attribute for survival.

PRATHER also mentioned the confusion caused by the draft hanging over the heads of boys like a dark cloud.

The speaker maintained that many adults are actually scared of teenagers with their loud talking and spontaneous, uncontrolled actions. "This may be involved with their fear of aging," he suggested, "and envy of the good looks and intelligence wasted on youngsters."

The Tamalpais High School Principal then named ways in which adults can help the "cool generation" kid.

"He has to be competent in some field," he emphasized, "but the trouble is this may not be in the field you have chosen for him. Go along with it, and help him to be competent in some field, even if it is only tearing down an old car and putting it back together correctly.

"AND GIVE him a better public image," was his plea, as well as better models to follow. At present the three per cent of delinquent youth has set the image of the whole group.

Finally Prather said the youngsters need work, and it is hard to find jobs for teenagers and they can't be what the kids call "Mickey Mouse" jobs.

SEW SIMPLE

Garments Should Be Fitted With The Right Side Out

By EUNICE FARMER

"I always fit my dresses by turning them inside out and haven't had too much trouble. Now my neighbor is learning to sew and she was told to fit the dress right side out. Which of us is right—and how can I mark the side seams if she is right?"—Mrs. C. G.

Dear Mrs. C. G.:

A dress, or any garment for that matter, should be fitted with the right side out. If there is any variation in one side of your body from the other, you would be fitting the opposite side by trying it on wrong side out.

Place your pins in a vertical position, with the raw edges of both seams extending. This makes it easier to get a smooth fit if you must fit yourself. After you are satisfied with the way it fits, spread the seam and rub a piece of marking chalk against the pin. When you take the garment off, you will notice the marks will show up on the wrong side of your fabric, just right for machine stitching.

Mrs. E.M. says, "Sewing stiff fabrics becomes easier if you stick your needle in a bar of soap occasionally. The soap lubricates the needle and makes the going smoother."

"I want to make my son some wool shirts this winter and I would like to be able to wash them. If the material is marked pre-shrunk, does this mean washable?"—Mrs. N.R.E.

Dear Mrs. N.R.E.:

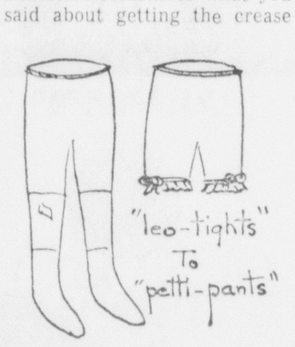
Fabric marked pre-shrunk often does not mean that you can safely wash it without shrinkage. I would suggest you wet the wool thoroughly, allow to dry and then cut your shirts.

Special care must be used in washing any wool garment. Use cool water, soak instead of rubbing, and use a good cold-water soap. Squeeze excess water out by wrapping the material in a towel, and dry it at room temperature. Usually, pressing with a steam iron is sufficient.

Tailor Trix Award Winner:—"A perfect way to use little girls' torn, worn, or too small "leo-tights" (all-in-one panties with long stockings and feet) is to cut the leo-tights about 3 inches shorter than her skirts. Machine stitch a ½-inch hem, stretching as you sew to allow extra width for the leg. Add lace edging and a couple of bows and you will have the cutest pair of "petti-pants" you have ever wanted. Your girls will prefer wearing these to slips. The feet can be used, too, with house slippers—or just to lounge around the house."

This tailor trix award winning idea of the week was submitted by Mrs. Betty Swatba, Cleveland, O.

"I am trying to let down the hems in my children's clothes and can't remember what you said about getting the crease marks out. I'm sure that many mothers are faced with this problem at this time of year and would also like to know."—Mrs. R.D.



Dear Mrs. R.D.:

Crease marks in cottons and woolens usually can be eliminated by carefully rubbing the crease with white vinegar or carbonated water before pressing. If the crease has been pressed in very deeply, it will be almost impossible to remove. Often the hemline actually has been worn or faded, and of course this can't be removed.

Please do not send technical information to Sew Simple for the tailor trix award. Instead, please send any creative ideas, sewing short cuts, etc. In case of duplicate ideas, the one with the earliest post mark will be used.

Surprise Drill Tests Best, Fire Chiefs Say

NEW YORK (UPI)—Why "fire drills" in schools engineered to be fireproof, fire resistant and seemingly indestructible?

And what is a "fire drill" anyway? Is it really necessary?

The International Assn. of Fire Chiefs reports that there are 12 major school fires a day on the average across the nation — including some in fireproof buildings.

The association said the best guard against fire occurring in a particular school involves sticking to a planned program of fire prevention activities.

Step two of the program includes frequent, well planned and intelligently coordinated fire drills.

Younger children, exposed to fire drills perhaps for the first time in their lives, require conditioning, not only to fire drill procedure but to the psychology of the drill itself.

The association suggested that drills be started during the early days of the school term and performed in an unhurried way so that all of the details can be explained to students.

The drills, to be most effective, occur the surprise way.

Couples Dance Lessons Slated

Friday evening at the Adaline Kent School, George and Doris Clifford will be conducting a series of lessons in ballroom dancing.

The "New Student" class begins at 8 p.m. and the intermediate and advanced class at 9 p.m.

The class is open to couples only. Couples interested in attending may contact Mrs. Mervyn Dowd, dance committee chairman.

Mill Valley Girls Ballet Semifinalists

Two Mill Valley girls were among the 30 semi-finalists chosen from the 500 who tried out for the Bolshoi's new "ballet school."

It is to be seen in three performances during the Bolshoi Ballet's engagement starting tomorrow at the Fox Theater in San Francisco.

The girls were Billie Jean McCallum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCallum, and Diana Hoagland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Hoagland.

Both girls are students at the Dick Ford Dance Studio in Mill Valley.

Sororities, Fraternities Seem To Satisfy An Emotional Need

"I have a son and daughter in college," a father writes. "My boy wants to join a fraternity, my girl a sorority. I have my doubts about the organizations. Will you help me? Should I let them join?"

I'm glad to try to help. There are arguments both for and against membership in campus secret societies. One unpleasant fact is that the organizations are undemocratic. Kids are asked to join on the basis of whims and prejudices, not merit. Many of the students who aren't invited are deeply hurt. Fraternities and sororities are expensive. Often, they do foolish things — initiation stunts are goofy, and sometimes dangerous. Parties may become brawls. Certain groups earn reputations for immorality. Many college presidents have tried to abolish fraternities and sororities, and failed. In spite of their flaws, the organizations flourish.

The good thing about them is that they satisfy a basic human need. Experts tell us the need goes back 200,000 years or more. Our distant ancestors lived in a cruel, deadly, hostile world. They depended on their little tribal groups for survival. If they strayed out alone they died quickly. You "belonged," or you were killed. These conditions lasted long enough to create an instinctive need for close group existence.

We all have the need. We enjoy merging ourselves loyally into an organization. We need the support of "brothers" or "sisters." We get a kick out of secret rituals. These needs seem strongest in the teens and early twenties, the college years. It seems obvious to me that fraternity and sorority members obtain genuine emotional benefits.

I suggest you let your son and daughter join. Check the costs. Your kids can earn part of the extra expense, or all of it. Make sure they join reliable outfits, not wild ones.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "How can a parent learn about the reputations of certain fraternities or sororities?" Mrs. C. H.

(A) One way is to check with the college dean of activities. Another is to ask members of competing fraternities. If there is any dirt they'll be glad to spill it.

New Brining Process Now Demonstrated

NEW YORK (UPI)—A new packing process that makes frozen fish and seafood look, cook and taste like fresh can also be applied to frozen meat, says the firm that developed the process.

A spokesman for the packer, Gorton's of Gloucester, Mass., said the "brining" process retains valuable nutrients that ordinarily are lost when frozen fish loses liquid during defrosting. This "drip loss" runs as high as 20 per cent of the weight of the fish, he added.

At a demonstration lunch here, fish fillets frozen by the new process had, after defrosting, the glossy appearance and firm consistency of fresh fillets. Flavor was unimpaired, and "drip loss" measured a scant spoonful.

Synthetic Combinations Are Manufacturers Problem

Like "ham and eggs" and "bread and butter," some combinations are just naturals. But then there are the duets that seem to go together — until they're put to the test. Textile manufacturers are finding that some of the synthetic and natural fibers they combine into one fabric just don't turn out to be problem-free materials.

Technicians in the laboratories of American Institute of Laundering point in particular to a fabric which combines nylon and cotton.

The fabric closely resembles material made of 100 per cent cotton, though it ordinarily has a more silky, shiny appearance. Because it easily can be confused with cotton, quite often the same care is given to the nylon-cotton fabric that would be given to 100 per cent cotton.

But nylon cannot withstand the normally high temperatures of home ironing. Being a thermoplastic material, it will melt when it comes in contact with an iron set at a cotton-linen setting. To avoid damage, professional laundries treat the nylon-cotton fabric as though it were made entirely of nylon. Nylon will melt at a temperature of about 480 degrees. Professional laundry presses are generally maintained at a 337 degree setting.

When damaged by heat, this fabric appears to have suffered multiple cuts by a sharp instrument. This occurs because only the nylon yarns have been damaged. The cotton yarns are not affected by these ironing temperatures and remain intact and in satisfactory condition.

Manufacturers sometimes include the fiber content on their garment labels. These serve as a guide for the care that should be given to the particular item. Technicians suggest that the label be left on a garment so that it can easily be identified by the laundryman and given proper care.

14 Counties Hold Key To Nov. 6 Contest Between Brown, Nixon

By JAMES ANDERSON

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Fourteen counties hold the key to the Nov. 6 election contest between Gov. Edmund G. Brown and his Republican challenger, Richard M. Nixon.

The 14 counties boast almost 85 per cent of the statewide total of 7,531,211 registered voters. Yet, comparing the 1958 gubernatorial contest between Brown and William F. Knowland with the 1960 presidential race between Nixon and John F. Kennedy, they switched radically from Democrat to Republican.

Which way they go on Nov. 6 is the big question.

The 14 counties involved are Alameda, Contra Costa, Fresno, Kern, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, Sacramento, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Francisco, San Joaquin, San Mateo and Santa Clara.

Four years ago, when Brown swept into office by 1,029,165 votes over Knowland, the Democratic governor carried 13 of the 14 counties. The only one he lost was Orange County by a margin of 13,365.

In 1958, Brown piled up a margin of 852,323 votes over Knowland in the state's 14 most heavily populated counties.

Yet, only two years later when John F. Kennedy and Nixon clashed for the presidency, Nixon edged out Kennedy in the same 14 counties by 6,597 votes.

The biggest battleground in the current campaign, of course, is Los Angeles County which has 40 per cent of the registered voters. Four years ago, Brown piled up a 344,797 plurality over Knowland in Los Angeles. But Nixon lost the county to Kennedy by a bare 21,157 votes in 1960.

San Diego is another example of an extreme switch between 1958 and 1960.

In the 1958 gubernatorial campaign, Brown took San Diego by 10,191 votes. Yet Nixon easily swamped Kennedy in the same county by 51,797 votes.

Even San Francisco, a traditionally Democratic stronghold, showed a sharp change in the last two general elections.

In 1958, the 57-year-old governor who was born in San Francisco, carried his home county by 128,983 votes. Two years later, Kennedy won over Nixon in the same county by only 54,733.

Alameda County was another which gave Brown a heavy vote in his last campaign but was much more friendly toward Nixon in 1960. In the Brown-Knowland campaign, Brown won by 104,733 votes in Alameda. Two years later, Kennedy's edge over Nixon was cut to 33,818.

Nixon's strongest county two years ago was Orange.

In the presidential contest which finally saw Nixon edge Kennedy in California by 35,623 votes, Nixon won in traditionally Republican Orange County by 62,834 votes. Brown lost the same county in 1958 by only 13,365 votes.

In three of the major farm counties — Fresno, Kern and San Joaquin — Brown was a big winner four years ago with a plurality of 79,120. Two years later, Kennedy carried the same three counties by only 7,294 votes over Nixon.

For whatever it means come Nov. 6, while Brown swept 13 out of 14 of the big counties in 1958, Nixon won eight of the 14 in 1960.

DR. EDMUND C. GAULDEN
Hospital Education Chief

Education Job Goes To Marin Doctor

Dr. Edmund C. Gaulden of 260 Canal Street, San Rafael, has been named supervisor of medical education at Herrick Memorial Hospital in Berkeley.

He will be in charge of the hospital's internship program, which includes 18 men and women this year.

Dr. Gaulden will also be chief of electrocardiography.

Prior to his appointment, he was in charge of clinical research for J. B. Roerig and Co. division of Pfizer and Co. in San Francisco.

He is a former instructor at medical schools of University of Oregon and Yale University.

State Tax For Boats Protested

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Cities, counties and boat owners voiced opposition at a hearing yesterday on a proposal that the state tax boats as it does automobiles.

The so-called in-lieu assessment would replace the present personal property tax levied by counties on boats. It would amount to 2 per cent annually on the market value of the vessels.

The proposal, which would affect 275,000 California boat owners, is embodied in Assembly Bill 998. A State Senate revenue and taxation fact-finding committee conducted a hearing on the measure at the State Building.

Opponents said the proposal is unconstitutional and illogical.

R. D. Sweeney, counsel for the Southern California Marine Assn., Inc., said automobile owners should be taxed for the use of highways but that the state has spent no money for the use of waterways.

"Boat owners feel they are being singled out as victims of an excessive and inequitable taxation," he told the committee.

"There arises also a question as to whether the state legally can impose a use tax upon boats on its navigable waters. In our opinion, such a tax is probably illegal and could be imposed only by the federal government."

He said the California constitution does not permit such taxation on pleasure vessels.

Commodore Win Unger of the Cabrillo Beach Yacht Club, who said he represented 54 yachting organizations, supported Sweeney's arguments.

Mayor Charles Hart of Newport Beach presented an 11-point bill of particulars against the proposal. He said its adoption would deprive Orange County of $800,000 annually in property taxes on boats.

Opposition came also from the City Council of Costa Mesa, the City of San Diego, the Delta Yacht Club of Stockton and the City Council of Newport Beach.

Two Fined For Drunken Driving

Two men were fined in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Joseph G. Wilson Monday for drunken driving.

Hal Edward Reece, 29, of San Francisco must pay $193 fine and remain on six months probation. Reece was arrested on Bridgeway in Sausalito on Oct. 5.

Paul Butterfield Naden, 37, of Oakland drew $110 fine and six months probation. He was driving while intoxicated along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard last Feb. 26.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

"I am a former cigarette smoker," writes K. G. K. "and agree with your recent statement that the way to stop is to stop. The mental process of stopping was important in my case. To say to myself I never again would smoke was impossible but I could say (and did) I would not smoke before breakfast. Later, I decided to stretch the time to 10 a.m., and then until noon.

"AFTER ENDING one day without smoking, it was just a little easier the second day. In a week the desire was considerably minimized. After almost two years without smoking, I feel sorry for people who are addicted to the habit. Incidentally, one of the things I enjoy most about not smoking is the freedom from wondering if the partially filled pack of cigarettes in my pocket will be enough to see me through the evening."

Each person must work out his own method of freeing himself from the habit. This lawyer found the right one for him. The last sentence in the above letter makes an especially good point.

A 71-YEAR-OLD Brooklynite reads four newspapers and maintains this is the best way to keep young mentally and physically. He writes:

"I am totally deaf, practically blind in the right eye, wear a truss because of a hernia, have occasional attacks of lumbago, suffer from sinus trouble, and have a circulatory impediment in the right leg. I also am an arrested case of tuberculosis for which I attend the health clinic every two months. Despite these ailments, my mind is so occupied with reading about what's going on in this world, I have no time to worry about my ailments."

When the mind is occupied, the individual is less likely to dwell on his own problems. A great editor had this in mind when he sent his daily paper without cost to the patients in a large Chicago hospital.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accomanies request.)

ANGER AND ANGINA

W. M. writes: After reading your article on attacks of angina after getting angry, I would like to clarify a point. Can a person who does not have hardening of the coronary arteries be affected in this way? In other words, could a normal heart react to anger with anginal pain or a heart attack?

REPLY

No, but the blood pressure is likely to go up and the pulse to quicken. You take a lot for granted when you assume that the individual does not have hardened coronary arteries. Studies on young men killed in accidents show that the majority have traces of arteriosclerosis and there is no test, to my knowledge, to determine whether the arteries are soft.

NIGHT BLIND BABY

J. H. writes: Is there any help for a boy born with night blindness?

REPLY

I doubt if the condition can be treated but nowadays night blindness is not a serious handicap, thanks to Thomas Edison. Vitamin A should be tried, however, on the outside chance that malnourishment played a role.

REDUCING PILLS

L. J. writes: I have known three persons who took some kind of pill to reduce and still eat all they want. They would not divulge the secret to me. Can you tell me what these pills are?

REPLY

No. If these pills do all this, I would be suspicious of their safety.

CAP AND BALDNESS

H. G. writes: I wear a cap all day long on the job. Will this protect me from baldness or cause baldness.

REPLY

Not if you refer to inherited male baldness. The only way to prevent this type of hair loss is to get another set of grandparents.

Today's Health Hint — Dry your hands before touching a light switch.

There's Less Spending Money Around Now

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (UPI)—For the first time in months, Americans as a whole don't have more spending money in their pockets than they had four weeks before.

This steadily increasing personal income total had been a comforting mainstay of an economy that had faltered a bit in other departments.

The leveling off in spending money may help explain why retail sales also dipped unexpectedly. And it ties in with failure of employment to rise as hoped in many manufacturing industries.

The Commerce Department reports that personal income of individual Americans in September didn't rise above the August level.

This is the first time in eight months it hadn't risen. In fact, in the 19 months since the bottom of the last recession personal income had climbed each month except July 1961 and January 1962, when it dipped to the temporary alarm of chart watchers.

The September leveling off of personal incomes may be just as temporary. And the annual rate of 443 billion dollars is still at a record high.

Many economists expect renewed increases this month and next, along with a pickup in retail trade, and perhaps better performance by some of the basic industries.

None minimizes the importance of personal income totals in bolstering if not boosting, the economy. This is true both in its current performance and in making the right climate for future growth.

The September faltering in personal incomes was laid to a drop in wage and salary payments, especially in manufacturing.

Even government payrolls slipped, though increases in this field usually go on year in and year out.

Offsetting the wage and salary drop was an equal rise in income from dividends, interest payments and government benefit checks.

The manufacturing payroll drop came despite longer work weeks in a number of industries.

Like most government statistics, the report on personal incomes is put forth as the best possible guess and reflects the seasonal changes in the general economy picture.

Seat Belt Sales Set By Novato Jr. Chamber

Seat belt sales will be held for the coming two weekends at the Novato Fair Shopping Center parking lot, sponsored by the Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce, Duane Butler, president, announced.

Seat belts will be sold, and installed in cars free from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday of this week and again on Oct. 27 and 28.

Measles Increase Around County

A seasonal increase in measles in Marin during the next few weeks was predicted today by the county health department.

Twenty-four cases of measles, all in San Rafael, were reported last week to the department. Only three cases were reported the previous week.

"There is a sudden jump in measles, but it's nothing to be alarmed about," said Margaret Hoff, public health nursing director. "If it follows the usual pattern, we can expect measles to show up in the rest of the county in the next two or three weeks. An increase is not unusual at this time of year and is partly due to the reopening of schools."

Other communicable diseases reported last week included 19 cases of streptococcus, eight cases of mumps, six cases of gonorrhea, and four cases of syphilis.

College Advisory Unit Dinner Set

A no-host dinner meeting for College of Marin citizens advisory committee members will be held on Tuesday at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael, college president Stephen E. Epler announced today.

Fred F. Enemark, one of the original members of the citizens committee established in the spring of 1961, will be program chairman.

Key speaker will be Leland L. Medsker, vice chairman of the Center for the Study of Higher Education at the University of California.

Purse Looter Gets $25 Fine

A San Anselmo youth, who looted girls' purses during a Santa Venetia dance on Oct. 6, must pay $25 fine, remain on six months probation and make restitution.

Leroy Curry Jr., 18, of 90 Florence Avenue was sentenced Monday for petty theft by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court.

Another youth, Monroe Sheridan Stark, 18, of 76 Broadmead Court, who was with Curry that night, was freed of all charges because evidence was insufficient to hold him for any crime.

Shemini Atzeret Set To Begin On Friday

Observance by Congregation Kol Shofar of Sheminj Atzeret will begin Friday with services at 8:15 p.m., when Rabbi David B. Coren will speak on immortality in a sermon entitled "A Dose of Ignorance."

Sabbath morning services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday. Simchat-Torah services and a children's party are scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday. Simchat-Torah youth congregation services will be held Sunday at 10 a.m.

Chamber To Start Drive In San Rafael

San Rafael has been divided into four parts for a three-day chamber of commerce membership drive Nov. 5 through 7, Robert Nelson, chairman of the membership committee, announced today.

A team of chamber members in each area will be responsible for canvassing business firms which do not now belong to the chamber, Nelson said. Individual and team prizes will be given for those who enlist the most members.

Horsemen's Playday Sunday In Novato

A playday for junior and senior horsemen will start at 10 a.m. Sunday at the Pacheco Ranch at 1695 Indian Valley Road, Novato, sponsored by Tex L. Chillson.

There will be trophies and ribbons for all events, Chillson said. Events will include the keyhole, barrel race, pole bending, and gymkhana.

To School Institute

Dr. Bert C. Corona, superintendent of San Rafael schools, will participate in an institute on "The School in the Power Structure" Nov. 11-15 at Carmel Valley. The institute is sponsored by the University of California's education department and education extension.

Window Broken

Eugene T. Baglietto of the Rafael Credit Jewelers, 1144 Fourth Street, San Rafael reported to police Monday that a eight-by-three-foot plate glass window, valued at $150, had been broken Sunday.

PEANUT BUTTER GOBLIN RINGS

Halloween Party For The Kids

The younger set, dressed as black cats, long haired witches, and masked goblins, like to come to a Halloween party in full costume. An evening playing spooky games and eating foods that they can prepare themselves, pleases most young goblins. Let your own young goblin invite friends in for the evening and help him plan foods that can be easily served and cleaned up. Decorative paper plates and cups add a gay touch to the table and are perfect for taking care of a large crowd.

Peanut butter sandwiches, always a favorite, take on a Halloween look. Bread rings, spread with circles of peanut butter and orange marmalade, can be easily decorated with raisin faces by helpful young hands. With the sandwiches, a ready pitcher of fruit punch lets each guest pour his own cupful during the evening.

For nibbling, have such foods as popcorn, dry toasted peanuts, and Halloween candy within handy reach. Popcorn, now ready for popping in its own handy foil package, can be popped in a jiffy by young guests and served right from the container in which it was popped.

GOBLIN RINGS

9 slices bread
1 cup creamy peanut butter
½ cup orange marmalade
raisins

Cut circles from bread slices with a 3" biscuit cutter. Spread a wide outer circle of peanut butter on each slice of bread. Spoon marmalade in the center of each peanut butter circle. Decorate with raisins. Makes 9 open-faced sandwiches.

HALLOWEEN PUNCH

1 (6 oz.) can tangerine or orange juice concentrate
3 pints chilled ginger ale

Just before serving, mix the concentrate and ginger ale together. Stir well. Makes about 1 quart punch.

Use Sausage The Swiss Way: Try This Erbswurst Stew

From a recipe collection published in Switzerland, we gather that the Swiss are devoted to sausage and that the cooks of this country use it in interesting ways.

Bratwurst, made of veal and less highly spiced than pork sausage, is sometimes served with leeks.

A special Swiss sausage made with tongue is added to bacon and ham and cooked with sauerkraut; then all the meats and the kraut are served on a big platter with pigs' feet.

Knackwurst is used in Erbswurst Stew. According to Webster, Erbswurst is a seasoned pea flour, marketed in parchment rolls, used for making soup. Now that a Swiss-style soup mix, including green split pea flour, is available here, you may wish to try using it to prepare Erbswurst Stew in your own kitchen. Tested at our house, the dish was liked immensely.

This recipe for Erbswurst Stew includes chunks of fresh celery and carrot and a sliced onion. It's a great dish for a quick and hearty lunch. It's also fine for Sunday night supper, especially if you follow it with apple pancakes. We are told this stew and pancake combination is popular in the central and northern parts of Switzerland where the cooking is close to that of Bavaria and Austria.

ERBSWURST STEW

1 envelope smoky green pea soup mix
2½ cups water
3 carrots
2 large ribs celery
1 small onion, sliced
4 knackwurst

Empty soup mix into a large saucepan; gradually stir in the water. Pare carrots, quarter lengthwise and cut into 1-inch pieces — there should be about 1½ cups. Cut celery into thin crosswise pieces—there should be about ¾ cup. Add carrots, celery and onion to soup. Bring to a boil, stirring occasionally; reduce heat; partially cover and simmer 10 minutes. Cut the knackwurst into thin crosswise slices and add to soup; simmer 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Festive Shrimp Dish

To most of us, "cacciatore" means a chicken dish with tomatoes and onions. But to the connoisseur of Italian food, it is the term for foods prepared quite simply, "Hunter's Style."

In honor of the shrimp fiesta month, October, the Shrimp Assn. of the Americas has combined the famous cacciatore sauce with succulent shrimp to make a festive party dish. To complete the Italian-style menu, you might serve shrimp cacciatore with thick slices of Italian bread, a tossed green salad with oil and vinegar dressing, and chianti, with tortoni or spumoni for dessert accompanied by Expresso coffee.

SHRIMP CACCIATORE

2 pounds fresh or frozen shrimp
⅓ cup olive oil (or other fat)
½ cup minced onion
½ cup minced green pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
½ cup red New York State wine
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon allspice
1 bay leaf, crumbled
¼ teaspoon thyme
Dash cayenne pepper

Shell and devein shrimp. Cook 3 to 5 minutes in simmering water. Then heat olive oil in large skillet. Add onion, green pepper and garlic; cook gently, stirring occasionally, until onion is tender. Then add remaining ingredients. Simmer rapidly, uncovered, twenty minutes. Add cooked shrimp and heat through. Serve with spaghetti, rice or toasted croutons. Makes 6 servings.

Use Green Apples In Swiss Pancakes

Use tart green apples in these Swiss pancakes.

SWISS APPLE PANCAKES

2 eggs
1 cup milk
¼ cup light corn syrup
1¼ cups sifted flour
6 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine
2 medium apples (cored and sliced thin)
Extra-fine granulated sugar

Beat eggs slightly; add milk and corn syrup and beat to blend. Add flour; beat gently until smooth. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in a large skillet over medium-low heat. Pour batter for a few pancakes into skillet, using about ¼ cup for each. Top each pancake with apple slices. Cook, turning once, until lightly browned on both sides. Place on heat-resistant platter, apple side up; sprinkle with sugar; roll up. Keep warm in a very low oven. Prepare remaining pancake batter and apples the same way, adding butter to skillet as needed. Sprinkle with sugar before serving. Makes 4 servings—2 large pancakes per portion.

Ginger Ale Surprise For All The Family

Small fry, teen-agers and older folk will all enjoy this refreshing summer drink.

Ginger Ale Surprise Cookies

GINGER ALE SURPRISE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate
Seedless grapes
Ginger ale (chilled)

Dilute orange juice according to can directions; pour into 2 ice-cub trays; put a couple of grapes in each small section of the trays; freeze. At serving time, place 2 or 3 orange-juice ice cubes in each glass and fill with ginger ale. Stir vigorously; serve with iced-tea spoons.

Tokay Tricks

Sherbets take on added refreshing quality when Flame Tokay grapes, halved and seeded, are stirred into them. Soften the sherbet, then add the grapes and return to freezer. Serve garnished with a tiny bunch of "frosted" Tokays. Wash grapes and drain well on paper towels; when almost dry, dust with sifted powdered sugar.

Good Custard Has Inviting Quality

Much as we love fancy cakes and pies, a rich mellow custard remains one of the most endearing desserts. Like a fragrant cup of coffee, a good custard has an inviting quality about it. This is why it seems so suitable for that most hospitable of parties, the kaffeeklatsch.

This coffee doughnut custard is one of the dressier varieties. Cinnamon doughnuts are floated on top and baked into the delicious coffee-flavored custard. For party fanciness, you can rim the custard with whipped cream just before you pour the steaming coffee.

COFFEE DOUGHNUT CUSTARD

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2½ cups milk, scalded
2½ cups strong coffee
⅔ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg
2 teaspoons vanilla
8 packaged cinnamon doughnuts

Melt butter. Combine with eggs, milk, coffee, sugar, salt, nutmeg and vanilla. Stir until sugar dissolves. Pour into buttered 2-quart casserole. Float doughnuts on top. Set casserole in pan of hot water. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour, or until knife inserted near edge comes out clean. Chill. Makes 8 servings.

RASPBERRY SUNDAY CAKE

Angel food with a baked-in pink layer and all-the-way-through raspberry flavor is not only possible, it's easy with new Raspberry Sundae Angel Food Cake Mix. A packet of pink swirling mixture is included in the package.

This Meringue Beats All Others

THERE ARE lots of wonderful dishes in the world. The trick is to find accurate recipes for them that a home cook can follow.

One of my best recipe scouts, my sister Phyllis, discovered one of the loveliest of soft meringue desserts at a New York restaurant where she often lunches. Lucky the day the recipe was printed on the back of the restaurant's menu! My sister tried the rule at home, cutting it in half to serve six, and early last spring we gave her version of it.

NOW WE'VE made a few other changes, practical for home use, in the rule—but the flavor and texture are the same. The original recipe suggested frozen strawberries and whipped cream as the accompaniment for the meringue. Phyllis omits the cream, and serves her meringue with fresh orange sections—a throwback to the way the famous Schaum Torte was offered in our home when we were young.

I stick to the frozen strawberries, sometimes making them into a sauce. The whipped cream I, too, find superfluous.

WE CONSIDER this an economical dessert because it uses leftover or what Phyllis calls "sneaked" egg whites. When she scrambles eggs for her family, she sometimes leaves out a white and "sneaks" it into a small screw-top jar. Then as other egg whites are leftover or "sneaked," she adds them to the jar. Tightly covered and refrigerated, the egg whites keep safely for a week to 10 days. So it's easy to save the half-cup of whites (usually four) needed for this recipe.

MELLOW MERINGUE

- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅓ cup flaked coconut
- ½ cup (4 large) egg whites
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

In a small saucepan, scald ¾ cup milk. Gradually stir the remaining ¼ cup cold milk into cornstarch, keeping smooth; mix into scalded milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened; remove from heat. Stir in sugar, salt and coconut; cool slightly. Beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff straight peaks form when beater is slowly withdrawn. Fold in cooled sauce and vanilla. Turn into an ungreased 8-inch round cake pan. Place in a pan of hot water, having water come half way up side of cake pan. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven until puffed and lightly browned—30 to 35 minutes. Cool. Serve with Strawberry Sauce. Makes 6 servings.

NOTE: Dessert will not come to the top of the regular American layer-cake pan suggested in recipe. It will fill a French cake pan that is 8¾ inches across and ¾ inch deep.

Delicious Roast Prepared The Southern Way

An economical cut of beef makes a delicious roast when prepared this New Orleans way.

Roast Beef a la Lucie
Oven Potatoes Broccoli
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Peach Cake Beverage

ROAST BEEF A LA LUCIE

- 2¼ pounds rolled larded eye-round beef
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 1 scallion (green onion), chopped
- 1 tiny clove garlic, minced

Mix together the salt, pepper, mustard, Worcestershire, vinegar, onion and garlic. Place meat in mixture, spreading it over surface. Allow to stand several hours or overnight; baste as often as you like with the small amount of marinade. Let meat come to room temperature if it has been in refrigerator; remove from marinade; roast on a rack in a shallow pan in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour. Allow to stand in a warm place about 10 minutes; cut away strings; slice thin. Ends of beef should be slightly pink, center quite rare.

Fruit Muffins

Tiny "Muffin Jewels" with a sugar-glaze topping are delightful treats for a leisurely vacation-time breakfast. Prepare your easiest muffin batter. Gently fold in well-drained canned fruit cocktail. Spoon into small muffin cups. Dip sugar cubes in syrup from canned fruit cocktail and pop on top of each muffin before baking.

Culinary Taste Progresses To Include Poached Fruits

American culinary taste is progressing! We're beginning to be enthusiastic about the poached fruits so much appreciated abroad.

Among the fruits that take to this treatment is the Bartlett pear.

Ever try Pear Melba? This, of course, is stolen from the peach dessert originated by Escoffier. For Pear Melba, perch a poached pear half atop a scoop of vanilla ice cream and serve with a raspberry sauce. To make the sauce, thaw a package of frozen red raspberries in sugar syrup and rub them through a fine strainer to get rid of seeds. (If your strainer hasn't an extremely fine mesh, line it with cheesecloth.) Bring the raspberry puree to a boil and then simmer until just thickened, about 5 minutes; cool and chill.

HOW ABOUT Pear Helene? The version we have served to guests, with much applause, goes like this. Surround a mold of vanilla and coffee ice cream with poached pear halves and pass chocolate sauce.

Another delight: poach pear halves just before serving, adding lemon rind to a light sugar syrup; offer these with a drift of whipped cream. The delicate flavor of the pear, accented by the lemon, seems to come through perfectly when the pears are hot.

TEAM POACHED pears with white raisins soaked in sherry and you'll never regret it.

Poached pears are also fine to serve as a garnish with meats. Fill the cavities of the pear halves with whole cranberry sauce (out of a can) and garnish with sprigs of mint.

Here's a recipe we like for poaching Bartlett pear halves in an orange-flavored syrup to serve "as is" or with a Chinese-type embellishment.

PEAR VARIETY

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ½ cup orange juice
- 4 Bartlett pears

In a wide medium-sized saucepan, stir together the sugar, water, orange rind and juice over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to simmering. Pare pears, leaving stems on. Add pears to simmering syrup; cook gently, turning often, until pears are tender when pierced with a fork—about 20 minutes. Remove pears with a slotted spoon. There should be about 1½ cups syrup; gently boil syrup to reduce to about 1 cup. Pour syrup over pears; cool and chill.

Variation: Add slivered preserved ginger to pears and syrup; serve with Chinese tea. Delicious!

Note: It's important to use ripe but firm pears for poaching so the cooked fruit will have good texture. Don't overcook!

Peachy Russe

An individual "Charlotte Russe" is elegant and quite simple to prepare. Fit one round of pound cake into each custard cup or other serving dish. Stand lily fingers, cut into halves, around edges. Top cake with a dollop of whipped cream and crown with a golden canned cling peach half, cupside down.

Icebox Cake Goes Modern

Look what's gone streamlined! That belle of the '20s—Icebox Cake.

This scrumptious dessert probably made its first American appearances when ice chests began to be a standard part of our kitchen equipment. Then when the '20s rolled around, it really had its heyday. Its antecedents were undoubtedly the Austrian and German torten—cake desserts of a rich variety, according to Webster.

FAVORITE of all icebox cakes of the '20s was a chocolate version. For this lady fingers were used to line a spring form, then more of the "fingers" were alternated with a filling of chocolate, eggs and butter or cream (or both). This glorious concoction went into the icebox to chill overnight, so it would be ready to cut beautifully for a next-day party.

Now comes a quick-and-easy version of chocolate icebox cake, a culinary beauty of the '60s. Made from lady fingers, the dark sweet variety of packaged chocolate pudding plus whipped cream, we found it delicious: Because not all kitchens boast spring forms, we made this dessert in a regular loaf pan so it could be turned out.

MODERN CHOCOLATE ICEBOX CAKE

- 1 package (3 ounces) dark sweet chocolate pudding
- 1½ cups milk
- 2 to 3 packages (3 ounces each) lady fingers
- 1 cup heavy cream

Follow package directions for making pudding, using the 1½ cups milk instead of the 2 cups called for. Pour pudding into a bowl; place waxed paper or saran directly over entire surface of pudding; refrigerate about one hour. Line bottom and sides of a loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches) with 2 crossed strips of waxed paper. Now line bottom and sides of pan with some of the split lady fingers. Stir the chilled pudding to soften. Whip cream until stiff; fold into stirred pudding. Pour half of pudding-cream mixture into pan. Arrange split lady fingers on top. Pour in remaining pudding. Top with lady fingers. Refrigerate overnight. Snip off any protruding tops of lady fingers at sides so they are even with top layer. Invert on serving plate; remove waxed paper. Serve with extra whipped cream if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Corn, Tomato Scramble A Popular Dish

Fresh vegetables plus stewed tomatoes from the pantry shelf make a dish that is usually popular.

Hamburgers Mashed Potatoes
Corn and Tomato Scramble
Fresh Peach Pie Beverage

CORN AND TOMATO SCRAMBLE

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 medium onion (cut into thin strips)
- 2 cups diced celery
- ½ cup diced green pepper
- 1½ cups corn kernels (cut from 3 large fresh cobs)
- 1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon tomato seasoning

In a large skillet melt the butter; add onion, celery and green pepper and cook gently until wilted; stir in corn. Add tomatoes, salt, pepper and tomato seasoning; simmer 10 to 20 minutes. Serve in sauce dishes if you like. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pre-Made Casserole Perfect For Buffet

Friends give us recipes for dishes they have enjoyed serving at buffet suppers and we pass these along.

Recently one hostess found herself facing a last-minute supper party for her newly-married daughter's in-laws, and a chicken-and-rice dish was concocted to serve 12 to 16. We call this recipe a "morning casserole" because our friend prepared it the morning of her supper. Then she refrigerated the dish and heated it in the oven an hour before serving.

WE'RE GIVING you the original large recipe in case you, too, have to feed a crowd. When we tried the dish we were counting on only six to eight guests to feed, so we halved the amounts.

As an extra with the casserole at our supper, we had sliced smoked tongue. With the tongue we offered a variety of mustards—the regular American kind in both brown and yellow versions, Dijon (from France and sharp), and Bahama-type (a sweet brown mixture).

A HUGE salad of water cress, chicory, escarole and romaine plus paper-thin slices of cucumber, a bowl of tiny tomatoes, and a basket of hot buttered rolls were our accompaniment to the casserole and tongue. And for a no-preparation dessert we found ice cream and an on-hand sauce the perfect answer.

As an alternate menu, we suggest cooked green peas with the casserole, followed by a salad of water cress (or other greens) orange slices or segments, and French dressing. Dessert might be a filled and frosted layer cake—angelfood or another variety.

BIG CHICKEN AND RICE CASSEROLE

- 3 whole broiler-fryers
- 2 cups water
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
- 2 bay leaves
- 3 sprigs parsley
- 1 cup coarsely cut celery tops
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 2 cups converted-type rice (cooked)
- 1 pint commercial sour cream
- 1 package (1½ ounces) dehydrated onion soup mix Mushroom garnish

In a deep kettle bring to a boil, covered, the chickens in water with salt, monosodium glutamate, bay leaves, parsley and celery tops. Simmer until tender. Strain chicken from broth. Measure broth and, if necessary, boil until reduced to 1½ cups; mix with undiluted mushroom soup; turn into a 4-quart casserole. Skin chicken; remove it from bone; cut into large fork-size pieces; add to casserole with cooked rice, sour cream and onion soup mix; mix well. Refrigerate. One hour before serving place in a moderate (350 degrees) oven and bake, uncovered, 50 minutes. Add mushroom garnish. Makes 12 to 16 servings. Mushroom garnish: Drain one 6-ounce can of mushrooms and wrap in foil, using a drugstore fold. About 30 minutes before casserole is heated, place foil-packaged mushrooms in oven to heat. At serving time place mushrooms around edge of chicken casserole and top each one with a tiny pimiento cut-out; sprinkle center with minced parsley.

Luncheon Tip

Want to add a dash of variety to the children's school lunch? Spread pimiento cheese generously on slices of whole wheat bread. Top with 5 or 6 whole Norway sardines. Cover with bread slices spread evenly with butter. Cut into quarters for easy handling.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

No Need To Give Greater Power To Appeals Boards

Two propositions facing you on the Nov. 6 ballot would turn over greater power to appeals boards.

Proposition 15 is designed for large counties, those with populations of more than 400,000 persons. Its purpose is to reduce the work load of the supervisors by taking the problems of property taxation equalization off their hands

It would provide for the creation of tax appeal boards to act as boards of equalization within counties. They would be given power to raise or lower appraisals on property in the same manner as the supervisors now do it.

Unfortunately this measure is so loosely drawn it gives no indication of qualification, method of selection of members, their term of office, removal or discontinuance of the boards. This would be done by the legislature at some later date.

In the big counties particularly, and sometimes in one of Marin's size, the problem of equalization is extensive and time consuming for the supervisors. But we oppose the idea of taking something so vital and personal to individual taxpayers out of the hands of elected representatives and placed in the hands of appointees.

Vote NO on Proposition 15.

PROPOSITION 18 is designed to increase the power of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board. It would make the board more independent of the governor by giving its members 4-year terms, rather than serving at the will of the governor. It also would give the board the power to delve deep into the background of an appealed case.

Although designed to reduce the number of cases going from the appeals board to the courts, it appears to us that this is, in effect, substituting an intermediate judicial review of a liquor violation decision by a board which may or may not have judicial qualifications. It seems to us unnecessary to establish such a new and all-powerful board.

Vote NO on Proposition 18.

PROPOSITION 9 is a bookkeeping proposition authorizing the setting up of one fund in the state treasury for paying off state bond issues. At present there are as many funds as there are bond issues outstanding.

We favor getting all the funds together where we can look at them all at one time.

Vote YES on Proposition 9.

LEARNED HER LESSON WELL

A 12-year-old girl put into practice a lesson learned in school when a tornado struck her house. As a result, her five brothers and sisters are alive today.

Their mother was several blocks away shopping when the windstorm approached their Waterbury, Conn., home.

After the girl herded the younger ones into the cellar, she and her older sister opened all the windows in the house to reduce the chance of injury from broken glass. This was something they had learned in school.

Damage was extensive but, when their mother struggled home through the rubble-strewn street, she found all her children safely huddled in the basement.

The purpose of any education—whether in coping with a tornado or in learning how to strengthen the fabric of society, is to put to use what one has learned.

God will bless your efforts if you employ constructively your acquirements of mind, heart and soul for others.

Office Vine May Produce Some Sour Grapes But It Fills Need

NEW YORK (AP)—Does the company president wear a hairpiece?

Is the executive vice president dating his secretary on the side?

Will the firm give a Christmas bonus this year? Are there plans to move the company to a new city?

Such rumors and reports constantly circulate on "the office grapevine," that unofficial escalator of truth, gossip and wild misinformation which operates in every business organization having more than three employees.

The office grapevine has somewhat the stature of astrology. Most people deny they believe in it, but they are more than willing to hear what it has to say—particularly if it affects them.

For years industrial leaders have regarded the office grapevine as a disturbing nuisance, and some have sought ways to stamp it out—only to find it has more roots than a poison ivy plant.

Now a social scientist arises to say that "is the most disastrous mistake an executive can make."

Defending the office grapevine as more of a boon than a bane is Dr. Hideya Kumata, Michigan State University sociologist.

"Productivity is greater when there is no grapevine, but is it worth it to sacrifice the employees' identification with the company's aims?" he told a recent leadership conference.

"BY ATTEMPTING to stamp out the office grapevine, you destroy morale."

Dr. Kumata then gave this helpful hint to executives: Make positive use of the existing grapevine by passing on their own ideas to "opinion leaders" within the office.

THE GRAPEVINE isn't restricted to business firms. It is a characteristic of all social organizations.

You will find it in every army, fraternal lodge, monastery, Boy Scout camp, classroom or P-TA.

Whether the grapevine is right or wrong makes no real difference. As long as people like to guess and speculate about possibilities, the grapevine will continue to grow and spread its mixed burden of suspicion, hearsay and truth.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Replying to Leo M. Smith's letter to the editor appearing in your Wednesday, Oct. 10 edition, I wish to point out that it is quite obvious that Mr. Smith lives in the area of the "J" route (for the Novato freeway). His feelings are natural and understandable. People adversely affected quite naturally try to shift their adversity onto others. In a decision of this nature someone always gets hurt.

It is the responsibility of the Highway Commission to weigh all considerations, engineering, community values, etc., and come up with a decision favorable to the majority of the citizens, both local and statewide. The state highway engineer has already recommended the "J" route to the Highway Commission.

I think it is unfair, however, for Mr. Smith to reflect on the character of our businessmen, the Junior and Senior Chambers, for a congested traffic condition existing on Highway 101 not of their own making. The delays in a decision affecting the condition referred to certainly do not lie within the province of those accused by Mr. Smith. On the contrary, the accused have been striving for an early decision to alleviate the situation and clear the way for an orderly development of the community.

Mr. Smith, the people certainly "do have a voice in a major issue" such as this one. They certainly have been heard, too. In an impartial 25 per cent community attitude survey conducted over the entire area by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the results were an overwhelming 70 per cent of the people, including those directly affected and those not affected, wanting the freeway moved out of the downtown area. In addition, petition signatures of 2,226 residents of our city indicated their preference for removal of the freeway from its present route.

On your side of the picture, Mr. Smith, the opposition in your area came up with a protest petition containing only 266 signatures at the time of the Jan. 18 hearing. Your position deteriorated to 56 supporters by Aug. 28.

On that date Mrs. Leo M. Smith presented a petition to our city council containing only 56 signatures, your name appearing first. You were "against any route east of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad except the "K" route—."

Yes, Mr. Smith, "Jefferson's America" is in existence right here in Novato today. The majority of the people have spoken, and voiced their opinion. You are still privileged in America to voice your minority opinion, but you should not represent it as a majority opinion.

I, too, personally, will be adversely affected by the "J" line; my home being on Chase Street is closer to the freeway than yours. However, I bow to the will of the majority. This is the American way.

Geese Getting Hep To Being Plucked

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Some cartoon you had in your issue of Oct. 10. "Wanted: Big Man to Fill Dedication Chair." Such benign looks you drew on their faces; like bitter pills covered with sugar coating. And the empty chair with Supervisor Fusselman's name on it.

Once crooks got all the publicity; now you become talked about because you are honest.

All the newspapers call Bill Fusselman a "chief foot dragger." So the press is giving this guy a black eye for sticking to his honest belief that the taxpayers should have the right to vote on projects costing just a measly little millions and millons of dollars. And, county offices pledged in order to get them started, to cost only $30,000 skyrocketing far in excess of this amount once they were installed.

Say, wasn't that sweet of Harold Stockstad to fight for the right for us geese to get to go through "OUR" civic center. Help! The man, he may have a conscious. He was the lad that insisted we keep the architectural fee at 10% when we had a chance to lower it to 7%. Well, it's like he said "3% isn't much more in taxes." Heck, no! Just a hundred thousand claims. Peanuts!!!

Gee, only a thousand people showed up, which number included the Terra Linda High School Band. Where were all those geese so willing to be plucked? The original estimate on the first stage of Taj Mahal was $3.2 million, but tsk, tsk, tsk, it is much closer to $5 million. Guess the geese are getting "hep" to what it feels like to be plucked. Wait until the next stage is completed and they will know what it is to be goosed as well.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A lecturer who underestimates his audience is not worth listening to. I shall never forget a letter I received after I had spoken to a ladies' club—years ago — in Grand Rapids, Michigan. "Thank you for obviously putting your heart into your appearance here," it read, and continued, "I wonder if you knew that the dignified matron in the front row who asked you about the menace of comic books was once the shining star of the Folies Bergere in Paris (without that mink coat, of course)? The lady next to her, with the ermine scarf, is an archaeologist who has worked and suffered in the most remote corners of the world. And behind them sat two maiden ladies who have contributed over five million dollars anonymously to charities, and a lady who almost broke the bank at Monte Carlo some years ago. Could an audience at Carnegie Hall top an array like that?"

Bill Weldon drove his secretary Corinne to a tennis match one blazing afternoon in Columbus. "I hope our seats aren't too far front," said Corinne. "It's too cold there." The puzzled Mr. Weldon asked, "Why do you think it's colder down front, Corinne?" She explained, "I'm sure I don't know, but it certainly was at the ice carnival in January!"

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

What Professional Baseball Needs Is More Poodles And Less Pelf

With due notice, I am prepared to resume my Shanghai practice of carrying a gat under the left armpit.

I say this before confession:

Big league baseball bores me to the utter depths of extinction.

The only thing that bores me more is the attitude of the big league devotees, especially such as live in Marin County.

I make this latter statement on the following basis: That living in Marin County, one is neck-deep in luck already, and can arrange for the services of as competent a psychiatrist as can be found elsewhere at probably no more cost.

ANYWAY, TO BE fair let's say that regarding my above statement (about baseball boring me) the same is probably true vice versa.

I not only contribute no cash money at the gate—it's worse than that.

If one of those purported phone call interviewers who find out what you're seeing on television, and alter the national ratings accordingly, were to phone and ask me what I was looking at when every patriotic American was watching the World Series, what would I say?

"I'M JUST PLAIN not looking at TV," I'd say. "I am getting my commercials painlessly on a pick and choose basis by reading the I-J, and getting news of Marin County and outlying precincts the same way."

Not even a mention of baseball, observe.

This probably puts me right out in left field, as the baseball addicts might phrase it.

Lest I be misunderstood let me say I have had considerable contact with baseball. When a boy I played it after a fashion, not under adult supervision, on many a vacant lot. It wasn't commercial.

We tried everything we ever heard of or read about in the world of sport. This included such diverse enterprises as football, boxing, wrestling, marksmanship with everything from .22 rifle to sling, fencing (wood swords), horseback riding, skating and hockey, and apple stealing.

MOST LASTING affections developed from that period were for tennis, on borrowed courts mostly with borrowed equipment, and motoring with other people's lent cars.

Of this lot I ranked baseball well down. Too much standing around and yakking.

Since that time I have seen no baseball that pleased me until last year in Florida where there was play involving a well-educated porpoise.

One of the fine points about that was that the porpoise, a good-humored fellow indeed, seemed to be getting fun out of the proceedings.

But the I-J the other day carried a photo which again softened my heart toward baseball. Weather had caused another gap in that interminable World Series so to fill in the space, the boys ran a wonderful picture of an eager poodle on hind legs catching a ball tossed by a human pitcher.

I'M A SUCKER for poodles anyhow and this struck me as the first sports page picture I'd seen in years that had personal appeal.

You could see that poodle Gus really liked what he was doing. He was making a fine catch not even for peanuts, just for sheer sport—the kind we kids had before kids started staying up all night to earn a neat profit on scalped tickets for the Series.

My hunch is that Gus doesn't even have a contract, save the bonds of love and pleasure. What present so-called sport needs is more poodles and less pelf.

Message To Moscow Is That We're Not Too Liberal To Fight

WASHINGTON — If Premier Khrushchev is reading the news from Washington, he must be aware that President Kennedy is engaged in a deliberate and what — to the Kremlin—he hopes is a sobering enterprise.

The President is acting to make three things clear to Khrushchev as Moscow prepares its new moves to harass West Berlin right after the American elections. The message to Moscow is:

That the U. S. intends to defend Western rights at any cost under any circumstance.

That the United States will meet force with force—and, if necessary, with the maximum of force.

That the U. S. will not be deterred from defending Berlin by the establishment of a Soviet satellite in Cuba and will not give audience to any proposal to trade off the presence of Soviet power in Cuba for the presence of Western power in Berlin.

KENNEDY lately has been using high-placed officials of the government to deliver the word to the Kremlin — the word that if, in planning future moves against Berlin, Khrushchev thinks he can count on American indecision or weakness, he will be making a grave mistake.

The spokesmen are Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, the new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and McGeorge Bundy, assistant to the President for national security. Each is saying the same thing different ways.

RUSK'S REPLY to a recent question as to whether the U. S. might consider a "deal" with Moscow taking in Cuba and Berlin was simply no. He added pointedly: "You don't preserve freedom in one part of the world by giving it up in another."

Secretary McNamara, after a visit to Berlin, took special pains to state that the United States would use nuclear weapons, if necessary, to defend West Berlin. This is not new American policy, but it is newly affirmed American policy to erase any doubt that could lead the Soviets to a miscalculation.

Secretary McNamara and Taylor have the same purpose in mind: to relieve Khrushchev of any idea that a little show of Soviet force against the West in Berlin would be all that would be needed to bowl us over and at no risk of nuclear war.

AND IN Copenhagen, at the annual assembly of the Atlantic Treaty Association, Bundy gave U. S. support to creating a European nuclear force. This would be made a unified and multilateral force integrated with America's own defense of the NATO alliance. It would be a NATO nuclear capability to which both Britain and France would contribute.

All of these policy statements have been concerted over a relatively brief period and with the explicit approval of the President.

It is significant, I think, that they have come hard on the interview which the American poet and close Kennedy friend, Robert Frost, had with Khrushchev in which the Soviet Premier said he thought the Kennedy administration was "too liberal to fight."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Go To Bank Until You Have Money (Suit) To Deposit

Don't go to the bank until you have the money ready to deposit. It's not quite the same thing to have a strong feeling that you're about to strike it rich.

This applies particularly to penalty doubles at the bridge table.

West thought his ship had come in when this hand came along in a recent tournament in Washington, D.C. He wouldn't have settled for less than 800 points when he doubled two hearts.

SMOKE CLEARED

When the smoke cleared, however, West was glad to get 200 points. It took very careful defense to defeat South at all.

West started out with three rounds of trumps, trying to reduce the hand no trump. East discarded the eight of diamonds on the third trump, and West did some thinking

By this time the diamonds were all located. East had doubled two diamonds to show length and strength in the suit.

If East could now afford to part with a diamond, he must have started with the missing four cards in the suit.

OWN TRICKS

If South had no diamonds, West had to rely on his own tricks in spades, hearts, and clubs. It would be fatal to lead a diamond, since that would give declarer a trick that he couldn't win for himself.

West's only safe exit from his hand was a low spade. South took two spade tricks and continued with the seven of spades.

Now West had to step up with the king of spades and get out safely with his last spade.

TRICKS NEEDED

By this time West had taken four tricks and needed two more to defeat the contract. He refused to win when South led the king of clubs. The only way to defeat the contract was to sit back with the A-J of clubs and wait for two more tricks.

It was quite reasonable for West to double two hearts, especially after this partner had doubled two diamonds for penalties. But once the play began West had to adjust himself to reality.

Any attempt to make a fortune would actually allow South to bring his doubled contract home.

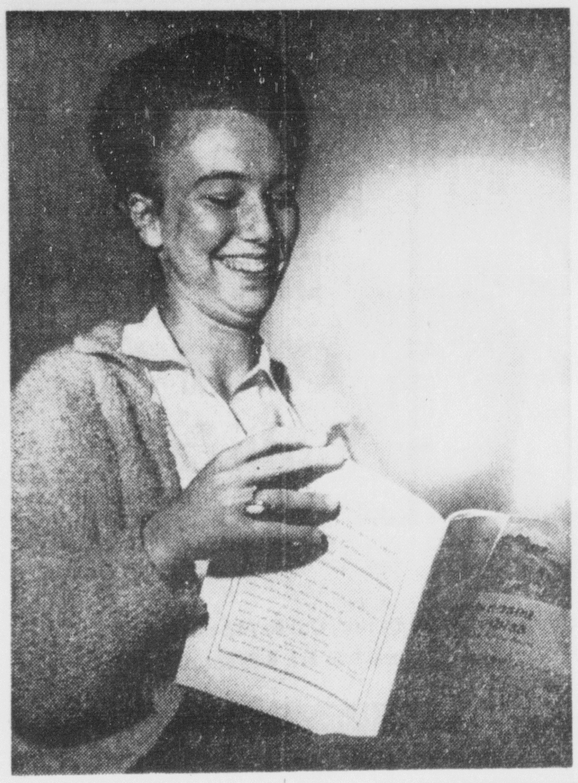
Marin Girl Learns Britons Not Somber



SUMMER ABROAD — Jill Hofmann of San Anselmo looks over one of the souvenir books she purchased in England this summer while participating in the Experiment in International Living program. (Independent-Journal photo)

By PHIL FRADKIN

The stereotype of the austere Englishman was broken this summer for a vivacious San Anselmo girl interested in international relations.

Jill Hofmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hofmann of 19 Rutherford Avenue, started reaching the conclusion that English people are "comfortable and very free to discuss opinions" as one of her first experiences while in England under the Experiment in International Living program.

She was standing in a London subway with a group of fellow experimenters "looking lost" when a conservative looking Englishman, complete with cane, approached the group and asked, "Can I help you?"

Much to Jill's surprise he began discussing a book one of the group was reading after giving directions on the proper subway line. "It was a simple, friendly act," she said.

Jill, 16, a freshman at San Francisco State College, became interested in applying for a summer abroad when movies were shown to the Drake Diplomats on the experiment. She was president last year of the International Friendship Club at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The result was a summer of travel through southern England and the opportunity to live with the family of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scillitoe of Bristol. An added dividend was 11 pounds of gained weight from "five meals a day, including tea with biscuits at 11 a.m., and more tea with cakes at 4 p.m."

Jill was "really surprised" Mrs. Scillitoe had any free time since she seemed to be baking cookies, cakes and biscuits, in addition to preparing the regular meals, all the time.

The cloudy weather, with only four days of sunshine in Bristol, made Jill comment, "I just thought it was winter." She escaped for two days on a weekend trip to the French Riviera to visit some friends.

Things she had trouble getting used to included the money and the British sense of humor. "I watched television with my English family and I just couldn't understand what they were laughing at. They have a subtle sense of humor."

Driving on the left-hand side of the road didn't bother Jill as she had prepared herself for it. However, on her first ride down Butterfield Road after she returned home, "I closed my eyes for a moment because I thought we were going to crash on the right-hand side of the road."

Jill said she "learned a lot of the nature of the English people and how they react to their environment" by traveling not as a tourist, but with other youth groups.

She is no stranger to foreign lands. Jill lived for two years in Australia and three years in Ecuador while her father worked in those countries as technical supervisor on the construction of rice mills.

With her knowledge of foreign lands, Jill, a major in international relations, hopes some day to join the Peace Corps, or the diplomatic corps, or work for the United Nations.

Catholic Federation Will Hold Dinner

The Italian Catholic Federation will hold its fifth annual dinner dance Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. in St. Rita's Church Hall in Fairfax.

Mrs. Joseph Scafidi and Mrs. William Trewartha are co-chairmen of the event. Mrs. Amerino Menchini and Angelo Guoglianoni are in charge of cooking.

Miller's Offices In D.C. Stay Open

The late Rep. Clem Miller's offices in Washington, D.C., and California will continue to serve the people of his district, his Washington office announced today.

Until Miller's successor takes office, the congressman's staff will remain employees of the House of Representatives. William Grader of Fort Bragg will continue as Miller's field representative, and William Duddleson of Santa Rosa will be in charge of the Washington office. Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said he will assist the staff.

Miller was killed Oct. 7 in a plane crash near Eureka while on a campaign tour of the First District.

Browning Society To Meet Friday

Sarah Wingate Taylor, poet-professor at Dominican College of San Rafael and a descendant of Gov. Edward Winslow of the Plymouth Colony, will talk about historic Clark's Island in Plymouth Harbor, Mass., at a meeting of the San Francisco Browning Society Friday at the Women's Athletic Club, San Francisco.

Miss Taylor will show slides of Mayflower Island, where the Pilgrims spent three nights waiting out a storm before landing on Plymouth Rock.

Florence Locke, literary director of the Browning Society, will introduce Miss Taylor and read from her book "Yankee Island Ballads and Other Poems," printed by R. G. Fontana and Son, San Anselmo.

Files Of Veterans

Personal files of veterans in Marin may now be transferred to the Veterans Administration regional office closest to the veteran's residence, W. P. Duhamel, Marin County service officer, has announced. Requests for file transfers should be made at the Marin office.

ATTORNEYS TO DISCUSS FRANCIS AMENDMENT

A panel of Marin attorneys will discuss Proposition 24, the Francis Amendment, tomorrow from 9 to 10 a. m. on the KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" program.

Guests of moderator Kitty Oppenheimer will be former Dist. Atty. William O. Weissich and Herbert Walton, speaking in favor of the Nov. 6 ballot issue, and Karl Schapiro and Harold Truett, arguing against the measure. Listeners may telephone questions to the panelists through Mrs. Oppenheimer. The program will be rebroadcast from tape at 12:30 p. m. Sunday.

On Oct. 25 incumbent Assemblyman William T. Bagley and his Democratic opponent, Robert D. Carrow of Novato, will appear on the "Sounding Board."

Mill Valley Scouts Set Paper Drive

Cub, Boy and Explorer Scouts in the Mill Valley area will comb Mill Valley, Tamalpais and Homestead valleys, Alto, Strawberry and Almonte starting at 8 a.m., Oct. 27 in their annual newspaper drive.

Proceeds will be used toward upkeep of Mill Valley Scout Hall.

Persons who have not had their papers collected by 2 p.m., chairman Clay Underhill said, may telephone the Mill Valley Fire Department on the information line and someone will collect the papers.

Newspapers may be dropped off before Oct. 27 at the parking lot of the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. at 130 Throckmorton Avenue.

Blocking Drug Heroic Act

By RAYMOND CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal bureaucracy, butt of many a joke and gibe, can boast that in this year 1962 it produced an authentic heroine, a female knight in shining armor.

Frances Oldham Kelsey, M.D., Ph.D., doesn't look much like a knightess. She's a plain Jane in flat-heeled shoes, with no lipstick, and she has the seemingly unromantic job of physician and pharmacist for the Food and Drug Administration.

But, by now, most everybody knows how, in one of the most notable acts of female obstinacy in history, she blocked the marketing of the sedative thalidomide in this country.

When word came that this drug was being blamed for the deforming of thousands of babies born in Europe, President John F. Kennedy hastened to hang a gold medal around Dr. Kelsey's neck. Other honors have showered on her.

The thalidomide incident put new strength into a drive for a stronger drug safety bill. The Senate hastily replaced some of the teeth that had been extracted from the bill and it breezed through Congress.

Dr. Kelsey was among the honored guests looking on when Kennedy signed the measure Oct. 10.

Thus, Dr. Kelsey has taken her place on the roster of notable warriors for safe, effective drugs and wholesome food — a roster including such men as:

Upton Sinclair, Socialist uplifter who couldn't make much of a dent with his Socialist propaganda but did play a mighty role in the passage of a meat inspection act and the nation's first pure food and drug law, in 1906.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, an M.D. with an evangelical fervor for unadulterated food. As chief chemist for the Agriculture Department (1883-1912) he conducted his fight by "poison squad" tactics and other means, and was the first administrator of the pure food law.

Samuel Hopkins Adams, freelance reporter and muckraker extraordinary. Nothing, not even attempted blackmail, could deter him. His series "The Great American Fraud" began appearing in Collier's Oct. 7 1905, and had great impact. It was accompanied by charming illustrations, such as a grinning skull with patent medicine bottles for teeth.

In 1906 Sinclair published a novel "The Jungle." It was about the Chicago stockyards and was designed to forward socialism by enlisting sympathy for downtrodden stockyard workers. It didn't do that, but it did turn the stomach of America by its descriptions of the unwholesome conditions under which meat was being produced.

Dr. Wiley, in 1902, established what the newspapers immediately dubbed "the poison squad." It was composed of rugged young volunteers, mostly employees of the agriculture department. In a basement dining room in his bureau, he fed them food to which preservatives, coloring and other substances had been added.

The public interest was so intense that "my poison squad laboratory became the most highly advertised boarding-house in the world," Wiley wrote in his autobiography.

Wiley's conclusion was flat: "Preservatives used in foods are harmful to health." Modern scientists would take some exceptions to this; some preservatives now are pronounced all right.

When Wiley became chief chemist of the Agriculture Department in 1883, he began with two or three laboratory assistants and a secretary. The Food and Drug Administration, now part of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, has 2,684 employees today.

It is still a midget agency, as federal bureaus go, but it is not a midget in brainpower. On its rolls are physicians, physicists, pharmacists, veterinarians, pathologists, pharmacologists, bacteriologists, biologists, chemists, microscopists.

George P. Larrick, FDA commissioner, emphasizes that the great majority of food, drug and cosmetic makers are honest. No one alleges any fraud on the part of the men who tried to market thalidomide; they had imperfect knowledge of the possible side effects.

Latin America Speaker

Dr. John J. Johnson, Stanford University professor and expert on Latin America, will speak Jan. 3 at Olney Hall in the College of Marin concert and lecture series. Title of his talk will be announced later.

Dime Store Sponge Saves Human Hearts

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—The surgeon-scientist who first sewed a dime store sponge onto a human heart pleaded today for more surgeons to follow his example.

Dr. Arthur Vineberg, professor of surgery, McGill University, Montreal, also is the inventor of an artery-switching heart operation. He urged them both at the 48th Annual Clinical Congress of the American College of Surgeons.

Both were designed to rescue the persons whose heart arteries are so far gone they are incapable of any activity and are not far from dying.

He presented facts and figures indicating remarkable life-restoring effectiveness. The artery-switching operation now has been performed 228 times.

Of that many hopeless heart cripples 75 per cent were restored to full life and the operative mortality was only 3 per cent.

Vineberg himself was sewed strips of dime store plastic foam sponges to 34 hearts all of which were "in failure" at the time. Ten per cent died and most of the remainder were restored to full life.

Both operations are measures of desperation, for hearts which are not getting enough blood from their own arteries to sustain them. The switched artery is the left mammary artery which feeds the chest wall. In the male, particularly the aging male, it serves no function other blood vessels can't take over, Vineberg said.

He detaches this artery from the chest wall and tunnels it into the heart muscle whose interior is a "vascular bed." The blood brought to the failing heart by this improvised channel is returned to the circulation through that bed.

Some hearts whose arteries are on the verge of giving up are just too large for one transferred artery.

So Vineberg stripped back the covers of hearts and sewed strips of sponge to the layer beneath. Blood vessels were pushed into the sponge holes, directing their flow back into the heart muscle.

Weekend Watercolor Classes Starting
